WHAT IS A HOKIE?

That's a frequently asked question in Virginia Tech athletics, and the answer leads all the way back to 1896 when Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute. With the change came the necessity for writing a new cheer, and a contest for that purpose was held by the student body. Senior O.M. Stull won first prize for his "Hokie" yell which is still used today. Later, when asked if "Hokie" had any special meaning, Stull explained the word was solely the product of his imagination and was used only as an attention-getter for his yell. It soon became a nickname for all Virginia Tech teams and those people loyal to Tech athletics. The official school colors - Chicago maroon and burnt orange - also were introduced in 1896. They were chosen because they made a "unique combination" not worn elsewhere at the time.

A TRADITION OF CHAMPIONS

FOR A REVIEW OF LAST SEASON, SEE PAGE 132

- Virginia Tech won three Atlantic Coast Conference titles in its first five years in the league.
- The Hokies have won 62 football games since joining the ACC in 2004, the most among the 12 league members in that span.
- Virginia Tech is ranked 17th in all-time football wins among Division I-A teams (668), the second-most among ACC teams.
- Virginia Tech is one of just two FBS schools to win 10 or more games in each of the past six seasons.
- Since the beginning of the 1995 season, only Florida (153) and Ohio State (151) have won more games than Tech (146).

BOWL REGULARS

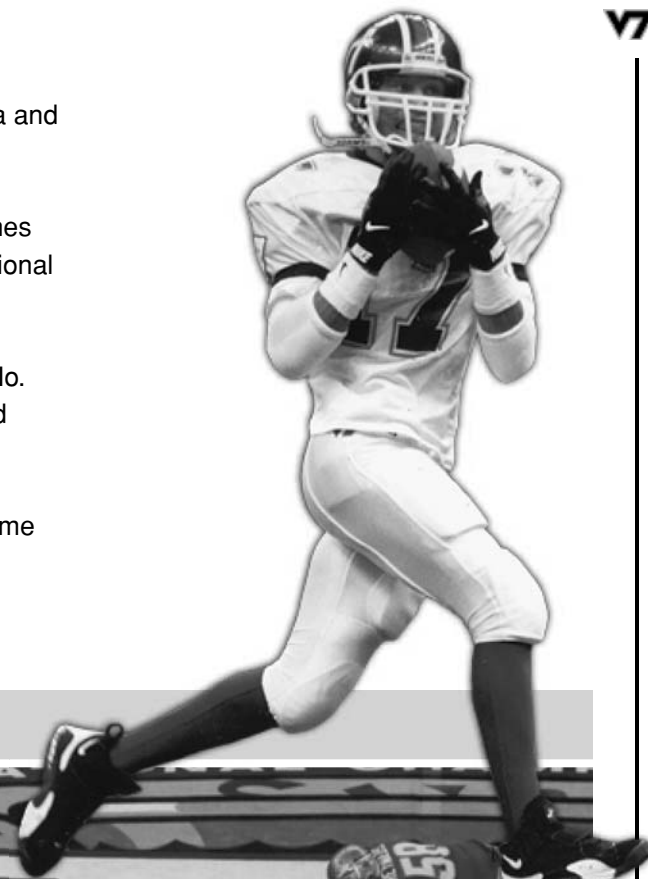

- The Hokies have been to 17 consecutive bowl games, a streak currently matched only by Florida and Florida State.

- Tech has appeared in the Orange Bowl three times and the Sugar Bowl three times, including the national championship game in 2000.

- Tech has won its last two bowl games, beating No. 12 Cincinnati in the 2009 FedEx Orange Bowl and Tennessee in the 2009 Chick-fil-A Bowl.

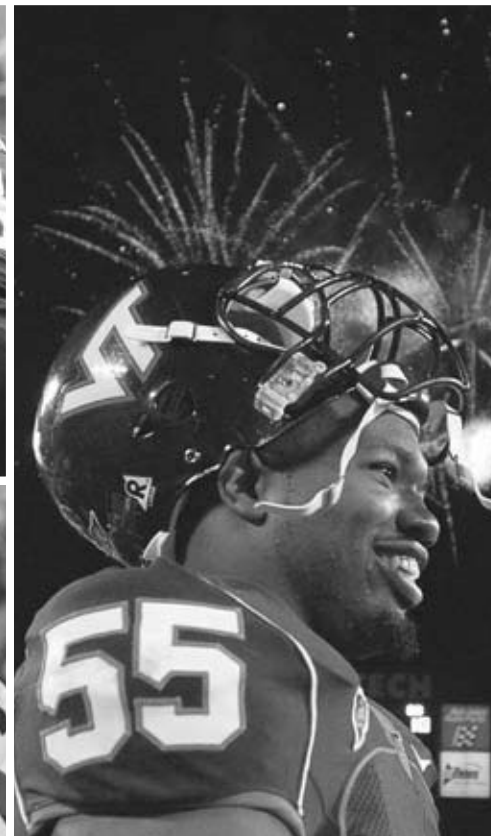

- Head coach Frank Beamer is tied for fourth all-time with BYU's Lavell Edwards for consecutive bowl appearances with 17.

FOR BOWL HISTORY SEE PAGE 174

ALL-STAR HOKIES

Playing at Virginia Tech affords student-athletes a great chance to reach their potential both on the field and off. Over the years, numerous players have won national awards and earned All-America honors while suiting up for the Hokies.

- Bruce Smith won the Outland Trophy as the top lineman in 1984. The NFL's all-time sacks leader was enshrined in the NFL Hall of Fame in 2009.
- Jake Grove won the Rimington Award, given to college football's top center and now plays for the Miami Dolphins.
- Corey Moore won the Lombardi and Nagurski Awards in 1999. The Nagurski Award goes to college football's defensive player of the year while the Lombardi Award goes to college football's lineman of the year.
- Michael Vick won an ESPY as the national player of the year in 1999 and now suits up for the Philadelphia Eagles.

FOR MORE HOKIES IN THE PROS, SEE PAGE 178

Suiting up for Virginia Tech gives players a great chance to play at the next level. Each spring, scouts from nearly every NFL team flock to Blacksburg for Pro Day as the latest batch of NFL prospects work out for the 32 organizations.

- Over the past 11 years, Virginia Tech has had 52 players drafted by NFL teams and countless others sign free agent deals.
- Pierson Prioleau, of the World Champion New Orleans Saints, is the latest Hokie to be part of a Super Bowl-winning squad.

• Walk-ons have played a huge role in the success of the Tech program and some have taken it to the next level. John Engelberger went from a walk-on to a long and prosperous NFL career thanks in part to Tech's strength and conditioning program. Cody Grimm went from walk-on to All-American to NFL draftee last year.

WE ARE VIRGINIA TECH

• Nestled on a plateau between the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains, the Virginia Tech campus is always growing and changing to meet the challenges of the future.

• Virginia Tech has nine colleges and a graduate school that offer 65 bachelor's degree programs and 145 master's and doctoral degree programs.

• The main campus includes more than 125 buildings, 2,600 acres, an airport and an adjacent corporate research center.

• Tech features a computing and communications complex for worldwide information access and the university is ranked 46th in university research in the United States.

SEE UNIVERSITY STORY PAGE 194

SEE ACADEMIC SUPPORT SERVICES FOR STUDENT-ATHLETES ON PAGE 116

Virginia Tech takes great pride in the academic achievements of its student-athletes. There are 10 Hokie graduates on the 2010 roster, including several who are enrolled in master's programs. In seven of the past nine years, Tech has graduated 70 percent or higher of its football class.

The football team is also extremely active in the community, participating in numerous events each year. Team members read to local elementary schools as part of "Herma's Readers" and help freshmen move into their dorms each August. The team also participates in autograph nights and has volunteered with the United Way, stocking the pantries around Thanksgiving.

BLACKSBURG, VA COLLEGE TOWN, U.S.A.

A true college town, Blacksburg combines a laid-back lifestyle with the amenities one would expect around a major center of higher education.

- Homecoming is a special event for both the school and the town as alumni come back to see the parade and the football game.
- Steppin' Out is an annual street festival held each summer that attracts vendors and artists from all over the region.
- The Cascades is one of the most-beautiful waterfalls in Virginia. The 69-foot falls crash into a large pool surrounded by 100-foot cliff walls from which large ice formations hang in the winter. The scene is both breathtaking and peaceful as the falls combine both power and beauty.
- The New River is close by, as well, and is a popular hangout for tubing and relaxing in the summer. Many students, including numerous football players, take advantage of good fishing opportunities in the area.

- Lane Stadium/Worsham Field has earned a reputation as one of the top collegiate football venues in the country.

- Virginia Tech has posted a 185-67-6 overall record in its 45 seasons at Lane Stadium/Worsham Field. Tech is 111-30-1 at home under the direction of Frank Beamer.

- Tech football teams are 345-98-13 in Blacksburg, including a 41-6 record since the start of the 2003 season.

- A large part of that impressive record is the home-field environment created by the fans as Lane Stadium has been sold out for 74 consecutive games, starting with the final home game of the 1998 season against Virginia.

FOR MORE ON TECH'S FACILITIES, SEE PAGE 124

The Virginia Tech football team has access to a multitude of facilities, technologies and luxuries in the adjoining buildings that house Hokie football.

- The Merryman Athletic Center houses the team and position meeting rooms, as well as the weight room, cardio room and doctor's suite.
- A new football locker room and lounge facility, will be completed in time for the 2010 season. The three-story building features spacious locker rooms for players and coaches, as well as a lounge on the second floor and a wrestling facility on the third floor.
- Just outside of the new locker room facility are the practice fields, which feature two full-length fields that were re-sodded this summer and sit in the shadows of Lane Stadium.
- When weather doesn't cooperate, the team can practice in Rector Field House, which houses a full-length turf football field and training room.

MAXIMUM PERFORMANCE

• Dr. Mike Gentry leads the world-class strength and conditioning program that is nationally recognized as one of the best around.

Coach Gentry's Philosophy - "Since 1987, our strength and conditioning program has developed a tradition. We have a team dedicated to training hard and striving for excellence. The younger student-athletes see the upperclassmen's intensity and it makes everyone want to train to be one's best. Our strength and conditioning program is designed to help our student-athletes build overall strength, power and stamina, while helping them develop self-discipline and realize their potential as athletes. We have a comprehensive program utilizing strength/power training, plyometrics, functional conditioning and flexibility training. Our goal is to become one of the most physical teams in the nation."

SEE ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE ON PAGE 119

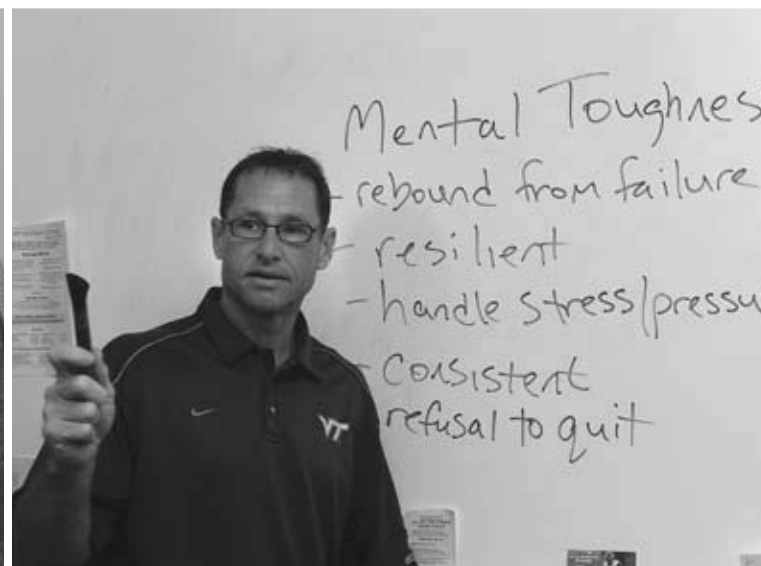

MIND & BODY

There's much more to athletic performance than weight training. Always striving to stay on the cutting edge, Virginia Tech has combined strength and conditioning with nutrition, sport psychology and sports medicine to the benefit of its student-athletes. At Tech, these areas are part of the student-athletes' preparation – not just for game day, but also for life. Virginia Tech tries to provide the best services, facilities and support staff for all of its student-athletes to make them better athletes and better people.

- Mike Goforth is an assistant A.D. for athletic training and is surrounded by a talented cast of athletic trainers, physicians, consultants, surgeons and chiropractors to give the student-athletes top-notch medical care.
- Virginia Tech employs a full-time sports nutritionist in Amy Freel, who oversees team meals and dietary needs.
- Dr. Gary Bennett is employed by the athletics department as a full-time sport psychologist.

HOKIEVISION

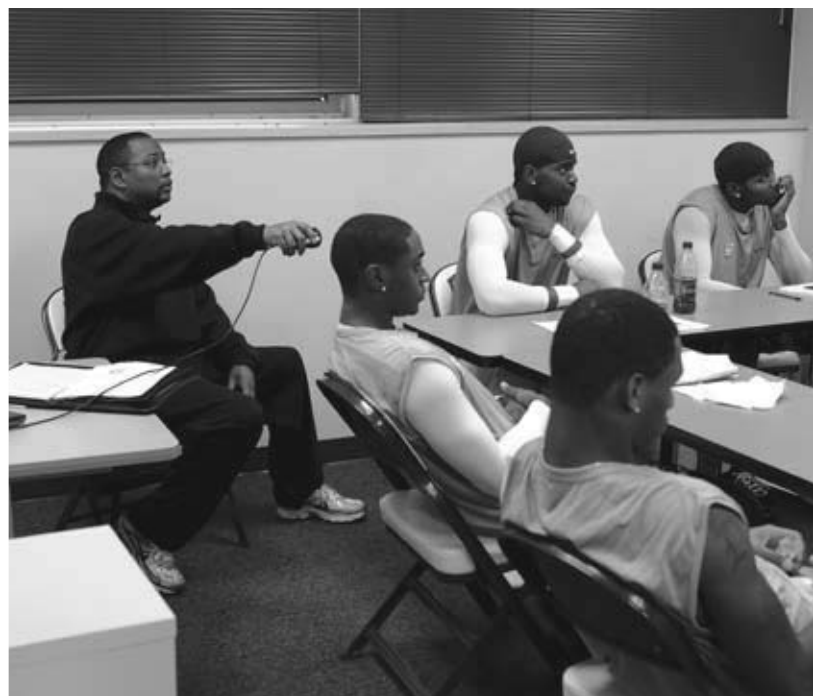

The Virginia Tech Athletic Video Office is a multi-purpose unit for the department. Led by Kevin Hicks, the office oversees video breakdown for the football team and also runs HokieVision to give the fans a first-class experience at football and basketball games.

- A large group of videographers, producers, GAs and students film every practice and game, which is then immediately uploaded onto a server for coaches to use breaking down opponents and video with players. This gives the Hokies an advantage when preparing for games.
- On game days, this same staff entertains the crowds at Lane Stadium and Cassell Coliseum with top-notch video replays, highlights, montages and ads on the high-quality video boards.

COACH FOSTER ON THE DEFENSE

"As a defense, I was very encouraged by how we performed in the spring. Obviously, we needed to find some starters, and I think we've done that. I still have concerns about depth issues at certain spots but at the same time, I'm encouraged by the youth in our program. We are young, and we are inexperienced, but our players have a lot of want-to. They want to please, they want to be good football players, they want to carry on the tradition here at Virginia Tech.

"When it's all said and done, we've got to have a big summer. Are we where we need to be yet ... probably not, but we're getting there and I think the future is bright for our defense."

COACH STINESPRING ON THE OFFENSE

"We are further along at this point in terms of simply having fewer questions to answer than we've been during the past four years. We have tremendous depth at tailback, we have great possibilities at receiver and we have an experienced, talented quarterback to lead us. There are a bunch of playmakers out there again. The difference is, for the first time in a while, we are not going into August trying to find answers. Sure, there are still some questions, but not as many within our first 11 players."

COACH BEAMER ON THE 2010 HOKIES

"I like the makeup of this team. You could see some real leadership developing during pre-spring workouts and it carried on through spring practice. I think opening the season with a Top 5 team like Boise State gives us a great opportunity, just like last year when we played Alabama or a couple of years ago when we played Southern Cal. I believe playing a top team right out of the gate drives you during spring practice, drives you during summer workouts and hopefully, overall, will help us be a better football team next fall."

VT OFFENSIVE LINE

Blake DeChristopher

LEFT TACKLE

Nick Becton (r-So.) – Is what you draw up at tackle from an athletic standpoint ... Won the starting job with his performance in the spring ... Has gotten better and better ... A basketball player until his junior year of high school ... Coaches feel he has a chance to be a three-year starter for the Hokies.

Andrew Lanier (r-Jr.) – Still has some work to do but plays an important role along the line ... Can fill in at either tackle position ... Got a start in place of Blake DeChristopher at right tackle in last year's Duke game ... Knows the Tech system ... His continued progress during the summer and preseason will be extremely important for the Hokies.

LEFT GUARD

Greg Nosal (r-Jr.) – Is slated to be the starting left guard after playing in 12 games last fall, including a start at Georgia Tech ... Rotated at right and left guard in 2009 ... Showed a lot of confidence during the spring and continued to get better ... Needs to maintain his weight ... A converted tight end who is athletic.

David Wang (r-Fr.) – A young player with a lot of ability ... Came out of spring No. 2 at left guard ... Injured his shoulder and redshirted last year ... Has put up great numbers in the weight room ... Brother of former Hokie Ed Wang ... Coaches believe he will help the Hokies this season.

CENTER

Beau Warren (r-Sr.) – The leader of the offensive line and a player the coaches trust ... Played well in his first year as a full-time starter in 2009 ... A very competitive player with a good understanding of the game.

Michael Via (r-So.) – Started three games in 2009 when Beau Warren was injured and did a good job ... Missed some valuable time in the spring with an injured knee ... Will get some reps at both center and tackle in the fall ... Coaches do not want him to be a full-time backup.

Andrew Miller (r-Fr.) – Was able to do some drills during the spring, but no contact work due to a shoulder injury ... Showed improved footwork ... A highly regarded prospect who will get a lot of reps in August.

AT A GLANCE

Key Losses: tackle Ed Wang; guard Sergio Render

Key Returnees: tackle Blake DeChristopher; guard Jaymes Brooks; center Beau Warren

The three returnees combined for 35 starts last season with DeChristopher and Warren earning honorable mention ALL-ACC honors. Their leadership role will be important.

Points of Interest: Establishing depth on the line was a major goal of spring practice, but those plans took a hit when Michael Via, Vinston Painter and Andrew Miller all missed major time with injuries. The coaches wanted to get Via some time at tackle and see how Miller might do at guard. Now, they will have to make a very early evaluation of their progress when practice resumes.

Spring Standout: Nick Becton answered the top question on the O-line by winning the starting left tackle spot. There is some concern because he hasn't been out there in a game very much, but he is capable and has a chance to be a special player.

RIGHT GUARD

Jaymes Brooks (r-Jr.) – Returns after starting every game last year ... Is big and strong and has a good football IQ ... Improved his footwork during the spring ... Just keeps getting better and better.

Vinston Painter (r-So.) – Had a really good off-season ... Improved as much as anybody during the spring until injuring a knee and missing the last two weeks of work ... Needs to have a good summer preparation and come back hungry.

RIGHT TACKLE

Blake DeChristopher (r-Jr.) – Is expected to start for the third-straight season ... A battle-tested player who had an exceptional spring ... Combines a great work ethic with toughness and consistent play.

Laurence Gibson (Fr.) – A highly rated prospect who entered school in January ... Is raw, but very talented ... Has bought into the Tech system ... Is going to get better – the question will be how quickly ... Played at Hargrave Military Academy last fall.

Coach Newsome on the offensive line: Going into fall camp I feel Nick Becton has solidified himself as the starting left tackle ... and that was a big concern. Greg Nosal played a bunch last season so I already felt good about him, and he continued to improve in the spring. Beau Warren will be a two-year starter and Jaymes Brooks and Blake DeChristopher are guys who have been tested. One of our major issues in the spring was establishing some depth and I don't know if we did that completely. The disappointing thing was that Vinston Painter, Michael Via and Andrew Miller all missed big chunks of practice, and that was big for them because we wanted to see where they stood.

RECEIVERS & TIGHT ENDS

SPLIT END

Jarrett Boykin (Jr.) – Probably the most natural receiver of the group ... Led the Hokies in receptions, receiving yards, yards per catch and touchdown catches in 2009 ... Caught 40 balls for 835 yards and five TDs ... A big, physical receiver with tremendous potential that still hasn't been fully tapped.

Xavier Boyce (r-So.) – Another big target who is rapidly becoming a playmaker ... Saw action in every game last year, including three as a starter, but was up and down ... Took a different approach during the spring and became a much more consistent player.

D.J. Coles (So.) – Played last season as a true freshman but saw most of his action on special teams ... A big, tall player who is athletic and can run ... Will be challenged to step his game up.

Austin Fuller (r-So.) – Has great ball skills and can really pluck the ball out of the sky ... Can help the team as he gets a more consistent knowledge of the play book and starts seeing things faster.

FLANKER

Danny Coale (r-Jr.) – Gives the Hokies just what they need within the receiving corps – consistency ... Second on the team with 30 catches last fall ... Grabbed an 81-yard pass in the waning minutes against Nebraska to set up the go-ahead touchdown ... Understands the game and masters the little things ... Sure-handed and competitive.

Dyrell Roberts (Jr.) – Shares the top spot at flanker ... Caught 22 balls last year in 13 games ... Had a great spring, becoming more productive and physical ... Another big-play threat ... Ranked fourth nationally in kickoff returns (31.9 ypr).

Marcus Davis (r-So.) – An explosive player who figures to be an important part of the Tech offense this fall ... Gained confidence while making big strides during spring practice ... Can make plays vertically down the field ... Coaches are excited about his potential.

Jarrett Boykin

Nubian Peak (r-Fr.) – A young player who can run and stretch the field vertically ... Played running back in high school and is in the same mold as Dyrell Roberts ... Is learning the wide receiver position and getting better ... Coaches think he can be one of the most explosive skilled position players on the team.

TIGHT END

Andre Smith (r-Sr.) – Moves into the starting job after being a key member of the rotation the past three seasons ... Coaches have a tremendous amount of confidence in him ... Has performed very well and made some big plays for the Hokies ... An excellent run blocker ... Coming off an exceptional spring.

AT A GLANCE

Key Losses: tight end Greg Boone; tight end Sam Wheeler

Key Returnees: split end Jarrett Boykin; flanker Danny Coale; flanker Dyrell Roberts; tight end Andre Smith

Boykin, Coale and Roberts combined for 92 catches and 10 touchdowns in 2009 as sophomores. Smith, a regular the past three seasons, returns as the only player with playing experience at tight end.

Points of Interest: One of the major concerns on offense is developing depth at tight end. That concern was not alleviated during spring practice, leaving work to be done in August. The battle for the backup duties features a variety of challengers who all have one thing in common: minimal experience.

Spring Standout: Marcus Davis was named the most improve offensive player of the spring. The young receiver has adjusted to the speed of the game and gained confidence. When he's focused and executes, he's hard to stop.

Eric Martin (r-Fr.) – Is the second guy at the position heading into August practices ... Will be used for two tight end sets ... More of a blocker than a receiver ... Has toughness but must get stronger.

Randall Dunn (r-So.) – Got his first concentrated look at tight end during the spring after switching from wide receiver ... A positive in the passing game, but is not a blocker yet ... Coaches will try to bring him along with some reps.

Prince Parker (r-Sr.) – Moved over from wide receiver last fall ... A huge target who is easy to see out on the field ... Must get better as a blocker ... Could earn a role if he shows he can make plays.

Coach Stinespring on the tight ends:
I am extremely concerned about tight end. We're not good enough at the position right now. There is a definitive difference between Andre Smith and the rest of the tight ends. They are all working hard, and there is an opportunity to be good enough. I just wanted us to be a little further along.

Coach Sherman on the wide receivers:
Overall, I think we had a very productive spring. I think there is still room for improvement, and we'll start that this summer. There is great competition. We want to create more explosive plays, and I think we did more of that last year. We have to continue to build on that. I like what this group is all about. They push each other and they work hard together. I think they see the potential they have. They've just got to master their skill set and the little things this summer to build on what they've done in the past.

RUNNING BACKS & QBs

TAILBACK

Ryan Williams (r-So.) – Set numerous school and ACC marks on the way to 1,655 yards rushing and 22 total touchdowns in 2009 ... A third-team Sporting News All-American and consensus Freshman All-America pick ... Named ACC Rookie of the Year and first-team All-ACC ... Coaches do not believe he has peaked yet ... May split duties more to stay fresh.

Darren Evans (r-Jr.) – Missed the entire 2009 season with a knee injury ... Used spring practice to re-adjust to the feel of the game ... Got more confident as spring went along and showed it the way he ran in the spring game ... A strong, punishing runner who rushed for 1,265 yards as a freshman in 2008 ... Is not quite where he was at that point, but with 30 days of fall camp the coaches feel he will be.

David Wilson (So.) – Is going to be a special player ... Rushed for 334 yards and four touchdowns in his true freshman season ... Will prepare over the summer and come back with the idea of winning the starting job ... Has a redshirt year if he doesn't figure in.

Kenny Lewis, Jr. (r-Sr.) – Has worked extremely hard to get himself back into position to be a competitor again following a series of injuries ... A team leader and a smart football player ... Is still not where he left off, but hopes to help the team.

Tony Gregory (r-Fr.) – The big surprise of spring practice ... Has a burst and can really run ... Had eight broken tackles in the spring game ... Showed great improvement in what he did from the fall through the spring ... Put himself in position for some playing time.

FULLBACK

Kenny Younger (r-Sr.) – Split time with Kenny Jefferson at fullback last season and played in all 13 games ... A terrific player who is very strong ... Rates as an excellent blocker who can catch the football out of the backfield.

Josh Oglesby (r-Jr.) – Finished the spring listed as the co-starter after moving over from tailback ... Ran for 335 yards and two touchdowns in 2009 ... Has become more physical as a blocker ... Will give the team additional options in both the running and passing game.

QUARTERBACK

Tyrod Taylor (Sr.) – Had a great 2009 season, passing for 2,311 yards and rushing for another 370 ... Threw 13 touchdown passes, and tallied five rushing touchdowns ... Was named the offensive MVP of spring practice and also the top leader on offense during both off-season and spring workouts ... Is making good decisions and playing with confidence ... Has a real command of the offense ... Coaches feel very good about where he is right now.

AT A GLANCE

Key Losses: fullback Kenny Jefferson

Key Returnees: quarterback Tyrod Taylor; tailback Ryan Williams; tailback Darren Evans

Taylor is coming off his best season and showed signs of continued improvement, during spring practice. Williams broke Tech's all-time single-season rushing record as a freshman and will be joined this season by Evans, who rushed for over 1,200 yards as a freshman before sitting out last fall with a knee injury.

Points of Interest: While there is going to be daily competition at the talent-rich tailback position, the most important backfield battle will be for the No. 2 quarterback job. Ju-Ju Clayton and Logan Thomas will resume their close competition for the spot when preseason practice opens. The coaches hope to make a decision in the early part of August to get the backup a few more reps and get him ready.

Spring Standout: After getting a limited amount of reps at QB in the fall, redshirt freshman Logan Thomas made important strides during the spring and was named the team's top newcomer on offense.

Ju-Ju Clayton (r-So.) – Played sparingly last fall as the No. 2 man, but completed an 80-yard touchdown pass against Boston College ... Understands the game and works at it ... Made progress during the spring but needs to be more consistent throwing the ball ... Summer will be important.

Logan Thomas (r-Fr.) – A big, tall athlete with a strong arm ... Named the top newcomer on offense during the spring ... Redshirted last year while receiving practice reps at quarterback ... Is still a little ragged, but has tremendous upside ... Will continue the battle for No. 2 QB in August and might even see a few reps in another capacity (tight end or H-back).

Coach Hite on the running backs:
I'm very pleased at where we are in the backfield. Obviously, the talent that I have is the best I've ever had at Virginia Tech from top to bottom. I've always had two pretty good tailbacks and then there would always be a drop off. Right now, I actually have five outstanding tailbacks. The thing we are going to try to do as an offensive staff is to get more than one of them on the field at the same time. I think that will be a big help to us offensively and will stress some defenses.

Coach O'Cain on the quarterbacks:
Coming out of spring practice, I was very, very pleased overall. I think we improved greatly as a position. We're a lot different than a year ago when we really only had two quarterbacks and the third quarterback was our starting tight end. I feel much better going into this season.

DEFENSIVE LINE

END

Steven Friday (r-Sr.) – Emerged as a playmaker during the spring ... Made plays in every scrimmage ... Is set to take over the starting spot vacated by Jason Worilds after serving as a backup for three seasons ... Picked up a lot of valuable reps during the spring ... A strong, athletic performer who will play a key role on the defense.

Chris Drager (r-Jr.) – Will anchor the other end position after making steady progress as a top backup at end in 2009 ... Made some big plays and became more productive as the season went on ... Coaches want him to trim off a little weight over the summer ... Not as flashy as some, but always comes to play ... A converted tight end.

James Gayle (r-Fr.) – Was named the top defensive newcomer of spring practice ... Has playmaking ability to go with a big frame and a great motor ... Needs to improve his concentration and become more consistent ... Will get plenty of work in the fall.

J.R. Collins (r-Fr.) – Another promising newcomer who has a chance to step up if he shows consistency ... Has good instincts and the potential to be a playmaker ... Is still adjusting to some added weight ... Came on the last few practices of the spring.

Duan Perez-Means (Fr.) – Underwent shoulder surgery during the fall and did not enroll in school until January ... Came right in and immediately put 100 percent into everything ... A big kid who is smart, hungry to learn and plays with a great motor ... Has a lot of upside ... His status will be determined in August.

TACKLE

John Graves (r-Sr.) – A very motivated leader who will be counted on to anchor the line ... Had to battle nagging injuries last fall, but was back healthy and making a lot of plays against Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Bowl ... A two-year starter who was named the defensive MVP of the spring and the most outstanding leader on defense.

John Graves

Kwamaine Battle (r-Jr.) – Holds a slight edge for the second starting tackle job following spring practice ... Possesses some maturity and is really improved ... Has been productive when called on ... Staying healthy will be a key.

Antoine Hopkins (r-So.) – Really grew as a player during the spring ... Has loads of potential and is closer to reaching it ... Is playing a lot faster ... Has the ability to be an impact player in the middle and needs to be.

Dwight Tucker (r-So.) – Is in the mix ... Runs well and plays with great effort ... Needs to show he can be a consistent player ... Could find a spot in the two-deep if he does.

AT A GLANCE

Key Losses: end Jason Worilds; end Nekos Brown; tackle Cordarrow Thompson; tackle Demetrius Taylor

Key Returnee: tackle John Graves

Graves has 22 career starts and is the only player along the defensive front to have started a game on defense. He was slowed by nagging injuries for much of the 2009 season, but figures to be a real factor in 2010.

Points of Interest: Kwamaine Battle finished spring practice with a slight lead for the starting tackle job vacated by Cordarrow Thompson, but Antoine Hopkins is a good bet to make things interesting come August. Things should also be plenty interesting at end where the backup spots are still wide open.

Spring Standout: With Jason Worilds headed to the NFL, three-year backup Steven Friday stepped into the spotlight at end and was named the most improved defensive player of the spring, making plays – big plays – with regularity.

Joe Jones (r-So.) – Played in flashes during the spring ... Moved from end to tackle last fall ... His athletic ability is a plus at the position ... Needs to get himself ready to compete for playing time when practice resumes.

Isaiah Hamlette (r-So.) – Will get a strong look at tackle in fall camp after moving over from end late in the spring and showing he could make plays ... Runs really well for the position and has a great frame to work with ... Has bought into the move and is motivated ... A player to keep an eye on.

 “We will be better going into fall than we were going into spring. Hopefully, we can pick things up where we left off. I think we are going to have some real competitive practices and that’s going to make everybody better. The kids are hungry and they have a better feel now for what I expect and for how hard it is to compete here. Even though we’ve had some guys improve, we’re certainly not where we need to be ... but we’ve got a chance to get there.”

LINEBACKERS

Barquell Rivers (r-Jr.) – Missed spring practice after undergoing surgery to repair his left quadriceps tendon in early March ... Coaches hope to have him back for preseason practice ... Started every game at mike linebacker in 2009 and is the team's top returning tackler with 96 ... Is expected to make a full recovery.

Bruce Taylor (r-So.) – Got a lot of reps during the spring with Rivers sidelined ... Took advantage of the opportunity and was outstanding ... Has developed into a potential starter ... Shows athletic ability in space and can rush the passer ... Could also play some at the backer position.

Quillie Odom (Jr.) – Moved from backer to mike in the spring and was a pleasant surprise ... Took a big step in positioning himself for some playing time ... Showed competitiveness and a good work ethic ... Needs to carry that over to August.

Jack Tyler (r-Fr.) – A walk-on who has already earned a scholarship ... Has shown he is a steady, consistent player the coaches can count on ... A good tackler and quick learner ... Really improved over the spring.

Telvion Clark (r-Fr.) – A young player who is still a little bit of a question mark ... Has shown flashes of explosiveness and a physical style of play, but is still polishing his fundamentals and technique ... Has good potential.

BACKER

Lyndell Gibson (r-So.) – Was probably Tech's most improved player defensively during the fall ... Started the last five games ... Finished with 53 tackles, seventh-best on the team and fourth-best among returnees ... Followed that up with an exceptional spring ... Is good against the run and the pass ... An instinctive guy who has shown he can hit hard and make plays.

Chase Williams (Fr.) – Enrolled in January straight from high school ... Was a high school All-American at Loudoun County after posting 173 tackles last fall ... A football coach's son with a head for the game and nose for the football ... Made a big impression during the spring and has the coaches excited about his future.

Barquell Rivers

Tariq Edwards (r-Fr.) – A young player who has a lot of potential, but still has some work to do physically ... Possesses all the characteristics coaches look for in a linebacker ... Mixes good size with speed, range, coachability and a desire to succeed ... Will continue to get a look when practice resumes.

WHIP

Jeron Gouveia-Winslow (r-So.) – Came out of spring practice slightly ahead of the competition ... A tall, lanky player with a knack for making plays ... Is smart and tough, but must get stronger ... The most well-rounded candidate at the position.

Alonzo Tweedy (r-So.) – Possesses the most athleticism and speed at whip ... Made big strides during the spring and has great potential ... Still needs to learn the adjustments and

AT A GLANCE

Key Losses: whip linebacker Cody Grimm; whip linebacker Cam Martin

Key Returnees: mike linebacker Barquell Rivers; backer Lyndell Gibson

Rivers started every game last season and ranked second on the team in tackles, but he missed spring practice after undergoing surgery to repair his left quadriceps tendon in early March. Gibson came on strong during the season and ended up taking over the starting job at backer following the North Carolina game.

Points of Interest: There is no heir apparent to Grimm at whip linebacker, where every spot is up for grabs. Jeron Gouveia-Winslow, Alonzo Tweedy and Lorenzo Williams are the main combatants in a competition that will pick up where it left off in the spring.

Spring Standout: With the injury to Rivers, the coaches challenged redshirt sophomore Bruce Taylor to have a great spring and he did. Taylor was outstanding, working hard and earning the coaches' trust, while playing faster and becoming more of a complete linebacker in the process.

get a little better feel for the position ... Will be right in the mix when practice resumes ... Also a special teams demon for the Hokies.

Lorenzo Williams (r-So.) – A solid prospect with a lot of skills to go with good height and a good football mind ... Played some at free safety as a true freshman in 2008 ... Redshirted in the fall and moved to whip during the season ... Will battle for playing time in August.

Zach Lockett (r-Sr.) – Needs to come out of the blocks fast after missing spring contact work ... One of the team's top special team players before suffering a knee injury in the Virginia game ... Worked hard and made good progress at the whip position prior to the injury ... Hokies are happy to get him back.

Coach Foster on the inside linebackers: I felt good about Lyndell Gibson improving this spring to further solidify the backer spot, and I thought Bruce Taylor had a great spring at mike. Lyndell got one of our awards for having an exceptional spring and that could have very easily gone to Bruce, so that really made me feel good. If Barquell (Rivers) returns, I feel like I have three guys I can win with. After that, it's up in the air. I think we improved, but we are not ready to play at those spots. I'm encouraged by the group, but from a depth standpoint we need to grow up quite a bit. We need to have a great summer.

Coach Cavanaugh on the whip linebackers: Obviously, we've got to replace Cody Grimm. There are three guys playing there and another returning from an injury, but none of them are complete players yet. From the beginning of winter workouts through spring practice we got better. Are we good enough yet? I don't think we are, but I think we are in position to be.

DEFENSIVE SECONDARY

CORNERBACK

Rashad Carmichael (r-Sr.) – His growth as a player was a key factor for the Hokies in 2009 ... Had a team-high six interceptions and was named honorable mention All-ACC ... Is now one of the senior leaders of a young secondary ... An aggressive, productive player who is No. 1 at boundary corner ... Coaches are looking forward to him taking his game to another level.

Jayron Hosley (So.) – Finished spring practice as the top guy at field corner ... A playmaker on the ball and a very good tackler ... Really has a knack for the game ... An outstanding punt returner ... Has a chance to become an outstanding player as he gets more exposure to the position.

Cris Hill (r-Jr.) – Can play either corner position without a lot of mental errors ... Earned the coaches' trust with a good spring ... Showed he was willing to mix things up ... A speedy player who can tackle ... Will push Jayron Hosley hard at the field corner spot.

Jerrodd Williams (r-Fr.) – A big corner who can run ... Has some ball skills ... Missed valuable time during the spring due to a hamstring injury ... Needs to get stronger, but could provide depth at field corner if he stays healthy.

Jacob Sykes (r-Jr.) – Showed a lot of improvement over the course of the 2009 season and 2010 spring practice ... Contributed on special teams in the fall, blocking a kick that resulted in a TD against Miami ... Will back up at boundary corner.

FREE SAFETY

Eddie Whitley (Jr.) – Had a tremendous overall spring practice ... Finished as the top candidate at free safety ... Played with confidence and didn't have many missteps ... Communicates and knows the Tech system ... Gives you everything he's got ... Also has the ability to player rover.

Antone Exum (r-Fr.) – A young player with great ability ... Was around the football a lot during the spring ... Is big, fast and strong ... Showed some maturity in the spring game ... Still has some things to learn, but is in the thick of the battle for playing time.

ROVER

Davon Morgan (Sr.) – A knowledgeable player who does everything well ... Returns to the starting job ... Started at rover the last four games in 2009 ... Also saw starting time there as a sophomore until injuring his knee ... Is confident, hard working and aggressive ... Will be a vocal leader on the field.

James Hopper (r-Fr.) – Moved over from cornerback for spring practice ... A tough

Carmichael opened the 2009 season as the starting field corner before moving to the boundary corner spot where he started 11 of the remaining 12 games. Morgan, who started five games in 2008 before suffering a knee injury, won the job back during the 2009 season, starting the last four games. Carmichael led the team in interceptions with six, and both players are ranked among Tech's top five returning tacklers.

Points of Interest: Jayron Hosley and Eddie Whitley came out of spring practice as the top candidates to start at field corner and free safety, respectively, but both can expected serious challenges when practice resumes in August.

Spring Standout: Eddie Whitley stepped up at the all-important free safety position and gave the Hokies near spotless play, easing concerns following the departure of two-year starter Kam Chancellor. Whitley was honored as the top defensive hustler of off-season and spring workouts.

player who will throw his body around ... Must concentrate better at reading keys ... Has a chance to be good at the position as he gains experience.

Wiley Brown (r-So.) – A player who has no fear ... Runs well and will hit you ... Still needs to develop a better understanding of the position ... Transferred to Tech from Duquesne and sat out last season ... Will join in the competition for the backup duties ... His first action could be on special teams.

Coach Gray on the defensive backs:
I feel great about this group. I think we can have three really good corners, and I think we can have two very good free safeties when it's all said and done. There's a lot of good chemistry, a lot of good communicators back there. From that standpoint, I think we can be the strong part of the defense.

Coach Cavanaugh on the rovers:
Davon Morgan is a vocal leader who has experience. He knows the defense and the calls. He will be a traffic cop out there, but it is essential that we find someone to back him up. James Hopper is tough. He can cover and he's not afraid to hit you, but he needs to learn the parameters of our defense. One of the free safeties could get some work at the position in August.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Justin Myer

PLACE-KICKER

Chris Hazley (r-Sr.) – Came out of spring practice as the front-runner for the place-kicking duties ... Has a consistent flight on the ball to go with some maturity ... Falls in line with kickers Tech has had the last three seasons ... An older player who has hung around and knows the system, but has not kicked in a game.

Justin Myer (Jr.) – Is probably the most talented of the kickers, just hasn't been consistent enough ... Is quick into the ball and gets good height ... Has handled kickoffs the past two seasons and will continue to do so ... Will still be in the mix for the PK job in August.

Cody Journell (r-Fr.) – Was a prep All-America kicker at nearby Giles High School ... Has ability and a strong leg ... Has battled some injuries and has yet to be as consistent as he needs to be ... Coaches still feel he is going to be a good kicker.

Tyler Weiss (r-Jr.) – Has previous college experience as a kicker ... Started for Murray State as a freshman in 2007 ... Made seven of 10 field goal attempts and all 32 of his PATs ... Could be the Hokies' extra-point guy ... Will get a good look when practice resumes.

PUNTER

Brian Saunders (r-Sr.) – Finished the spring with a firm hold on the punting duties ... Served as the backup to Brent Bowden the past three seasons ... Has a strong leg and is showing the consistency needed to secure the job.

Scott Demler (r-So.) – Competed for the punting duties during the spring ... Showed a strong leg but has lacked consistency so far ... Worked some with the place-kickers in spring 2009 ... Will rejoin the competition in the fall.

Grant Bowden (r-Fr.) – Brother of Brent Bowden, Tech's punter the past three seasons ... Is tall and rangy like his brother ... Was redshirted in the fall ... Still has some work to do.

SNAPPER

Collin Carroll (r-Jr.) – Is scheduled to handle all the snapping duties ... Was the primary snapper

AT A GLANCE

Key Losses: punter/holder Brent Bowden; place-kicker Matt Waldron; snapper Matt Tuttle

Key Returnees: kickoff man Justin Myer; snapper Collin Carroll; punt returner Jayron Hosley; kickoff returner Dyrell Roberts

Myer has been the Hokies' top kickoff man for the past two seasons, while Carroll has done much of the work at both the long and short snapper spots over the same span. Hosley and Roberts were among the top return men in the ACC last fall.

Points of Interest: For the fourth consecutive year, the Hokies will enter the season with a new place-kicker, and for the fourth consecutive year it looks like the new kicker will be a fifth-year senior who has never kicked in a game for the Hokies. Chris Hazley came out of spring practice on top of the kicking competition and hopes to follow in the footsteps of Jud Dunlevy, Dustin Keys and Matt Waldron.

Spring Standout: After three seasons as the backup punter, Brian Saunders claimed the top spot with a strong spring that he capped with a 42.4-yard average on five kicks during the Maroon-White game.

as a freshman in 2008 ... Started out last season doing the same before concentrating on just the short snaps the last four games ... Improved his technique during the spring.

Ethan Dickerson (r-Fr.) – Joined the team as a walk-on last fall ... Got some exposure to the snapping competition ... Will help provide depth at the position.

HOLDER

Brian Saunders (r-Sr.) – Is slated to take over the holding duties after serving as a backup holder the past two seasons.

Jeff Beyer (r-Sr.) – Provides backup as a holder ... Has been an important contributor on the scout team and on the sidelines the past four seasons.

RETURN MEN

Dyrell Roberts (Jr.), David Wilson (So.), Jayron Hosley (So.) and Danny Coale (r-Jr.) – Roberts ranked third in the nation on kickoff returns in 2009, while Wilson added some big returns late in the season ... Hosley ranked fourth in the ACC in punt returns and became the first freshman under Beamer to return a punt for a touchdown ... Others who will likely get a look are Nubian Peak (r-Fr.), Tony Gregory (r-Fr.) and Cris Hill (r-Jr.).

Coach Beamer on the special teams: “We’ve got good kickers, but I don’t know if anyone has really separated themselves. Right now, Chris Hazley is probably the field goal guy, Brian Saunders would be our punter and Justin Meyer would continue to hand kickoffs. There is a consistency about Hazley that says he will be OK. We’ve had a senior step up in each of the past three seasons and maybe that will happen again, but we’ve also got some good kickers coming in. The competition is going to continue.”

Head coach Frank Beamer is a big believer in staff stability and it shows as the entire 10-man coaching staff at Virginia Tech has been at Tech alone a combined 148 years. Beamer has had his current staff intact since the start of the 2007 season. His top four coaches have been in place since 1996.

VT HEAD COACH FRANK BEAMER

COACH HAS LED HOKIES TO 17 CONSECUTIVE BOWL APPEARANCES

When Frank Beamer accepted the job as head football coach at his alma mater in 1987, his goal was for the Virginia Tech football program to reach a consistent level of excellence. The Hokies have come a long way since then, and, along the way, Beamer has become one of the most respected and successful coaches on the college football scene.

Under Beamer, Tech football has enjoyed unprecedented success with 17 consecutive bowl appearances, three ACC titles, three ACC Coastal Division crowns, three BIG EAST Conference titles, two BCS bowl victories and a trip to the national championship game. Since the beginning of the 1995 season, only Ohio State and Florida have posted more wins than Virginia Tech, and the Hokies have finished in the Top 20 in 15 of the past 18 seasons, including six top-10 finishes during the last 12 years.

Beamer's team is in elite company after winning 10 games or more in six straight seasons – a current streak matched only by Texas.

The Hokies couldn't have asked for anyone better to guide their football program into the ACC. In 2004 – Tech's first season in the league – Beamer and his staff led a young team picked to finish sixth in the league to an ACC title and a BCS Bowl. That team also won the league's 2004 Fall Sportsmanship Award for football, yet another tribute to the program Beamer and his staff have built. A year later, the Hokies produced an 11-2 record, won the ACC Coastal Division title, earned a spot in the inaugural league championship contest and appeared in a bowl game. Beamer was named the ACC Coach of the Year both seasons.

After the 2006 squad went 10-3 with a bowl appearance, Beamer's 2007 Tech team, buoyed by the winningest senior class in school football history, won the conference title and played Kansas in the Orange Bowl. Beamer was named the 2007 Southeast Coach of the Year by Sports Unlimited magazine and was a finalist for both the Paul "Bear" Bryant and Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year awards. The Hokies went 11-3 and finished ninth in the final national polls.

The 2008 season may have been Beamer's finest effort as he took one of the youngest teams in his tenure, played one of the toughest schedules and, despite several setbacks and disappointing losses, led the Hokies to an ACC title and a 20-7 win over Cincinnati in the FedEx Orange Bowl. Last year, the Hokies kept rolling, winning 10 games including an impressive victory over Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Bowl.

Beamer, who was the consensus National Coach of the Year in 1999, is tied for second among active Division I FBS coaches in victories with 229 over 29 seasons as a head coach. Now entering his 24th year at the Tech helm, his overall record as the head man of the Hokies stands at 187-92-2. He became Tech's winningest football coach during the 1997 campaign. Counting six years as head coach at Murray State prior to joining the Hokies, Beamer's overall record is 229-115-4.

A spot in the Nokia Sugar Bowl to play top-ranked Florida State for the national championship

STABILITY AT THE TOP EQUALS SUCCESS

One of the keys to the continuing success of Virginia Tech football has been the stability of the program. That stability begins at the top with head coach Frank Beamer, whose 23 years at the Hokie helm have helped the program develop a sense of the stability and consistency currently enjoyed by just a handful of other Division I-A schools. Only one of the 120 Division I-A head football coaches has been at their current schools consecutively longer than Beamer – Penn State's Joe Paterno. The Hokies' head man, his associate head coach and his two coordinators have a combined total of 97 years of full-time coaching experience at Virginia Tech alone.

COACHING EXCELLENCE

Virginia Tech defensive coordinator Bud Foster won the prestigious Broyles Award as the nation's top assistant coach following the 2006 season. Foster was a finalist for the award in 1999, 2001 and 2005. He was also named the No. 1 defensive coordinator in Division I-A by rivals.com prior to the 2005 season.

THE HIGHEST COMPLIMENT

In a Seattle Times poll of more than 40 Division I-A head football coaches prior to the 2005 season, Virginia Tech's Frank Beamer was picked as the most respected coach among current I-A head coaches.

focused widespread attention on Virginia Tech and its football program following the 1999 season. Although the Hokies fell short in their bid for the national title, they proved that they belong among the top teams in the college ranks.

For his part in the Hokies' magical 1999 season, Beamer earned eight national coach of the year awards. He was named the Bobby Dodd Coach of the Year, the GTE Coach of the Year, the Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year, the Paul 'Bear' Bryant Coach of the Year, The Associated Press Coach of the Year, the Walter Camp Football Foundation/Street & Smith's Coach of the Year, the Maxwell Football Club Coach of the Year and the Woody Hayes Coach of the Year. He also was named the BIG EAST Conference Coach of the Year for the third time.

Tech won the BIG EAST title in 1995 and 1999 and shared it in '96. Beamer was voted BIG EAST Coach of the Year by the league's coaches each of those seasons.

There have been plenty of other accolades for the Hokies' coach. Prior to the 2005 season, a Seattle Times poll of more than 40 coaches voted Frank Beamer as the current head coach for whom they had the most respect. Beamer was also selected the fifth-best strategist. In a survey of Division I-A football coaches conducted by Bloomberg News in the fall of 2000, Beamer was named the best coach a school could hire to run its football program. When BIG EAST Conference football celebrated its first 10 years of existence in 2000, Beamer was voted the Coach of the Decade by the league's media. In 1997, he was inducted into The Virginia Tech Sports Hall of Fame.

The rise of the Tech football program has made Beamer a man in demand. It has opened doors to places he may never have dreamed of as a youngster growing up in Southwest Virginia.

In September 2000, Beamer was invited to the White House where he joined a select group that stood in the Rose Garden behind then-President Bill Clinton as he made remarks on the Conservation and Reinvestment Act. Beamer was one of the keynote speakers at the American Football Coaches Association Convention in 2000; and, in April 2001, he joined former Prime Minister of Great Britain Lady Margaret Thatcher as one of the featured speakers at SUCCESS 2001, one of the nation's most popular business seminars.

In April 2004, Beamer was presented with a Humanitarian Award by the National Conference for Community and Justice for his contributions to fostering justice, equity and community in the Roanoke Valley. An avid NASCAR fan, Beamer has been the official starter for races at Bristol Motor Speedway and Richmond International Raceway.

Coach Frank Beamer reads to youngsters from Margaret Beeks Elementary School to help promote the power of reading and literacy across the commonwealth of Virginia through Herma's Readers, a non-profit organization he formed as a tribute to his late mother, Herma Beamer.

In 1990, Beamer received a new contract and a substantial pay raise. He refused the raise, however, until a time that all classified and faculty employees of the university could have the same opportunity for pay raises. Most state salaries had been frozen at the time. When offered a pay increase in 2006, he did not sign the agreement until his assistant coaches were taken care of first.

Another indication of Beamer's love for the university came on the night he was inducted into The Virginia Tech Sports Hall of Fame. He called it the biggest honor of his entire career. With the induction, he became the first active coach at the university to be honored in that fashion.

The 63-year-old Beamer, the first alumnus to guide the Hokies since the 1940s, took over the Tech reins from Bill Dooley in January 1987. He began work a few days after the Hokies had beaten North Carolina State in the Peach Bowl. It took a while for him to get the Hokies moving in the right direction because the football program was hit with NCAA sanctions at the time.

But everything came together in the 1990s. The Techmen finished 9-3 in 1993 after beating Indiana, 45-20, in a wild Independence Bowl game. Tech followed up with an 8-4 season in 1994, losing to Tennessee, 45-23, in the Gator Bowl.

The Tech teams in 1995 and 1996 were among the best in school history. The 1995 team swept the BIG EAST Conference championship outright, and the 1996 club tied for the title with Syracuse and Miami.

The 1995 team was 9-2 during the regular season and then came up with a stirring 28-10 victory over Texas in the Sugar Bowl. The 1996 team went 10-1 during the regular season and lost to powerful Nebraska, 41-21, in the Orange Bowl after giving the Cornhuskers a fierce battle for three quarters.

The Hokies fell to 7-5 in 1997 and were beaten badly by North Carolina in the Gator Bowl, 42-3. But they came right back with a 9-3 mark in 1998 that included an impressive 38-7 victory over Alabama in the inaugural Music City Bowl in Nashville, Tenn.

The two winningest seasons in school history followed in 1999 and 2000 with the Hokies posting back-to-back 11-1 records. Tech registered its first-ever 11-0 regular-season record in '99 before losing its national championship battle with FSU.

In 2000, the Hokies' only blemish was a loss at Miami in the ninth game of the season. Both seasons, Tech climbed as high as No. 2 in The Associated Press poll, finishing No. 2 in '99 and No. 6 in 2000. The Hokies climbed as high as No. 5 in the 2001 AP poll and finished 18th. In 2002, Tech was ranked as high as No. 3 in the AP poll after posting consecutive wins over nationally ranked LSU (14th), Marshall (16th) and Texas A&M (19th). The Hokies' youthful team finished the season ranked 18th.

During the 2003 season, the Hokies ended No. 2 Miami's 39-game regular-season winning streak with a 31-7 victory. The Canes were the highest-ranked opponent Tech had ever beaten on the gridiron. The Hokies climbed as high as No. 3 in the polls before falling victim to inconsistent play during the final month of the season. Still, Tech earned eight wins for the 10th time in 11 seasons.

The 2004 season saw the Hokies bounce back to win their last eight games of the regular season, including victories against three nationally ranked teams – No. 6 West Virginia, No. 16 Virginia and No. 9 Miami.

Beamer's early Tech teams also registered many exciting victories. One of the most impressive came in 1990 when the Hokies capped the year with a 38-13 victory over arch-rival Virginia before a crowd of 54,157 which at the time was the largest ever to see a college football game in the commonwealth of Virginia. During the 1989 season, Tech knocked off ninth-ranked West Virginia and star quarterback Major Harris, 12-10, in Morgantown.

During his undergraduate days at Tech, Beamer started three years as a cornerback and played on the Hokies' 1966 and 1968 Liberty Bowl teams. He received a B.S. in distributive education from Tech in 1969 and a master's in guidance from Radford in 1972. Then came the start of the Beamer coaching career.

He began as an assistant at Radford High School from 1969 through 1971. Then, after one season as a graduate assistant at the University of Maryland, he went to The Citadel where he worked five seasons under Bobby Ross and one year under Art Baker. His last two years at The Citadel, Beamer was the defensive coordinator.

In 1979, Beamer went to Murray State as the defensive coordinator under Mike Gottfried. He was named head coach at Murray State in 1981 and went on to compile a six-year record of 42 wins, 23 losses and two ties.

The Tech coach was born in Mt. Airy, N.C., and grew up in Hillsville, Va. At Hillsville High, he earned 11 varsity letters as a three-sport athlete in football, basketball and baseball.

Beamer is married to the former Cheryl Oakley of Richmond, Va. They have two children, Shane, a former member of his dad's football team at Tech and now an assistant at the University of South Carolina; and daughter Casey, a 2003 graduate of Virginia Tech who works for the Carolina Panthers of the NFL. Shane and his wife, Emily, have two daughters, Sutton and Olivia.

HOKIE ACCOMPLISHMENTS

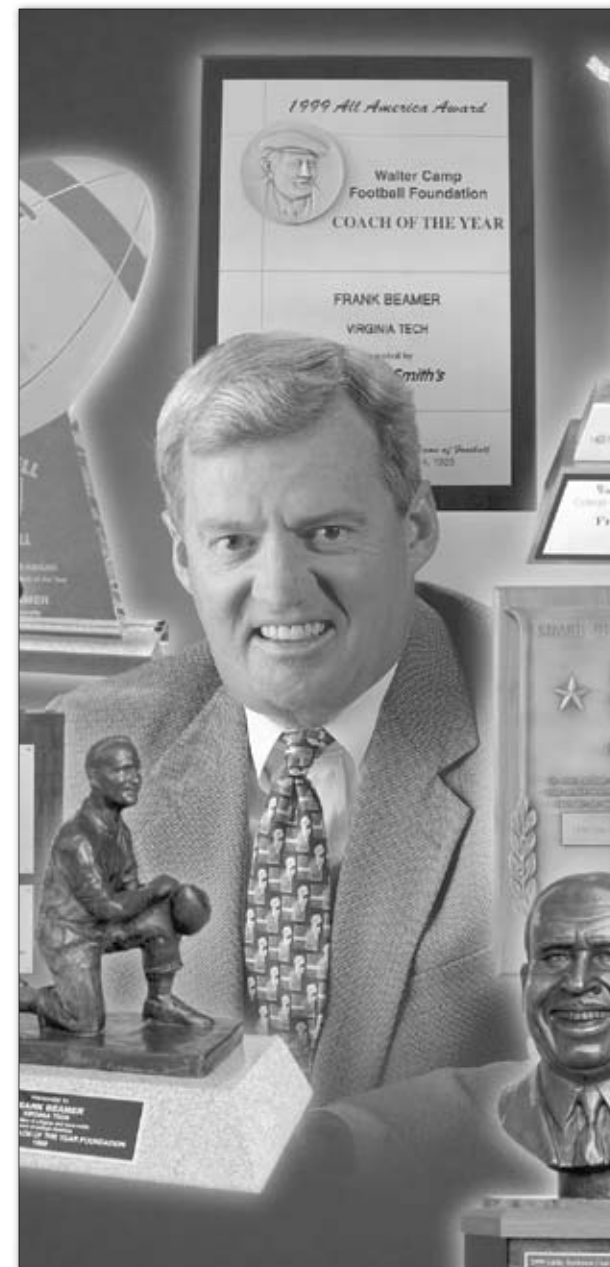

UNDER THE DIRECTION OF COACH FRANK BEAMER AND HIS STAFF, THE HOKIES HAVE ...

- played for the national championship for the first time in school history.
- become one of only three Division I schools to go to bowl games each of the last 17 seasons.
- earned six conference titles and six BCS bids in a 15-year span.
- become one of only two teams (Texas) to produce 10 or more wins each of the past six seasons.
- compiled a school-record streak in the Associated Press Top 25 Poll at 84 consecutive weeks.
- posted 11 wins in a season for the first time.
- registered the program's first back-to-back 11-win seasons.
- produced the school's first 11-0 regular-season record in football.
- averaged more than nine wins a season over the last 17 years.
- won Sugar Bowl and Orange Bowl titles.
- won three ACC titles.
- won an Atlantic Coast Conference Championship in their first season of competition.
- played in three ACC Championship games.
- produced the ACC Coach of the Year and Player of the Year during their inaugural ACC season.
- been the first team in BIG EAST history to win all the league's major awards in the same season.
- earned the highest national rankings in school football history, including five top-10 finishes and back-to-back top-6 finishes.
- finished in a final Top 25 poll 14 times in the last 17 seasons.
- won more games (187) than under any other coaching staff in school history.
- been to four times as many bowl games (17) than under any other staff.
- won more bowl games (8) than under any other coaching staff.
- posted 17 straight seasons of seven or more wins for the first time in school history.
- had 148 of their last 177 games televised (84%).
- compiled an 115-40 record in televised games since the start of the 1995 season.
- blocked more kicks in the 1990s than any other Division I-A team.
- become one of only eight Division I-A schools ever to lead the nation in both scoring offense and defense in the same season.
- had at least one player from every defensive position score a touchdown.
- produced a No. 1 pick in the National Football League draft.
- had more than 160 players sign with NFL teams.
- had two players who entered the program as walk-ons drafted in the top four rounds of the NFL draft.
- had 16 different players earn AP All-America honors over the last 12 seasons.
- had players win 11 major conference individual awards in the last 12 years.

Frank Beamer, the first Tech alumnus to guide the Hokies' football program since the 1940s, has won more games at Tech than any other head football coach. Prior to Beamer, no other grid coach in Virginia Tech history had served more than 10 seasons as head coach. Only one of the 120 Division I-A head coaches has been at their current school consecutively longer than Beamer's 23 years. That coach is Joe Paterno (44 years at Penn State).

With last season's visit to the Chick-fil-A Bowl, head coach Frank Beamer has led the Hokies to 17 straight bowl games. The 17 bowl appearances mark the second-highest by any active coach. Penn State's Joe Paterno leads the way with 36.

BILLY HITE

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH AND RUNNING BACKS COACH

Coach Billy Hite and his wife, Anne, with children Bryn and Griffin. Daughter Kirsten is not pictured.

Long-time assistant coach Billy Hite, who has helped develop 26 running backs who have gone on to sign with NFL teams, enters his 33rd season on the Tech coaching staff and his 10th year as the Hokies' associate head coach.

While at Tech, Hite has helped produce nine of Virginia Tech's top 11 career rushing leaders. He has been on the sidelines for more Virginia Tech football games than any other coach.

Last season, he saw freshman tailback Ryan Williams earn All-America honors after breaking the school's single-season rushing record with 1,655 yards. A year before, freshman Darren Evans eclipsed the 1,200-yard mark and broke the school's freshman rushing record en route to all-conference honors. Evans also rushed for a school-record 253 yards in Tech's win over Maryland. Both are back in 2010.

Hite came to Blacksburg as a member of Bill Dooley's football staff in 1978. He served as a recruiter and head jayvee coach his first two years, then took over as the offensive backfield coach in charge of tailbacks and fullbacks in 1980. He has been coaching Tech's running backs ever since.

Hite remained at Tech when Frank Beamer took over in 1987 and was elevated to the position of assistant head coach by Beamer the following year. He was promoted to the new position of associate head coach in December 2000.

In 1989, Hite filled in as the acting head coach when Beamer was sidelined following coronary angioplasty surgery and had to miss a home game versus Tulane. Hite didn't let the Tech faithful down as he led the Hokies to an emotional 30-13 victory.

Hite's first tailback in 1980, Cyrus Lawrence, went on to establish Tech season and career marks for rushing yards. During the mid-1980s, Hite was credited with the development of Tech's famed "Stallions" backfield that featured Maurice Williams and Eddie Hunter.

In 2000, tailback Lee Suggs shattered school and BIG EAST Conference scoring records on the way to leading the nation in touchdowns and scoring. Suggs, who also led the conference in rushing, was selected the Co-BIG EAST Offensive Player of the Year.

During the 2001 season, with Suggs sidelined by an injury, true freshman tailback Kevin Jones came on to lead the team in rushing and set a Tech record for rushing yards by a freshman. Jones was named the BIG EAST Rookie of the Year.

In 2002, Suggs and Jones combined to become the most productive Tech twosome ever in terms of single-season rushing yardage, combining for over 2,000 yards. During the 2003 season, Jones broke Lawrence's single-season rushing mark and set new Tech records for rushing in a game and 100-yard games in a season. He earned consensus All-America honors before opting to leave early for the NFL Draft. He was a first-round pick of the Detroit Lions.

A native of Hyattsville, Md., Hite was a former star tailback at the University of North Carolina. He received a bachelor's degree in education in 1974. Hite began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at UNC in '74. He was a part-time assistant for the Tar Heels from 1975-77. Hite received one of his highest honors when he was inducted into the DeMatha High School Hall of Fame in 1992.

Hite is married to the former Anne Heen of Memphis, Tenn. They have two daughters, Kirsten, 25, and Bryn, 21, and a son, Griffin, 17.

TECH'S RUNNING GAME

UNDER THE DIRECTION OF COACH BILLY HITE, IN 2009 ...

- the tailback position players rushed for 2,330 yards and 27 touchdowns.
- the Hokies outrushed their opponent in nine of 13 games.
- Ryan Williams broke the school's single-season rushing record with 1,655 yards and earned third-team All-America honors. He also became just the seventh freshman in ACC history to go over 1,000 yards rushing, breaking that single-season mark as well.

- Williams, who was named ACC Rookie of the Year, tied an NCAA record for rushing touchdowns by a freshman with 21.

DURING BILLY HITE'S TENURE AT VIRGINIA TECH ...

- the Hokies have rushed for over 74,823 yards – an average of nearly 200 yards per game (194.9) over a 384-game period.
- the Hokies have outrushed their opponents 70 percent of the time (197 of 281 games) in the Frank Beamer era.
- he has had a back rush for 100 yards or more in a game 167 times.
- he has coached six of the seven Tech running backs who have rushed for 200 or more yards in a game.

- the Hokies have had an average of 145.9 yards rushing per game from the tailback position.
- he has coached nine of Virginia Tech's top 11 career rushing leaders.
- he has worked with 10 of the 12 Tech players who have turned in 1,000-yard rushing seasons.
- he has coached 10 different running backs who rushed for over 100 yards in a bowl game.
- a total of 26 running backs have gone on to sign with NFL teams.

"I tell all my players to be the best back on the field – to be complete football players. I want them to take the attitude that one man cannot bring them down. I want them to be physical and nasty when blocking, to run good pass routes and catch the football, and to be good actors and carry out their fakes. Once a back touches the ball, they make the decision where to run. I will never second guess a running back with the ball in his arms. If each back protects the football, makes the big play and plays with intensity, we will win."

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR AND INSIDE LINEBACKERS COACH

Regarded as one of the top defensive minds in the game, Bud Foster enters his 24th season at Virginia Tech. The 2006 Broyles Award winner has helped mold nationally ranked defenses on a yearly basis during his 15 years as a coordinator.

Foster, who was a finalist three previous times (1999, 2001, 2005) for the award given to the nation's top assistant football coach, has gained a well-deserved reputation as one of the nation's most respected defensive coaches while serving on Frank Beamer's football staff at Tech.

Foster may have done his best coaching job in 2008. Despite losing seven starters to NFL camps from the 2007 team, his young and inexperienced group finished seventh in the nation in total defense and in the top 20 of five other categories. Last year, his group rounded into form late and finished 12th in the country in total defense and was led by All-American Cody Grimm.

The 2007 group was also among the nation's elite, featuring a pair of first-team All-Americans in Brandon Flowers and Xavier Adibi, along with six all-conference selections.

The 2006 unit led the nation in total defense for the second straight year. The unit also led the nation in passing and scoring defense. The 2005 squad led the nation in total defense and ranked among the top three teams in three other categories. It produced two first-team All-Americans along with four all-conference players.

Tech's 2004 defense ranked in the top five nationally in total defense, pass defense, scoring defense, interceptions and turnovers gained.

After helping Tech to the national championship game in 1999, Foster was recognized as the 2000 Division I-A Defensive Coordinator of the Year by American Football Coach magazine. Tech's 1999 defensive unit led Division I-A in scoring defense and ranked third in two other categories.

Following numerous seasons, Foster has been pursued by big-time programs for their defensive coordinator position, but he has opted to continue his long-standing football association with Beamer.

That association dates back to 1979 when Foster was a strong safety and defensive end at Murray State and Beamer was the defensive coordinator. Foster began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at MSU in 1981, Beamer's first season as the head coach.

Since coming to Tech in 1987, Foster has worn several coaching hats. He coached the inside linebackers for one year in 1987, then tutored the outside linebackers for the next five seasons. Foster assumed responsibility for both sets of linebackers prior to the 1993 season and also took over special-teams coaching that year. The following year, he coached the inside linebackers and special teams.

Foster assumed the position of co-defensive coordinator in 1995 and took over as the sole defensive coordinator in '96. The inside linebackers continue to be his primary responsibility.

A 1981 graduate of Murray State, Foster was an outstanding strong safety and outside linebacker from 1977 to 1980. After two years as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Foster was elevated to a full-time staff position.

The Nokomis, Ill., native coached outside linebackers for three seasons before taking over the inside and outside linebackers in 1986. He also served as the Racers' recruiting coordinator and worked with special teams.

Foster and his wife Jacqueline have three children: Amy Porter, 31; Grant, 24; and Hillary, 22. Daughter Amy has a 2-year-old baby girl, Jaiden Olivia.

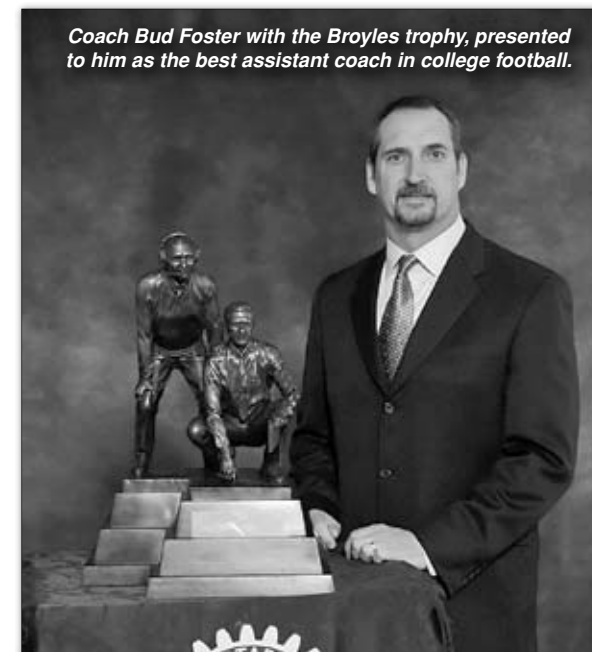

HOKIE DEFENSE

UNDER THE DIRECTION OF '06 BROYLES AWARD WINNER BUD FOSTER, THE 2009 HOKIE DEFENSE ...

- finished in the top 15 nationally in seven major categories.
- was 12th in total defense (295.5 ypg), ninth in scoring defense (15.6 ppg) and eighth in pass efficiency defense (99.21).
- was led by former walk-on Cody Grimm, who registered 106 tackles and seven forced fumbles en route to third-team All-America honors.
- intercepted 11 passes and forced 24 turnovers.
- allowed a touchdown just once after Tech committed 23 turnovers.
- had three players – Jason Worilds, Kam Chancellor and Cody Grimm – drafted and four more sign with or get NFL tryouts as free agents.

DURING BUD FOSTER'S ONE YEAR AS CO-DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR AND 14 SEASONS AS DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR, TECH HAS ...

- had at least one defensive player earn All-America honors in all 15 seasons. Four players gained A-A recognition in 1999 and three in 2001.
- been nationally ranked in the top five of a major defensive category 33 times.
- produced its first Lombardi Award winner and its first Nagurski Trophy winner in Corey Moore.
- had 44 different defensive players score touchdowns.
- held opponents to an average of 103.0 yards rushing and 16.0 points per game in 191 games.
- had 33 players drafted by NFL teams.
- produced two BIG EAST defensive players of the year – Corey Moore, who earned the honor in both 1998 and 1999, and Cornell Brown, who won it in 1995.

Coach Bud Foster with the Broyles trophy, presented to him as the best assistant coach in college football.

"I believe in an attacking, aggressive style of defense. We want to put speed and athleticism on the field and use that to attack and pressure opposing offenses."

BRYAN STINESPRING

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR AND TIGHT ENDS COACH

Coach Bryan Stinespring and his wife, Shelley, with their children; Daniel, Ella, Olivia, and Caroline.

Bryan Stinespring, an integral member of the Virginia Tech staff as both a coach and recruiter, is in his ninth season overseeing the Hokies' offense. Stinespring was promoted to offensive coordinator in December 2001 and began those duties during the Hokies' Gator Bowl game against Florida State on New Year's Day.

The 2010 season marks Stinespring's 18th year as a full-time coach on Frank Beamer's staff at Tech. In 2006, he returned to coaching the tight ends after eight seasons as the offensive line coach.

During his time as the offensive line coach, one of Stinespring's star pupils, center Jake Grove, won the 2003 Rimington Trophy and became the university's third unanimous All-American. He was the first center taken in the 2004 NFL Draft.

Last year, his offense flourished and was led by freshman Ryan Williams who earned All-America honors. He led a rushing offense that ranked 14th in the country and most of the starters from that offense return in 2010.

In 2007, Stinespring had four players from his offense taken in the NFL Draft, including offensive tackle Duane Brown in the first round. In 2005, three of his linemen were named to the All-ACC team with two of them earning first-team honors.

Stinespring took over the offensive line duties in the spring of 1998 and helped mold Tech's young line into a unit that showed steady improvement during the '98 season. Two members of that line – tackle Derek Smith and guard Dwight Vick – went on to sign with NFL teams.

In 1999 and 2000, the offensive line helped clear the way as the Hokies set new BIG EAST rushing marks in back-to-back seasons. Center Keith Short, guard Matt Lehr and tackle Dave Kadela all earned second-team All-BIG EAST honors in '99. Lehr repeated as a second-team pick in 2000, while Kadela moved to first team. In 2002, tackle Anthony Davis earned all-conference honors as the offensive front cleared the way for record-setting tailbacks Lee Suggs and Kevin Jones, who combined for over 2,100 yards.

Prior to taking over the O-line duties, Stinespring coached Tech's tight ends and assisted with the offensive line for five seasons. He was the Hokies' recruiting coordinator for eight years (1994-2001) and continues to be instrumental in helping attract top high school talent to campus. In 2001, he served as Tech's assistant head coach along with his other duties.

Stinespring initially joined the Tech staff in 1990 as a graduate assistant coach and spent two seasons in that capacity helping with the offensive line. After serving as the director of sports programs in 1992, he was elevated to a full-time coaching position prior to the 1993 season.

A native of Clifton Forge, Va., Stinespring was a walk-on player for James Madison University in the early 1980s. He is married to the former Shelley Franklin of Richmond, Va. Bryan and Shelley have a son, Daniel, 16; twin daughters, Caroline and Olivia, who are 12 years old, and another daughter, Ella, 7.

VIRGINIA TECH'S OFFENSE

Virginia Tech put up 438 yards of total offense in the 2009 Chick-fil-A Bowl win over Tennessee.

UNDER THE DIRECTION OF COACH BRYAN STINESPRING, THE 2009 HOKIE OFFENSE ...

- finished 14th in the country in rushing yards per game, averaging 208.2 per contest.
- was led by quarterback Tyrod Taylor, who was 13th in the country in pass efficiency, and Ryan Williams, who was fifth in the country in rushing yards per game.
- had six players earn all-conference honors. Williams was named the league's Rookie of the Year and earned third-team All-America honors.
- saw tackle Ed Wang get drafted by the Buffalo Bills to become the first Chinese-American drafted by an NFL team.

DURING BRYAN STINESPRING'S EIGHT SEASONS AS OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR, TECH HAS ...

- averaged 358 yards and 30.0 points per game.
- finished with six of its top nine all-time teams in both total offense and total points.
- produced its first Rimington Trophy winner in Jake Grove.
- had five players earn All-BIG EAST honors, including one repeat performer, and 20 more who
- won All-ACC honors during the past six seasons, with five repeat picks.
- produced the ACC Player of the Year and Offensive Player of the Year for 2004 in Bryan Randall and the the 2009 ACC Rookie of the Year in Ryan Williams.
- had 27 players sign with NFL teams.

"We want, and expect, to attack both the defense and the field of play in a concerted, aggressive approach. We want to be able to use schemes and formations that utilize our talents, while placing pressure on the opponent to adjust and defend. Our goal is to set the tempo of the game and dictate the style of play that is indicative of Virginia Tech football."

JIM CAVANAUGH

RECRUITING COORDINATOR AND STRONG SAFETY AND OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS COACH

Coach Jim Cavanaugh and his wife Marsha.

Jim Cavanaugh has played a major role in Virginia Tech's success since joining Frank Beamer's coaching staff in 1996. Cavanaugh is heading into his 15th season as the Hokies' strong safety and outside linebackers coach and his ninth year as Tech's recruiting coordinator.

No one has been more instrumental in bringing top-notch talent to the Tech program than Cavanaugh. He was named one of the top 25 recruiters in the country last year by ESPN.com. Over the past 12 years, his recruiting skills have helped the Hokies attract, among others, prep All-Americans Michael Vick, Nathaniel Adibi, Victor Harris, D.J. Coles, Bryan Randall, Jonathan Lewis, Marcus Vick, Mark Shuman, Xavier Adibi, Dyrrell Roberts and Chris Ellis.

Along with his success in attracting talent,

Cavanaugh has been instrumental in helping players develop their talent once they join the Tech program. During his first season on the job, in 1996, outside linebacker Brandon Semones led the team in tackles and earned second-team All-BIG EAST honors.

Cavanaugh has since helped in the development of highly successful players, such as Pierson Prioleau, Cory Bird, Kevin McCadam, James Anderson, Cody Grimm and Aaron Rouse. Prioleau was a third-team All-America pick by The Sporting News in 1997 and is still playing in the NFL. Grimm went from walk-on to All-American under Cavanaugh and was drafted by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

McCadam was a fifth-round NFL selection by the Atlanta Falcons in 2002. Anderson, a two-year starter at whip linebacker, was a third-round NFL draft pick of the Carolina Panthers in 2005, while Rouse was drafted in the third round by the Green Bay Packers in 2007 and started for the New York Giants last year.

Tech's appearance in the 2009 Chick-fil-A Bowl marked Cavanaugh's 26th postseason game as a coach and 18th in a row. A former star receiver at William & Mary, he is a veteran of 40 years coaching, including 36 as a full-time coach on the collegiate level. He has worked at two other Virginia schools – VMI and the University of Virginia – during his career and has been on the staff of five ACC schools – NC State, UVa, Maryland, North Carolina and Virginia Tech.

Cavanaugh coached at the University of North Carolina for eight years, and from 1982 through 1987, he worked under Bobby Ross and Joe Krivak at Maryland. He served two years at North Carolina State, three years under coach Bob Thalman at VMI, one year at Virginia and two years at Marshall. Cavanaugh began his collegiate coaching career as a graduate assistant at NC State in 1972.

He has been a part of 10 conference championships and has been associated with four Hall of Fame Coaches (played for Marv Levy at W&M; coached with Lou Holtz at NCSU; coached with Ross at Maryland; and coached with Thalman at VMI).

During his years as a receiver at William & Mary, Cavanaugh surpassed the Tribe's career record in receiving with 117 catches and over 1,600 yards. He also earned honorable mention All-America honors in 1967 and was co-captain of his team in 1969. Cavanaugh was inducted into the William & Mary Sports Hall of Fame in April 2001.

Married to the former Marsha Carnell, he has two children – Ryan, an Appalachian State graduate who has worked in the NFL, and Lauren, who graduated from Virginia Tech in 2002.

Ryan and his wife, the former Melissa Searls, have two daughters, Mallory (5) and Samantha (3), while Lauren and her husband, Rob Reddick, have three children, Matthew (6), Marshall (4) and Mille (2).

VIRGINIA TECH RECRUITING

“ The state of Virginia is, and always will be, the primary focus of our recruiting. In recent years, a number of outstanding players from outside the state have also expressed great interest in Virginia Tech. If you get the best players from the state of Virginia and put them together with some talented players from out-of-state, you’ve got a really good combination.”

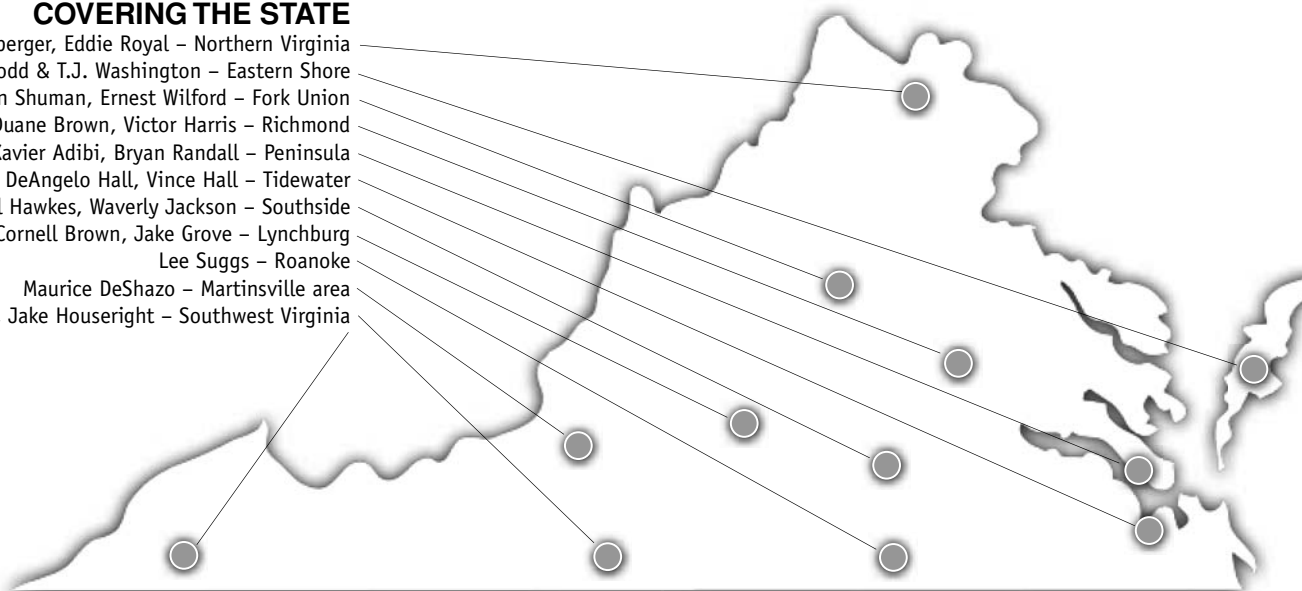

– Coach Frank Beamer

“ Having coached high school football in Newport News and having spent most of my professional recruiting life in the state of Virginia, I am fully aware of the outstanding quality of the players and coaches within our state. Our objective is to recruit as many of the great players in the state as possible with the goal of winning the national championship.”

TORRIAN GRAY

DEFENSIVE BACKFIELD COACH

Coach Torrian Gray and his daughter, Tori.

Former Virginia Tech defensive standout and NFL product Torrian Gray, who is in his fifth season as the Hokies' defensive backfield coach, has made an immediate impact on Tech's defense.

Last year, his group finished 11th in the country in pass defense and eighth in pass efficiency defense and was led by eventual NFL draft pick Kam Chancellor. In 2008, led by All-American Victor Harris, Gray's secondary was ranked among the nation's leaders in pass defense (129.1 ypg) and interceptions (20).

In 2007, Gray oversaw a pass efficiency defense ranked fifth in the country, led by three All-ACC performers in Harris, Brandon Flowers and D.J. Parker. Flowers thrived under Gray, earning All-America honors for the second time, including first-team honors en route to becoming a second-round pick in the NFL Draft.

In 2006, Gray led a secondary that ranked as the nation's No. 1 pass defense and the No. 2 team in pass efficiency defense.

Prior to coming to Blacksburg, Gray spent the previous two seasons as assistant defensive backs coach with the NFL's Chicago Bears. During the 2005 season, the Bears ranked fifth in the NFL in passing defense, allowing just 179.5 yards per game, and finished tied for second in interceptions (24). Defensive backs Nathan Vasher and Mike Brown were both elected to the Pro Bowl as Chicago posted an 11-6 record and won the NFC North Division. In 2004, the Bears recorded 29 total takeaways and set a team record with six defensive touchdowns, including four by defensive backs.

Gray began his coaching career at the University of Maine, serving as defensive backs coach for two seasons (2000-01). Gray spent the 2002 and 2003 seasons as defensive backs coach at the University of Connecticut. While there, the UConn defense ranked among the nation's best despite moving up to Division I-A in 2002.

During his playing career at Virginia Tech (1992-96), Gray helped the Hokies to four consecutive bowls for the first time in school history. He played on 97 percent of the Hokies' defensive plays over his last three seasons, starting at rover in 1994 and '95, and handling the starting free safety duties in 1996.

Gray was named All-BIG EAST all three seasons and helped Tech to conference championships his last two years. He shared the team lead in interceptions in both 1993 and 1994 and was named the Hokies' Outstanding Defensive Back in 1996. Gray earned a bachelor's degree in consumer studies from Tech.

Gray was drafted in the second round of the 1997 NFL Draft (49th overall) by the Minnesota Vikings. He started five games as a rookie, including two playoff contests. He contributed as a starter in the nickel package and as a special teams player before retiring in the spring of 2000 due to a knee injury. The Vikings advanced to the playoffs in each of his three seasons.

A native of Lakeland, Fla., Gray has a daughter, Tori, who is 12.

CURT NEWSOME

OFFENSIVE LINE COACH

Coach Curt Newsome and his wife, Melinda, and daughter Elizabeth. Son Curtis is not pictured.

Curt Newsome is entering his fifth season as the offensive line coach for the Hokies. Prior to his arrival in Blacksburg, he was an assistant coach at James Madison University for seven seasons.

A familiar face in the Virginia high school ranks, he is also one of the top recruiters in the region and helped sign prep star Tyrod Taylor in 2006.

Last year's line featured four All-ACC selections from a unit that helped open holes for a 1,600-yard back and a rushing offense that finished 14th in the country. Ed Wang was drafted by the Buffalo Bills and Sergio Render signed a free agent deal with Tampa Bay. This came on the heels of a 2008 line that helped pave the way for 1,200-yard rusher Darren Evans as the Hokies gelled late en route to ACC and Orange Bowl titles.

In 2007, Newsome had to deal with player injuries throughout the season, but had a line playing its best ball at the end of the year, led by eventual first-round draft pick Duane Brown. In 2006, his young line came along as the season progressed. Senior Brandon Frye was taken in the NFL Draft by Houston and started several games for Seattle last season.

Newsome served as the offensive line coach and assistant head coach his last three seasons at James Madison, helping guide the Dukes to the Division I-AA national championship in 2004. He joined the JMU staff in March 1999 and worked as the defensive line coach his first three seasons. In 2002, he coached Madison's offensive tackles and tight ends.

During his stint at JMU, Newsome coached All-Americans on both sides of the ball - defensive end Chris Morant, who was a two-time first-team All-American, and offensive guard Matt Magerko, who received first-team AP All-America honors in 2004 when the Dukes won the I-AA national title.

Prior to joining the JMU staff, Newsome was head coach in 1998 at Newport News' Heritage High School, where he was the AP's Virginia Scholastic Coach of the Year. He coached from 1987 to 1997 at Kecoughtan High School and also coached at both Phoebus and Ervington high schools.

Newsome received a bachelor's degree in physical education from Emory & Henry in 1982. He and his wife, Melinda, have a son, Curtis, 22, and a daughter, Elizabeth, 15.

Coach Mike O'Cain and his wife, Nancy.

Mike O'Cain is in his fifth season as the quarterbacks coach at Virginia Tech. A veteran of the Atlantic Coast Conference, O'Cain was formerly the head coach at NC State and offensive coordinator at both North Carolina and Clemson.

The 32-year coaching veteran has continued to develop Tyrod Taylor, helping turn him into a dynamic playmaker who earned 2008 ACC Championship Game MVP honors and a quarterback who finished last year 13th in the country in pass efficiency.

O'Cain returned to the sidelines in 2006 after a one-year hiatus in which he served as the color commentator for the Hokie Playback broadcasts of home Virginia Tech football games.

Prior to that, he coached at Clemson in 2004, serving as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach. In 2003, he was a big reason Charlie Whitehurst established 33 school records, including the passing yardage and completion records for a season.

In his first year at Tech, he brought along Sean Glennon, who passed for over 2,000 yards in his first year as a starter, while the 2007 combo of Glennon and Taylor combined for 2,723 passing yards and 24 total touchdowns.

O'Cain began his coaching career at Clemson in 1977 as a graduate assistant. He coached the offensive backfield at The Citadel for the 1978-80 seasons before moving to Murray State, where he was an assistant under Tech head coach Frank Beamer from 1981-84.

After one year as the assistant head coach at East Carolina, O'Cain joined Dick Sheridan as quarterbacks coach at NC State. O'Cain served as a top assistant under Sheridan from 1986-92 and was a part of a staff that coached the Wolfpack in six bowl games.

In 1993, Sheridan decided to retire just five weeks prior to the start of August practice and O'Cain was promoted to head coach. Despite a short period of time for preparation, O'Cain took NC State to a 7-4 regular-season record and an invitation to the Hall of Fame Bowl.

The next year, O'Cain guided the Wolfpack to a second-place ACC finish with an 8-3 record. He completed the season with a victory over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl to become just the second coach in NC State history to take a team to a bowl in his first two seasons with the program.

In 1998, O'Cain guided the 'Pack to a win over No. 1 Florida State, then won at Texas in 1999. For the Seminoles, that was one of just two losses in ACC play during the team's first nine years in the league. He coached the Wolfpack to their third bowl trip in his tenure.

After the 1999 season, O'Cain joined the North Carolina football staff as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach. He helped the Tar Heels to a winning season in 2000, and then moved to Clemson in December to replace Rich Rodriguez as quarterbacks coach. He spent four years at Clemson, taking part in three bowl games.

A native of Orangeburg, S.C., O'Cain was a three-year letterwinner at Clemson, where he was the most valuable player and a captain of Clemson's 1976 team, working as both the punter and quarterback. He is still ranked in Clemson's history for passing efficiency. He received his bachelor's degree in recreation parks administration from Clemson in 1977.

O'Cain and his wife, Nancy, have two daughters, Jenny (25) and Lizzi (23).

KEVIN SHERMAN

WIDE RECEIVERS COACH

Coach Kevin Sherman and his wife, Jennifer.

Kevin Sherman is heading into his fifth season as the Hokies' wide receivers coach and is loaded with a slew of veteran receivers who have been playing since they were freshmen two years ago.

The transition wasn't easy as this group had to replace a veteran group of four seniors who each had over 1,000 yards receiving for their career.

The young group has continued to improve under Sherman, and last year the sophomore trio of Danny Coale, Jarrett Boykin and Dyrrell Roberts combined to catch 92 passes for 1,839 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Sherman, who spent five seasons serving in the same capacity at Wake Forest University before coming to Tech, is a native of nearby Radford and a graduate of Radford High School and Ferrum (Va.) College.

Three of his receivers from the 2007 team were drafted and both Eddie Royal (Denver) and Josh Morgan (San Francisco) are now starring in the NFL. In 2006, five receivers contributed regularly, and three had at least 400 yards receiving.

The senior quartet of Royal, Morgan, Justin Harper and Josh Hyman combined for 2,026 yards receiving and 15 touchdowns in 2007.

During his time with the Demon Deacons, Sherman worked closely with All-ACC performers John Stone and Fabian Davis, both of whom went on to successful professional football careers with Oakland and Tampa Bay, respectively.

Sherman also oversaw the development of Jason Anderson. Anderson set a school record for most receiving yards by a freshman and eventually left in 2004 as Wake's career leader in yards per reception.

Sherman became an assistant coach at WFU after working four years as an assistant coach at Ohio University. Sherman was one of eight Ohio assistant coaches who accompanied head coach Jim Grobe to Winston-Salem in December 2000.

At Ohio, Sherman was responsible for the split end and Z-back positions, which saw increasing action in the Bobcats' Pro-I offense. Sherman helped guide the career of Z-back Raynald Ray, who compiled 925 receiving yards during his career.

As a group, the 1999 receiving corps grabbed more receptions (72) than any group since 1994, while the 2000 unit totaled the highest number of receiving yards (1,046) in seven years.

Prior to his stint at Ohio University, Sherman coached at Virginia Military Institute (VMI). In his four seasons with the Keydets, he coached in several capacities under three different head coaches. Beginning as the running backs coach, he later became the quarterbacks and receivers coach and coordinator for the passing game.

While at VMI, he coached All-America running back Thomas Haskins, who led the Southern Conference in rushing for three consecutive years, and quarterback Al Lester, who threw for nearly 4,000 yards in his career.

A 1992 graduate of Ferrum, Sherman served as captain of the Panther football team and was chosen as the team's Most Valuable Player as a senior in 1990. During the 1991 season, he served as a student assistant football coach before becoming an assistant football coach at Methodist (NC) College in 1992.

Sherman is married to the former Jennifer Williams. The couple has two children, a son, James, and a daughter, Nioka.

CHARLEY WILES

DEFENSIVE LINE COACH

Coach Charley Wiles and his wife, Andrea, with their daughter Kendell and son Eric.

Charley Wiles, a former All-America player for Frank Beamer at Murray State, has produced five All-Americans of his own since joining Beamer's Virginia Tech staff as defensive line coach in 1996.

Among the top players Wiles has helped develop during his 15 seasons directing the Tech line are ends Corey Moore and Cornell Brown.

In 1999, Moore won the Mike Fox/Bronko Nagurski Award as the nation's best defensive player and the Lombardi Award as the best lineman. He also became Tech's second unanimous All-American and was chosen the BIG EAST Defensive Player of the Year two consecutive years. Brown was a two-time All-America pick, taking consensus honors as a junior in 1995 when he was named the National Defensive Player of the Year by Football News and the BIG EAST Defensive Player of the Year.

In 2005, Wiles helped mold end Darryl Tapp into a first-team All-America selection, a first-team All-ACC selection, and a Hendricks and Lott Awards finalist. Tapp now plays on Sundays for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Wiles also coached John Engelberger, who was named to the second team on The Associated Press All-America team, and tackle David Pugh, who was a third-team All-America pick by The Sporting News. In 2008, end Chris Ellis and tackle Carlton Powell were both taken in the NFL Draft. Last year, Jason Worilds flourished under his guidance and was drafted in the second round by the Pittsburgh Steelers. Two other players also signed NFL free agent deals.

In all, 18 of Wiles' players have won all-conference honors, including Tapp, who was a first-team All-ACC pick during each of the Hokies' first two seasons in the league. In 2008, ends Orion Martin and Worilds both earned second-team honors and were among the league leaders in sacks and tackles for loss.

During the 1999 season, Wiles coached a veteran line which he helped mold into what The Sporting News rated as the best Division I-A defensive line in the college ranks prior to the season. That line helped the Hokies finish first in the nation in scoring defense and third in rushing defense and total defense. Tech's 2001 defensive line was rated as the fourth-best in Division I-A by The Sporting News.

Wiles is on his second tour of duty at Tech. He originally joined Beamer's Tech staff as a graduate assistant in 1987 and worked in that capacity for two years. Wiles first had a player-coach relationship with Beamer, when Beamer was the head man at Murray State. Wiles won Kodak Division I-AA All-America honors as an offensive lineman in 1986.

When he left Tech after the 1988 season, Wiles spent a year on the staff at East Tennessee State. He then returned to Murray State for a six-year coaching tenure, winding up as the Racers' co-defensive coordinator. In 1995, he helped coach the Racers to an 11-0 regular-season mark and a berth in the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. Wiles also served as MSU's recruiting coordinator, helping land many of the Racers' top players.

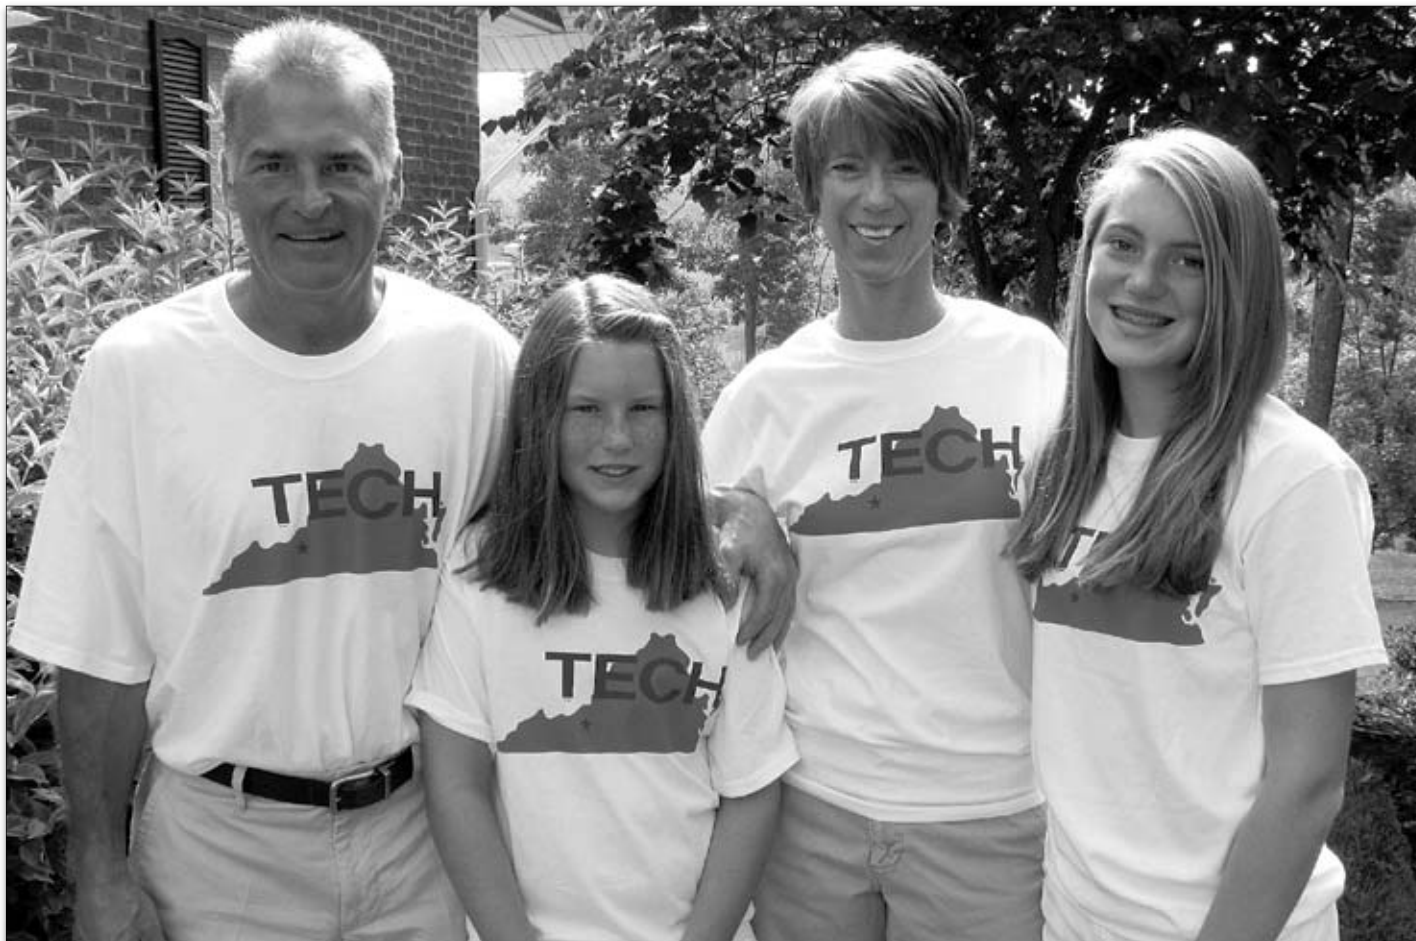

When Wiles rejoined Beamer at Tech in 1996, he fulfilled a goal he had set during his first stint in Blacksburg. The Hokies have competed in bowl games during each season since he rejoined the staff.

A native of DeLand, Fla., and a three-sport star at DeLand High School, Wiles is married to the former Andrea Wilder of Booneville, Ind. They have a daughter, Kendell, 14, and a son Eric, 11.

ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS FOR FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

John Ballein and his wife, Stephanie, with daughters Jalyn and Jordan.

The Virginia Tech athletic department could choose no better person to head up all football operations than associate athletics director for football operations John Ballein, whose rich history with the university makes him the perfect person for the job. Ballein, who received his doctorate of education from Virginia Tech in 2006 and worked on Coach Frank Beamer's first Virginia Tech staff in 1987 as a graduate assistant coach, handles all administrative and operational duties dealing with the football program and is considered Coach Beamer's right-hand man.

After a year as the running backs coach at Western Kentucky University in 1988, Ballein returned to Tech as recruiting coordinator and has been with the Hokies ever since. He was promoted to assistant director of athletics for football operations in 1996 and, in 2000, received another promotion to his current position for his excellent work throughout the years with Tech football.

A native of Bentleyville, Pa., Ballein was a linebacker at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated with a degree in health and physical education in 1983. He later earned his master's in education from Old Dominion University in 1987. In 1983-84, Ballein served as a teacher and a football coach at Woodrow Wilson High School in Portsmouth, Va., and then at Western Branch High in Chesapeake, Va., in 1985-86.

What makes Ballein so important is the rapport he has with all the players. His office, adjacent to Coach Beamer's, is a preferred hangout for the players, and he is one of the most beloved and respected members of the staff.

"At Virginia Tech, Coach Beamer talks a lot about family," former Hokie standout and Denver Broncos wide receiver Eddie Royal said. "One of the main reasons that the program truly feels like family is John Ballein. I don't know how he does it, but he doesn't miss a thing. If you've messed up, he's the first person there to help you get back on track. If you've done something special, he's the first person there to shake your hand and tell you great job. Now that I'm away from the program, he's the person who checks in to make sure I'm doing okay. The reason he's so popular with all the players is because you can tell he's genuine. He really cares about us, and that makes it easy to really care about him."

Ballein is married to the former Stephanie Green, a Hokie basketball player in her undergraduate days. They have two daughters, Jordan Gray, 14, and Jalyn Ann, 12.

FOOTBALL SUPPORT STAFF

FOOTBALL OPERATIONS ASSISTANT

Bruce Garnes, a 1994 graduate of Virginia Tech, is in his 12th year as an operations assistant in the Hokies' football office.

For 11 years, he has served as the liaison between the academic community and football and has helped the Hokies with their recruiting efforts. Garnes also assists Dr. John Ballein, the associate athletics director for football operations, with Tech's coaching clinics.

A native of Martinsville, Va., Garnes graduated from Tech with a bachelor's degree in sport management. He received a master's at Tech in counseling education in 1996.

In 1998 and 1999, Garnes interned with the Dallas Cowboys in the equipment room.

A 1989 graduate of Magna Vista High School in Ridgeway, Va., Garnes, 38, is single and enjoys jogging, spending time with co-workers and watching all Virginia Tech athletic teams compete.

LESTER KARLIN
EQUIPMENT MANAGER

Lester Karlin, a veteran of 32 years as the Hokies' equipment manager, is one of the most popular people on the Virginia Tech athletic staff.

Karlin is a certified equipment manager and a member of the Athletic Equipment Managers Association. In addition to ordering equipment for the football team, he is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the equipment room.

A native of Norfolk, Va., Karlin graduated from Tech in 1974 with a bachelor's degree in health and physical education. From 1971 to 1973, he served as the student assistant in the football equipment room.

Karlin worked for two years in the World Football League, serving as the equipment manager for teams in Houston, Texas, and Shreveport, La. He returned to Blacksburg and his alma mater in 1978.

Karlin, his wife Suzie, and their daughter Sarah live in Blacksburg. Their daughter Rachel and her husband Christopher Potter, live in nearby Christiansburg with their son Caleb, who was born in June. Karlin is a life member of the Blacksburg Volunteer Rescue Squad and a member of the Blacksburg Volunteer Fire Department. He spends his spare time either working in his yard or at the rescue squad or fire department.

GIVING COACHES AND PLAYERS AN EDGE IN PREPARATION

To ensure athletes have all the information they need to be ready on game day, the video office equips Hokie football players and coaches with everything required to scout opponents and to improve personal performance.

Virginia Tech's XOS Technology, a system also utilized by NFL teams, gives the coaching staff a wealth of information at their disposal in a matter of seconds. During the week, the department gathers tape of Tech practices and games in addition to opponent footage and labels every play in terms of down, distance, formation, protection and end result. This information is matched with video and then entered into a computer database accessible to coaches and players at any time.

"Players at this level have to realize that there is a lot more involved than just playing the game," Tech defensive coordinator Bud Foster said. "(The XOS Technology) has been a great tool. Besides the quality, it's right there at your fingertips."

To fully utilize the upgraded technology, Tech has provided each individual position meeting room with a pull-down projection screen and video projector connected to the computer database, giving coaches and players 24-hour, easy access to information. All of the coaches' meeting rooms are also equipped with computers, so that each member of the staff can instantaneously pull up footage of any scenario. When on the road, the videography department gives coaches and players laptop computers containing hours of scouting material to analyze while away from the Tech campus.

"The greatest teaching tool is the ability to show someone what they're doing, right or wrong," head coach Frank Beamer said. "With our video equipment, we can do that quickly. The ease with which we can do these things and the way we can put certain plays and scenarios together makes us more efficient in preparing for games on Saturday."

A local product who really had a good spring throwing the football after joining the team in January ... Coaches like his mental makeup ... Picked up some valuable exposure to the system by coming in at mid-year ... Only got a little work, but impressed the coaches when he stepped in during the spring game and did a nice job of taking over the offense on a late drive.

2009: Entered school in January as a greyshirt ... Went through the off-season program ... Completed 3 of 4 passes in limited scrimmage duty during the spring for 18 yards ... Went 4-for-7 passing the in the spring Maroon-White game for 50 yards, including a 26-yard completion to Xavier Boyce.

High School: Became the first four-year starter at quarterback for Blacksburg High and finished as the school's all-time leading passer ... Played for Coach Dave Crist ... Threw for over 1,700 yards as a senior in 2008 and added another 650 yards and five touchdowns rushing ... Tossed four TD passes and ran for another score in a game against Northside ... Was a four-time all-district pick and was all-state his senior year ... Lettered four years in baseball, winning all-district honors all four seasons and setting school season and career records for stolen bases ... A three-year all-state honoree in track.

Is the front-runner for the place-kicking duties heading into preseason practice ... Falls in line with the kickers Tech has had the past three seasons ... An older player who has hung around and knows the system ... Was erratic a couple of days early in the spring, but kicked well overall ... Has a consistent flight on the ball and gets good height ... Needs to continue working during the summer ... Will face more competition when practice resumes in August.

2009: Competed for the kicking duties during the fall ... Was 3-for-5 on field goals during spring scrimmages ... Was successful on kicks from 23 and 33-yards during the Hokies final scrimmage ... Made a pair of PAT kicks during the Maroon-White game.

2008: Was in the competition for the kicking duties during the preseason ... Continued to work throughout the season ... Improved his strength numbers during the off-season ...

2007: A walk-on who did not join the team until the second semester ... Booted a 25-yard field goal in one of the team's spring scrimmages and connected from 36 yards out in another ... Scored the Maroon team's only points in the Maroon-White spring game with a 42-yard field goal.

High School: Kicked for Coach Joe Walsh at Henderson High his senior year ... Played soccer three seasons prior to that ... Helped his soccer team to a district title as a sophomore.

Personal: Christopher John Hazley ... Born 8/9/87 in Bryn Mawr, PA ... Son of Michael and Christine Hazley ... A 2010 Tech graduate in marketing management ... Plans to take classes toward a second undergraduate major.

Made big strides in the spring after serving as a backup during the 2009 season ... Had a great off-season ... Also did well in 6 a.m., workouts ... Got reps at both cornerback spots during spring practice ... Will likely be the top backup at both ... Eliminated a lot of mental errors and showed toughness ... An important special teams member who has started on the kickoff team and served as a reserve on six other special team units ... Has a chance to really help the Hokies this fall.

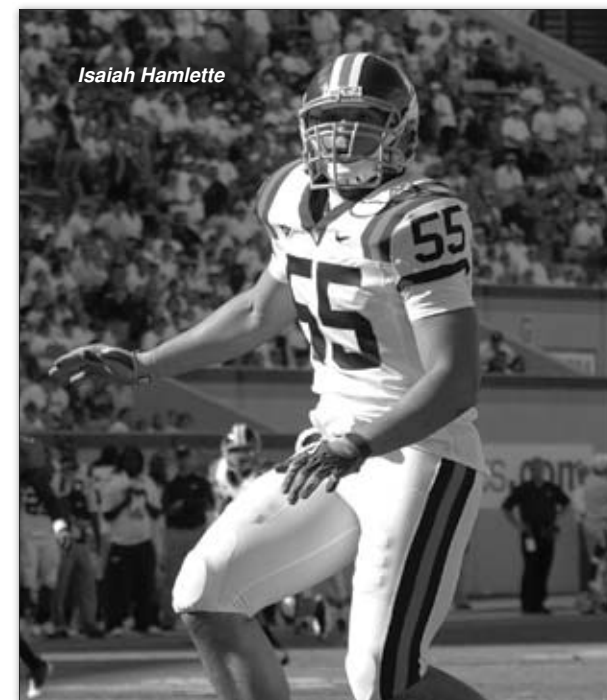

2009: Played in all 13 games ... Saw action on five special team plays against Alabama ... Picked up his first start in the Marshall game ... Shared a tackle for loss while playing 19 plays at corner and 10 on special teams ... Picked up eight special team plays against Nebraska ... Made a tackle on the kickoff team against Miami ... GREG NOSAL

Offensive Guard • 6-6 • 278 • r-Jr.
Virginia Beach, Va. • Kellam H.S.

One of the biggest surprises along the offensive line ... Slated to start at left guard after playing an extremely valuable role with over 300 snaps and 23 knockdown blocks in a reserve capacity last season ... Has seen action at both guard spots ... Also has the ability to play a tackle spot if needed ... Coaches would like to see him put on a little more weight and maintain it ... Continues to get better each time he takes the field ... Another converted tight end.

2009: Saw action in every game, with a start at Georgia Tech ... Came off the bench for 22 plays at right guard during the opener with Alabama ... Picked up three knockdown blocks while playing 27 snaps against Marshall ... Subbed in for nine plays against Miami, collecting a knockdown block ... Got another knockdown during 24 snaps against Duke ... Played 30 snaps in the Boston College game ... Picked up his first start at Georgia Tech and worked 24 plays with one knockdown block ... Was in for 18 snaps against UNC with a knockdown ... Played 36 snaps at ECU with two knockdown blocks ... Worked 37 plays in the Maryland game with five knockdowns ... Played a season-high 47 snaps against NC State ... Posted four knockdowns while working 27 snaps at Virginia ... Helped out in the Chick-fil-A Bowl against Tennessee ... Tied for the fourth-best push jerk on the team during off-season testing at 351 pounds ... Won the Don Williams TEAM UNITED Award as the defensive player who put the team first during spring workouts.

2008: Came in for five plays at tackle during the ECU game ... Got 16 snaps during the Furman win ... Did not see action after that point ... Posted a 410-pound bench press during off-season testing ... Led the offensive linemen with a 361-pound clean and a 31 1/2-inch vertical jump ... Got work as a guard during spring practice ... Was one of four winners of the Bullock Award for the most improved players of spring workouts.

2007: Practiced at tight end during the fall while redshirting ... Was moved inside to tackle after the season ... Posted the best 40 time among the offensive linemen during the off-season at 4.9 ... Started off the spring at right tackle but spent most of his time on the left side of the line.

High School: Was a key blocker for Coach Chris Dewitt's Kellam team that led the Beach District in rushing (233 ypg) in 2006 ... Had 19 catches for 416 yards and five touchdowns ... Two of those touchdowns came in a game against Ocean Lakes ... Named first-team All-Beach District, All-Tidewater and Group AAA all-state as a tight end ... Ranked the No. 16 player in the state of Virginia by The Roanoke Times ... Listed as the No. 21 overall player on the Virginia 33 by SuperPrep ... Rated the No. 22 player in the state of Virginia and the No. 57 offensive tackle in the country by Scout ... An All-Atlantic Region selection by PrepStar ... A member of the SuperPrep Mid-Atlantic Team.

PRINCE PARKER
Tight End • 6-6 • 264 • r-Sr.
Norfolk, Va. • Maury H.S.

A huge target who is easy to see on the field ... Moved from wide receiver to tight end last August ... Provided depth at the new position during the 2009 season ... Also played a role on special teams where he saw some time on the punt return/block unit ... Could earn a bigger role this season if he shows he can make plays, especially in the middle of the field ... Understands that the blocking aspect is where he must get better ... His summer preparation and preseason performance will go a long way in determining his role.

2009: Switched from split end to tight end to start preseason workouts ... Played three snaps at tight end against Marshall ...

Also got three plays on offense in the Boston College game ... Played briefly on special teams at Georgia Tech ... Had three plays on the punt block team against UNC and three more at ECU ... Worked three plays at tight end during the NC State game ... Was in for three plays on offense during the win at Virginia ... Saw some duty during the Chick-fil-A Bowl game against Tennessee ... Improved in all four major lifts during off-season workouts.

WALK-ONS AT VIRGINIA TECH

From walk-on to NFL draftee. Sound improbable? Not at Virginia Tech, where it's happened numerous times.

Take John Engelberger for example. The San Francisco 49ers selected Engelberger as the 35th-overall pick in the 2000 NFL Draft.

Engelberger, who arrived in Blacksburg as a walk-on in 1995, was following in the footsteps of tight end John Burke, who graduated from Tech's walk-on program as a fourth-round draft pick of the New England Patriots in 1994.

Four years ago, Will Montgomery was taken by the Carolina Panthers in the seventh round and ended up starting four games at offensive guard as a rookie and several games for the Washington Redskins last year.

And just last April, Cody Grimm completed his fairy tale story by being selected in the seventh round by Tampa Bay. He arrived at Tech as an undersized walk-on who played special teams for three years, earning a scholarship along the way for his hard work. But he had a breakout senior season, one in which he earned All-America honors, and caught the eyes of NFL scouts in the end.

Walk-on players are an important part of Virginia Tech football. With scholarship reductions, not all high school football players earn scholarships to compete in college. But that doesn't mean there isn't an opportunity for those individuals, especially at Virginia Tech, where walk-on athletes have a history of contributing.

The walk-ons at Virginia Tech are treated in the same first-class manner as the rest of the squad. Former walk-ons have eventually earned scholarships, earned starting positions, gained all-conference and All-America honors, and some eventually played pro football.

"The important thing for a walk-on, is to know he's going to be given a chance," said Tech head coach Frank Beamer. "The way you track that is to look at programs around the country to see how many scholarships are given to walk-ons.

"We're one of the top two or three programs in the country in that category. So for a guy who's interested in walking on, there's not a better place than right here at Virginia Tech. We give people a chance and we treat them the same as everybody else."

Engelberger was a recruited walk-on, meaning he was invited to try out for the team. He arrived in Blacksburg in 1995 as a 6-foot-4, 210-pound tight end and got into the weight room, transforming his body into that of a big-time college football player. After his redshirt year, he earned a scholarship for his tireless work ethic. Thanks to endless hours of work on the practice field and in the weight room, Engelberger finished his career as one of the best defensive ends in Tech history.

His dedication to the game paid off as he played nine years in the NFL as a starting defensive end for the San Francisco 49ers and Denver Broncos.

Burke walked on in 1989 and eventually earned a starting position for the Hokies. He was a four-year letterman at Virginia Tech (1990-93) where he caught 21 passes for 303 yards and two touchdowns. Burke was drafted by the New England Patriots in 1994 and was a member of the Patriots' 1997 Super Bowl XXXI team. He also saw action with the New York Jets, San Diego Chargers and the Oakland Raiders.

Burke, Engelberger, Grimm and Montgomery aren't the only Hokies to excel in the walk-on program. Tech had five walk-on players start or see playing time in the 1996 Orange Bowl against Nebraska. All five of those former walk-ons earned scholarships and paid big dividends for Tech in the 1996 season.

None of these players would have lived their dream and reached their potential if Virginia Tech hadn't extended the opportunity they were seeking. Their eventual success has become a cherished part of the Hokie football tradition and heritage.

"Our walk-on program is so successful for two reasons," said John Ballein, the associate athletics director for football operations, who directs the program. "First, our coaches work at it. When they're out on the road, they're looking for players who can fit into our program. Secondly, we have a head coach in Coach Beamer who is loyal to each player in this program."

Tech's walk-on program has provided countless young men a chance to play collegiate football and prove that the evaluation and recruiting process is far from flawless. It allows a young man to mature physically, improve his football skills and contribute to the success of Virginia Tech football.

"No one really knows the difference between a walk-on and a scholarship player because each person is treated exactly the same," Ballein said. "Players know they have an opportunity to earn a scholarship and that they'll be in the best weight program in the country. Combine all those factors and you have the reason why Tech's walk-on program has been successful."

There are two types of walk-ons at Virginia Tech: the invited walk-on and the true walk-on. The invited walk-ons are players recruited by coaches to come into the Tech program. The true walk-ons are students already enrolled at Tech who try to earn a spot in the program. Tech has two workouts (one in the spring and one in the fall) for these players. From there, some are invited back to try and earn a spot on the team.

Hokie walk-ons not only get the chance to play in one of the best programs in the nation, they get a chance to play for one of the best coaches in college football as well.

"I think our walk-on program is successful because we work at it," Beamer says. "We work at recruiting guys who will have a chance to be a player in our program. We evaluate them very carefully. We only have so many spots for walk-ons now and so it is very important that we get kids who have a chance to earn a scholarship.

"I've always liked walk-ons because a lot of them have something to prove and they work harder and they go right by some scholarship guys as far as playing time."

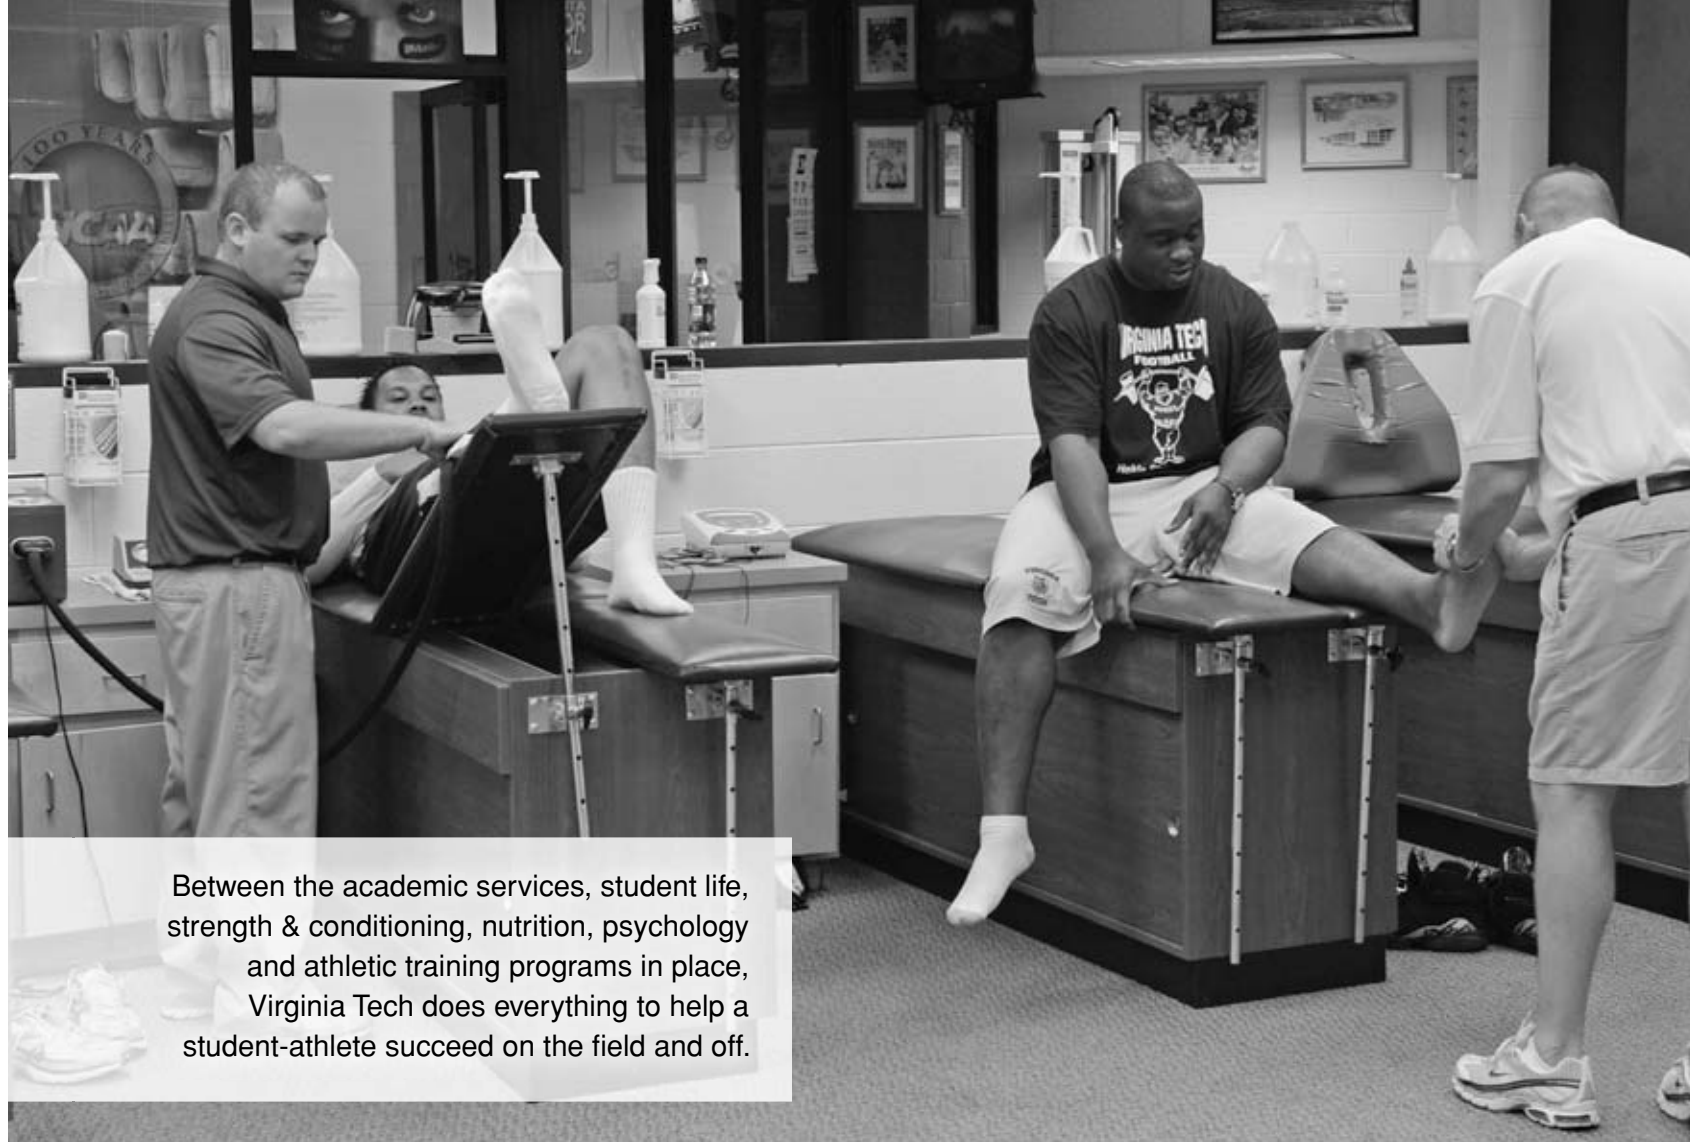

The success of the Tech walk-on program continues to grow right along with the success of the football program. This year the Hokies will welcome another class of walk-ons who are each anxious to prove they could be the next Will Montgomery, John Burke, Cody Grimm or John Engelberger.

Cody Grimm, who was named the Defensive MVP of the Chick-fil-A Bowl, came to Tech as a walk-on, but left as an All-American and was drafted by Tampa Bay in April.

STUDENT SERVICES

Between the academic services, student life, strength & conditioning, nutrition, psychology and athletic training programs in place, Virginia Tech does everything to help a student-athlete succeed on the field and off.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ACADEMIC SUPPORT SERVICES

PROVIDING THE TOOLS NEEDED FOR SUCCESS IN THE CLASSROOM

Expectations placed on Virginia Tech student-athletes are high both in the classroom and on the field. Working together with the Tech Athletics Department, Student-Athlete Academic Support Services (SAASS) acts as the backbone for Hokie student-athletes in order to help them achieve their full potential, both inside and outside of athletics. Tutors, study assistance, computer and technology aid and individual skill development programs are just some of the services available.

In addition, SAASS assists students in arranging appointments with various University departments, such as their academic advisors, the Registrar, the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid, deans offices, Career Services and the Cook Counseling Center for Academic Enrichment and Excellence.

SAASS is committed to providing a comprehensive academic and personal development program with counseling and advising for student-athletes, offering academic counseling to ensure students receive a complete system of support.

Student-athletes have access to the department's spacious facilities, located in the West Side of Lane Stadium. Opened during the 2006-07 academic year, the SAASS suite, located in the Quillen Family Academic Center, features 18 private tutor rooms, a state-of-the-art classroom, a 36-station computer lab with printer access, a conference room, three quiet areas for reading and studying and a reference library. The office is available between classes, after practice and in the evenings. Hours of operation are flexible and may be tailored to maximize the student-athlete's limited time. The collection of SAASS programs housed in Lane Stadium guarantees that all student-athletes achieve success during their time at Virginia Tech.

GRADUATION IS A PRIORITY

In seven of the past nine years, Virginia Tech has graduated 70 percent or more of its football class using the NCAA's graduation success rate (GSR) formula.

The GSR is based on a six-year graduation window for student-athletes. The GSR was developed by the NCAA as part of its academic reform initiative to more accurately assess the academic success of student-athletes. The GSR holds institutions accountable for transfer students, unlike the federal graduation rate. The GSR also accounts for mid-year enrollees.

Under GSR calculation, institutions are not penalized for outgoing transfer students who leave in good academic standing. These outgoing transfers are passed to the receiving institution's GSR cohort. By counting incoming transfer students and mid-year enrollees, the GSR increases the total number of student-athletes tracked for graduation by more than 37 percent. The NCAA also calculates the federal graduation rate (FGR) for student-athletes because it is the only rate by which to compare student-athletes to the general student body.

Virginia Tech's 2009 rates for football were 71 percent (GSR) and 63 percent (FGR).

COMPUTER SERVICES

All students at Virginia Tech are required to own a computer and the Athletics Department helps scholarship student-athletes fulfill this requirement by providing state-of-the-art laptops equipped with the most up-to-date software. Under the direction of Tech graduates Tommy Regan and Chris Mayer, the information technology office is committed to providing student-athletes with the best possible academic resources available. The office is focused on the technological needs of all Hokie student-athletes and the entire Athletics Department staff.

ATHLETICS OFFICE OF STUDENT LIFE

ASSISTING IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE TOTAL PERSON

At Virginia Tech, student-athletes don't just play sports. With help from the Athletics Office of Student Life, Hokie student-athletes work outside the athletic venue to develop into community assets and responsible adults.

Led by the Virginia Tech Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, Hokie student-athletes volunteered countless hours in the local community last year. In addition, over 300 Virginia Tech student-athletes earned a 3.00 grade point average during one or both semesters, while achieving great success within athletics as well.

Inspired by the NCAA/CHAMPS (Changing Athletes' Minds for Personal Success) Life Skills Program, the Athletics Office of Student Life creates programs designed to enhance student-athletes in five areas of commitment: athletic excellence, academic excellence, personal and leadership development, community service and career development. The program has been previously honored for its commitment to serving the good of the student-athletes by the Division I-A Athletic Director's Association as a program of excellence.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) is a committee made up of student-athletes assembled to provide insight on the student-athlete experience. They also offer input on the rules, regulations and policies that affect student-athletes' lives on NCAA member institution campuses. Two members of each sports team serve on SAAC each academic year.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

The Office of Student Life aims to help student-athletes lead balanced lifestyles, encouraging emotional well-being, personal growth and decision-making skills. Each team attends two personal development workshops during the year to educate members in healthy living, service learning, career development, diversity and life skills.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Virginia Tech student-athletes savor their collegiate athletic experiences with the understanding that they will need to secure a job upon graduation. The Office of Student Life works to enhance student-athlete career development by collaborating with the Virginia Tech Career Services Office. Student-athletes also receive assistance in learning about majors and minors, preparing for career fairs, and obtaining scholarships and internships.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The Office of Student Life is also responsible for nominating student-athletes for academic honors and awards. Athletes are nominated for on-campus, Atlantic Coast Conference and national awards. Student-athletes with a 3.0 GPA are rewarded and honored on the Athletic Director's Honor Roll. In 2009-10, 370 student-athletes were named to this prestigious list, an increase of nearly 30 from 2008-09.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Virginia Tech student-athletes are now involved more than ever in the local community. In conjunction with the mission of the Office of Student Life and the Ut Prosim motto, student-athletes are encouraged to volunteer throughout their college experience. Each team partners with a local community organization and volunteers time at community-wide events. Along with large volunteer efforts, student-athletes engage in community support with visits to local hospitals and elementary and middle schools. Community organizations can also request Tech student-athletes to attend local outreach events. Involvement in this program helps maintain and improve the positive relationship between student-athletes and the surrounding community.

In 2009-2010, the Virginia Tech football team once again partnered with the United Way of Montgomery, Radford and Floyd to raise funds for local programs and services. During the summer, several members of the team attended a Fellowship of Christian Athletes Night event at the Salem Red Sox baseball game. The football team made its presence felt elsewhere in the community as well. Members of the Hokie team were on hand to help fellow Hokie students and their families during move-in week in the fall. Coach Beamer and the Virginia Tech football team held a fund raiser to support research for Ewing's Sarcoma, in honor of Boston College linebacker Mark Herzlich. Members

REYNA GILBERT
ASSISTANT ATHLETICS
DIRECTOR FOR STUDENT LIFE

Responsibilities: As assistant athletics director for student life, Gilbert develops programs geared to enhance student-athletes' personal development, career awareness and community service endeavors. This includes coordinating each team's philanthropic projects as part of the "Hokies with Heart" program, working with the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and nominating student-athletes for academic awards. She also helps plan the yearly Athletics Director Honors Breakfast and the All Sports Banquet.

Joined VT Staff: 2008; third year.

Prior to Virginia Tech: Before joining the Hokies, Gilbert served as the compliance coordinator and CHAMPS/Life Skills coordinator at Nova Southeastern University in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. In 2005, she was also the coordinator of athletic academic services. Prior to NSU, Gilbert served as an academic advisor at the University of Central Florida.

Education: Northern Illinois University, 2001 (psychology), where she lettered four years on the women's gymnastics team and was named MVP her senior year; Ball State University, 2004, earning a master's in sport and exercise psychology, and a minor in counseling.

Personal: A native of Orlando, Fla., Gilbert currently lives in Blacksburg.

ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

ONE OF THE NATION'S TOP PROGRAMS HELPS STUDENT-ATHLETES GET BIGGER, FASTER AND STRONGER!

One of the most important aspects of a successful collegiate program is its strength and conditioning program. Before the lights ever come on, before the players run out of the tunnel for the first game and before the first touchdown is ever scored, college football players work on getting themselves physically prepared for the rigors of a five-month season.

Thanks to the direction of Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Performance Mike Gentry, the Virginia Tech strength and conditioning program is among the best in the nation, helping to make the football program one of the best as well.

One of the main support centers of Tech football is the strength and conditioning program. The results of hard work by the staff and the student-athletes have paid huge dividends as the Hokies have pushed their streak to 17 consecutive bowl game appearances.

The Tech football strength program centers around four major lifts. The bench press and squat are lifts for building all-around strength; the push jerk and power clean help players develop explosive power. Gentry's program also includes conditioning and speed development, which the players do in the speed and agility room, Rector Field House (Tech's indoor practice facility) and on the Hokies' track facilities.

Each player has personal goals which he works to achieve. The team is broken down into four groups based on positions relevant to the players' body size. The players work to progress from Maroon, Orange, Hokie, Iron Hokie and Super Iron Hokie status to the Elite Level.

The Elite Level of Performance was created to push the athletes to higher levels. This level is a predetermined performance test which measures achievement for the individual's position. It comprises four tests in strength (bench press, squat, push jerk and power clean) and five tests in performance (vertical jump, 40-yard time, 10-yard time, sit-reach test and 20-yard shuttle).

Assisting Gentry in the weight room this year are three full-time assistant strength and conditioning coaches. Terry Mitchell is the assistant director of strength and conditioning. Former football players Jarrett Ferguson and Keith Short serve as coordinators for strength and conditioning. Former Hokie player Carlton Weatherford is the graduate assistant for football's strength and conditioning program.

THE FOOTBALL PROGRAM BOASTS MANY TOP-OF-THE-LINE FACILITIES AND TRAINING PROGRAMS

- The team trains in the 17,000-square foot training center on the first level of the Merryman Athletic Center. The weight room facility features free-weight equipment, a full line of Hammer Strength equipment, 12 platforms and a 6,000-square foot state-of-the-art speed and agility room.

- Tech also uses a 10-by-40-yard sand pit located outdoors and adjacent to the weight room for resistive running drills to improve speed. The Hokies also have the practice fields for use in running drills.

- Players can also train in the Jim "Bulldog" Haren Weight Room. Located in Jamerson Athletic Center, the 5,000-square foot weight room was officially dedicated in September 1985 to Haren, a former Hokie player and long-time supporter of the Virginia Tech Athletics Department. With the two facilities, the Hokies have more than 22,000-square feet of strength and conditioning training space.

DR. MIKE GENTRY ASSISTANT ATHLETICS DIRECTOR FOR ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

Responsibilities: As assistant athletics director for athletic performance, Gentry's duties include overseeing the strength and conditioning training of athletes in all 21 varsity sports at Virginia Tech. He is directly involved in the training of the football and women's basketball teams and manages programs for nutrition.

Joined VT Staff: 1987; 24th season.

Record at Virginia Tech: Gentry was named the second-annual Samson Strength & Conditioning Coach of the Year in the March 2005 issue of American Football Monthly.

In May 2003, Gentry was honored by the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches when he was named a Master Strength and Conditioning Coach. Gentry is currently one of only 36 coaches in the country to have received the CSCC's highest award.

In 1995 and 1996, Gentry was recognized by the National Strength and Conditioning Association as a finalist for the National Strength and Conditioning Professional of the Year.

Prior to Virginia Tech: Gentry worked as an assistant strength coach at UNC and as the head strength coach at East Carolina University prior to coming to Virginia Tech in February 1987.

Education: Western Carolina, 1979 (physical education); UNC Chapel Hill, 1981 (master's degree); Virginia Tech, 1999 (doctorate; curriculum and instruction with emphasis in motor behavior).

Family: Gentry has a son, Roy Christopher (Bo), 19, a member of the Hokie football team. Gentry is married to the former Wendy Ann Williams.

SPORT PSYCHOLOGY

HELPING STUDENT-ATHLETES IN ALL ASPECTS OF THEIR LIVES

Virginia Tech offers another important service to all of its student-athletes – sport psychology. Dr. Gary Bennett coordinates the sport psychology department, which offers psychological and performance enhancement services for student-athletes. Bennett and counselor Kelli Moran-Miller, Ph.D., work together to serve the needs of Tech student-athletes. Both are also employed at the Cook Counseling Center on campus.

The sport psychology department offers an injury group to afford injured athletes the opportunity to meet with a sport psychologist and other injured athletes and talk about the recovery process. On average, Bennett conducts 30 individual sessions per week and meets weekly with teams as the need arises.

The response to the sport psychology program has been positive. The student-athletes are very receptive to the services offered by the doctors. The sport psychology office reaches out to athletes who may not have considered going to the counseling service that is offered to all students at Virginia Tech.

DR. GARY BENNETT SPORT PSYCHOLOGIST

Responsibilities: Bennett meets with student-athletes on an individual basis for personal counseling and to discuss the mental aspects of the game. He also works on team building, communication and performance enhancement. Bennett has taught and supervised pre-doctoral level interns.

Joined VT Staff: 2000 (Full time since 2007); 11th year.

Record at Virginia Tech: Bennett began working at Virginia Tech in 1995 at the Cook Counseling Center. Now, as the sport psychologist, he also serves on the committees for nutrition, performance and substance abuse; and the planning committee for the "Summit for Student-Athlete Success" events. He also works with various teams in the area of performance enhancement.

Education: Centre (Ky.) College, 1981, B.A. English, where he played baseball; University of Kentucky, 1988, master's in rehabilitation counseling; UK, 1995, Ph.D. in counseling psychology.

Of Note: Bennett is licensed as a clinical psychologist and has additional training in sport psychology. He is a member of the Association of Applied Sport Psychology, as well as the American Psychological Association's Division 47 (Exercise and Sport Psychology).

Personal: Bennett lives in Blacksburg and enjoys playing golf and basketball, as well as hiking and skiing, in his spare time.

SPORTS NUTRITION

EDUCATING STUDENT-ATHLETES ABOUT THE BEST FOOD CHOICES

Eating healthy and choosing nutritious diets are important aspects of a Virginia Tech student-athlete's life and that's why in July 2002, the athletics department implemented the sports nutrition program. Amy Freel serves as the director. Freel, who is one of 16 full-time college dietitians in the country, also serves on the nutrition and performance committee with Dr. Gary Bennett.

"It is extremely beneficial for our student-athletes to have nutrition education and counseling available to them in order for them to remain successful in their sports and outside of athletics," Freel said. "The individualized nutrition education allows the athletes and me to get very specific on their nutritional, personal and sport-specific goals."

The Sports Nutrition Program has helped countless Tech athletes maximize their athletic performance. Freel will be aided by Jennie Schafer, who is a graduate assistant.

AMY FREEL SPORTS NUTRITIONIST

Responsibilities: Freel works with student-athletes to provide them with information they need on their diets. She provides individual players with diet counseling on issues such as gaining lean muscle mass, losing body fat, and eating choices to improve performance. Freel designs preseason menus, snacks and training table menus for teams.

Joined VT Staff: 1999; 11th year.

Record at Virginia Tech: Freel served as the coordinator of student life for a little more than two years before taking charge of Tech's nutrition program in 2002. In 2005, she was named the Young Dietitian of the Year by the Virginia Dietetic Association for her work as the nutritionist in the Tech athletics department.

Prior to Virginia Tech: Freel served as a clinical dietitian at the Lewis-Gale Medical Center for a year-and-a-half before coming to Tech in September of 1999.

Education: Ball State University, 1996 (dietetics) while competing in gymnastics for four years; Ball State, 1998, master's in dietetics.

Of Note: Freel became a registered dietitian in 1997.

Family: Freel and her husband Mike, who live in Blacksburg, have four children: Ben (9), Matt (8), Ashley (4) and Luke (3).

VT SPORTS MEDICINE

PROVIDING THE HOKIES WITH EXPERIENCED, PROFESSIONAL CARE

The Sports Medicine Department at Virginia Tech is constantly evolving to incorporate new ideas utilizing state-of-the-art resources for the betterment of all Hokie student-athletes. Under the leadership of Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Training Mike Goforth, the department is constantly improving and developing new strategies to provide the most current and comprehensive care.

Their team of certified athletic trainers, orthopaedic surgeons, Board Certified primary care physicians, chiropractors, physical therapists, sport psychologists, nutritionists, massage therapists and orthotists are available on site to manage the health care needs of Tech athletes. The staff continually looks for ways to enhance the services provided for their athletes as evidenced by its participation in local and national projects pertaining to related topics such as concussion management, prevention of antibiotic resistant types of staph infection (MRSA), high ankle sprains and collegiate health care management strategies. Research is considered instrumental to the sports medicine department. The department has participated in several projects with the engineering department and school of education, respectively.

Tech is entering its ninth full year in the 4,300-square-foot Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room, which consolidated the training rooms that existed in the Merryman Center and Cassell Coliseum. The facility gives the training staff a centralized area to care for the needs of all Virginia Tech student-athletes. There is top-of-the-line equipment and a unique style of architecture, developed by Glenn Reynolds, AIA and Larry Perry as the consulting engineer. In 2010, Reynolds again helped Tech spearhead another 3,000-square-foot expansion of the training room to encompass the weight room.

The Ferrell Training Room nearly doubled the size of the former Merryman Center facility. Tech now has more than 10,000 square feet dedicated to sports medicine, placing it in the top five percent nationally. The $10 million Merryman Center includes 2,400 square feet of medical space and a physician's suite. The suite is equipped with a new state-of-the-art X-ray system, a fluoroscopy unit and a minor procedure room. The training room also has offices for the staff, dozens of training tables, two cold tubs, whirlpools, an underwater treadmill, a Biodex System 3 and various other pieces of rehabilitation equipment and treatment modalities.

In addition, a training room has been constructed in Rector Field House to serve the football team when it practices indoors, and the Gordon Family Mobile Sports Medicine Unit is a portable training room that can be transported to various venues.

Athletes have many options to help prevent or protect them from injuries. The sports medicine staff takes great pride in treating athletes year-round. Special attention is paid to off-season activity. The staff will analyze past injury data from each participant and construct a preventative program that is followed over a nine-week period between the end of the season and the beginning of spring practice. This same procedure is followed during the summer.

A vital part of student-athlete medical services is access to the Montgomery Regional Hospital's SWVA Center for Orthopaedics and various specialty services offered through HCA Southwest Virginia and its affiliated hospitals.

"We are privileged to have access to the finest physicians and services that HCA has at its disposal," said Goforth. "It is comforting knowing that our local hospital has the best care available in this region of the country for our student-athletes."

If physical therapy is needed, student-athletes can be seen in the Ferrell Training Room by physical therapists Chris Rogers and Katie Burns who play a large role in the overall program developed to return an injured athlete to 100 percent. Team chiropractor, Dr. Greg Tilley, provides Tech athletes with specialized treatment for spine-related conditions and plays a huge role in performance enhancement through various chiropractic techniques.

"As certified athletic trainers, for us to have the resources of folks like Katie Burns, Chris Rogers, Greg Tilley and Gary Bennett is a tremendous asset," Goforth said. "The knowledge and skill that they bring is invaluable."

Team orthopaedic surgeons Dr. Marc Siegel and Dr. James Farmer bring a wealth of experience and skill to assist when athletes need orthopaedic consultation for certain types of sports-related injuries.

Over the past 11 years, Tech has developed the reputation for producing top-level certified athletic trainers. Graduates are now employed in positions across the country at various levels of the profession. This year, the staff will consist of three graduate assistant athletic trainers: Freddy Purvell, Jake Naas and Chris Deneault.

MIKE GOFORTH ASSISTANT ATHLETICS DIRECTOR FOR ATHLETIC TRAINING

Responsibilities: As assistant athletics director for athletic training, Goforth oversees healthcare needs of all student-athletes and organizes all trainers and doctors while supervising all other services Tech offers.

Joined VT Staff: 1998; 12th year.

Prior to Virginia Tech: Goforth came to Tech from the Hamilton Medical Center/Bradley Wellness Center in Dalton, Ga., where he was the director of wellness and sports medicine. He has an extensive background in sports medicine, working at East Tennessee State University, William Fleming High School, Tusculum College, Greene County Sports Medicine/Industrial Cooperative and Pioneer Sports Medicine/Physical Therapy Clinic. He also has numerous opportunities to consult on program development throughout the country.

Education: East Tennessee State University, 1991, physical education; Virginia Tech, 1995, master's in sport management.

Family: Goforth and his wife, Tracy, a teacher at Blacksburg Middle School, have two sons – Ethan, 13, and Luke, 9.

KEITH DOOLAN

ATHLETIC TRAINER

Responsibilities: As the primary athletic trainer for football, Doolan provides daily practice coverage, assists the team with injury prevention and helps the student-athletes with injuries and any other health needs and concerns.

Joined VT Staff: July 2001; 12th year overall, 2nd year working with football.

Prior to Football: Doolan served nine years as the men's basketball primary athletic trainer. He also worked in the training room for two years at Tusculum and then worked as a graduate assistant for two years at Tech while studying to get his degree.

Education: Tusculum College (Greeneville, Tenn.); Virginia Tech, 1999, physical education with a concentration in athletic training; Virginia Tech, 2000, master's in health promotion and was certified by the NATA in 1999.

Family: Doolan married former Virginia Tech women's basketball standout Amy Wetzel, a medical resident in Roanoke, following her May 2007 graduation from the Virginia College of Osteopathic Medicine in Blacksburg. They reside in Salem.

GUNNAR BROLINSON, D.O.

TEAM PHYSICIAN

Dr. Gunnar Brolinson enters his ninth year as the Tech football team physician. Brolinson joined the program through an initiative between Tech athletics and the Edward Via Virginia College of Osteopathic Medicine.

Prior to coming to Tech, Brolinson served as the Medical Director of the Primary Care Sports Medicine Fellowship at the Toledo Hospital and the Corporate Wellness Program for the ProMedica Health System. He also served as the team physician for the University of Toledo, the United States Ski Team and has acted as a volunteer physician for the United States Olympic Committee.

Brolinson graduated with an undergraduate degree in biology from the University of Missouri at Columbia and completed his medical training at the Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine.

PRIMARY CARE PHYSICIAN

Dr. Mark Rogers is in his fourth year as team primary care physician for the Virginia Tech football team. He joined the Hokies after completing his primary care sports medicine fellowship through Virginia Tech and the Edward Via Virginia College of Osteopathic Medicine (VCOM).

Prior to coming to Blacksburg, he graduated with an undergraduate degree in chemistry from the University of North Carolina Charlotte, followed by a master's in health care ethics from Duquesne University in Pittsburgh. He received his osteopathic medical degree from Des Moines University and went on to complete his family medicine residency at The University of North Carolina, where he was chief resident. Rogers is also an associate professor at VCOM, and is practicing in the community at Academic Primary Care Associates. Dr. Rogers, his wife Krista, and their son, Connor, live in Blacksburg.

MARC SIEGEL, M.D.

TEAM PHYSICIAN

Dr. Marc Siegel enters his 23rd season as orthopedic team physician for the Tech Department of Athletics. Siegel received his medical degree from the Medical College of Georgia and completed his residency at Tulane University Medical School.

Siegel is actively involved in numerous professional organizations and has academic appointments at both Tech and the Edward Via Virginia College of Osteopathic Medicine.

In addition, Siegel is widely known for his orthopedic knowledge and sports medicine skills as evidenced by the increasing numbers of high school, college and professional athletes that come to the New River Valley for his care.

JAMES FARMER, M.D.

TEAM PHYSICIAN

Dr. James Farmer enters his first full season as a team physician for the Tech Department of Athletics. Farmer received his medical degree from the Baylor College of Medicine and completed his residency at Baptist Medical Center at Wake Forest University in orthopaedic surgery.

Farmer also completed an internship at the Baptist Medical Center in general surgery. He is certified by the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery.

Farmer also has appointments with Lewis-Gale Physicians in Salem, Va.

HALL OF FAME MUSEUM

Since the start of the 2008 football season, fans have had the opportunity to visit Virginia Tech's new Hall of Fame museum located on the west side of the football stadium. Covering two stories, the museum features all Hokie sports with galleries, display cases and interactive screens. Individual athletes honored include All-Americans, Academic All-Americans and Tech's Hall of Fame members. Fans can review the history of Tech athletics through a photo timeline. The museum is open to the public Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. It is closed on weekends and on game days.

ATHLETIC FACILITIES

VT HOME OF THE HOKIES

LANE STADIUM/WORSHAM FIELD

The Virginia Tech football team has enjoyed over a decade of success, going to 17 straight bowl games. A big part of that success is the home-field advantage the Hokies enjoy at Lane Stadium/Worsham Field.

Billed as the toughest place in college football for opponents to play by Rivals.com, the Hokies play on not only one of the best playing surfaces in the nation, but with the south end zone and west side additions, the Hokies compete in one of the best stadiums in the nation.

Now entering its 46th season as an arena of collegiate football competition, Lane Stadium/Worsham Field has gone through numerous changes, renovations and additions. But through it all, it has always been regarded as one of the finest places to watch – and toughest places for opponents to play – a college football game.

A TOWERING NEW LOOK

The third in a series of upgrades was completed at Lane Stadium/Worsham Field prior to the 2006 season, finishing off a magnificent project on the west side of the stadium.

Ground was broken in November of 2004 for the project and crews began building around the former press box, laying the above and below ground settings, as well as removing the two light towers on that side of the stadium.

At the conclusion of the 2004 season, the old press box was removed and the structure was filled in to match what was built up during the 2004 season.

A new press area on the west side, toward the south end zone with a dining area and improved overall facilities, is just the tip of the iceberg.

Additional luxury suites, a new President's area, four private club seating areas, new concession stands, a ticket office, athletic fund offices, an athletics memorabilia area and a new student academic services area were also included in this project.

In addition, the fencing that surrounded the stadium was removed and the area on the west side exterior of the newly renovated stadium was landscaped with walkways and a weekday parking lot for ticket patrons as well as memorabilia-area and Hokie Club visitors. This includes a flagpole plaza near the southwest entrance. Dedicated to former football player and current Hokie Club supporter John Moody, it is a terrific meeting place with the U.S. flag flying alongside the commonwealth of Virginia flag and a Tech flag.

In the summer of 2003, $1.9 million was raised to fund the ongoing planning of the west side expansion, allowing for the ground breaking of the west side project.

In 2005, the inside of the stadium was also given a new look as Hokie Stone was added to the walls in each of the end zones, so there's no question as to where the game is being played for fans watching on television.

New kicking nets were installed in both end zones and a new video board – one-third larger – replaced the old one on the existing scoreboard. New lights that doubled the candlepower and reduced shadows on the field were added as part of the renovation.

With all of these additions and improvements, Lane Stadium has kept up its reputation as one of the best places for college football.

THE SOUTH END ZONE

Prior to the 2002 season, Tech added 11,120 seats in the south end zone to enclose that end of the stadium. The double-deck structure is similar to the Cleveland Browns' "Dawg Pound" section and has bleacher, bench-back and club seats. The structure is enclosed, but has gaps between the existing structure and the new one. This is because of new building codes and a desire to get fans closer to the field.

Below the south end zone stands are several features: A football visitor's locker room which can be divided and used for other sports' visiting teams in the winter and spring.

The June Oblinger Shott Media Center, which houses a press room, two press conference areas, three radio rooms, a dark room and several storage rooms.

The outside of the facility also received a new look, making the entrance more inviting. Walkways and landscaping give the south and west sides a more appealing entrance for fans and teams.

Another addition to the facility is the turf and drainage system that was replaced in the summer of 2001 as Tech became the first collegiate football team to have a new state-of-the-art GreenTech ITM natural Bermuda grass sports field system. It provides excellent drainage with irrigation lines and a vacuum system that can handle up to 16 inches of rain an hour. In the winter of 2003-04, a heating system was installed to keep the grass at an optimum temperature during the winter months.

This innovative system is in place in just a handful of other stadiums in the world and makes Worsham Field one of the finest playing fields around.

A WINNING TRADITION

On Sept. 22, 1994, Tech won its 100th game in Lane Stadium in memorable fashion before a national television audience on ESPN with a 34-6 win over rival West Virginia.

On Nov. 1, 2003, Tech upset No. 2 Miami 31-7 to pick up its 150th all-time win at Lane Stadium, marking the highest-ranked opponent the Hokies have ever defeated.

Tech's overall record at Lane Stadium is 185 wins, 67 losses and six ties in 45 years of play. The Hokies are 112-30-1 at home during Coach Frank Beamer's tenure at Virginia Tech and more impressively, are 94-16 in Blacksburg during the last 17 seasons.

Virginia Tech's all-time record at Lane Stadium: 185-67-6 (45 years)

Longest Winning Streak at Lane Stadium: 16 games

(first, 47-0, James Madison, 1999 - last, 34-20, Boston College, 2001)

Since joining the ACC prior to the 2004 season, Tech has accumulated a record of 35-5 at home, including a conference mark of 19-5. The Hokies went 32-9 at Lane Stadium/Worsham field while a member of the BIG EAST.

A large part of that impressive record is the home-field environment created by the fans as Lane Stadium has been sold out for 74 consecutive games entering the 2010 season, starting with the final home game of the 1998 season against Virginia.

LANE AND WORSHAM

On Sept. 5, 1992, Worsham Field was officially dedicated in honor of Wes and Janet Worsham, longtime Hokie supporters from Kilmarnock, Va. The Worshams pledged $1 million to the university's Second Century Campaign. The Campaign raised over $18.6 million, almost $1.7 million more than the original goal, thanks to the support of people like the Worshams.

The stadium is named for the late Edward H. Lane, a graduate of the university and a former member of the Board of Visitors. Lane headed an educational foundation project which raised more than $3 million for the original construction. Lane's personal donation was the first received by the fund.

The original cost was $3.5 million, compared with $3.2 million spent for the addition on top of the east stands. The stadium's original capacity was 40,000, but the addition, completed in 1980, raised that number to 52,500. The relocation of bleacher seats dropped the total capacity to under 50,000.

Lane Stadium, featuring a modern lighting system and a seating capacity of 66,233 for this season, ranks as one of the nation's finest collegiate football facilities.

Before moving to Lane Stadium, Tech played its home games in Miles Stadium, which had a seating capacity of 17,000. The late Stuart K. Cassell proposed the new stadium as a part of a general plan for a number of new facilities for the school.

THROUGH THE YEARS

Original construction of Lane Stadium began in April, 1964 and was completed four years later. The Hokies did not wait for completion, playing their first game in the stadium on Oct. 2, 1965. Tech defeated William and Mary, 9-7, that day with only the west stands and the center section of the east bleachers completed. Official dedication ceremonies took place Oct. 23 before a 22-14 win over Virginia.

Through the years, the stadium has seen several changes and renovations. In 1982, the lighting system was added to the facility. The system was first used in Tech's nationally televised 21-14 Thanksgiving Day victory over Virginia that season. The game was broadcast on WTBS and was the first-ever nationally televised game from Lane Stadium.

Prior to the 1989 season, Lane Stadium underwent further improvements. Tech received a donation of 16 flags with the "VT" logo for the stadium. Lane Stadium also received a new paint job which included the addition of maroon and orange stripes around the inner walls of the facility.

In 1991, a new scoreboard bearing BIG EAST Conference logos replaced the old scoreboard at the south end of the stadium, while a new auxiliary scoreboard was placed at the north end. In the spring of 1994, renovations were completed on seven lower sections of the east stands. Renovations included replacing concrete risers and the addition of wheelchair seating.

Before the 1994 season, plaques bearing retired jerseys of Tech heroes Bruce Smith, Carroll Dale, the late Frank Loria and Jim Pyne were added to the wall in the north end zone. With the addition of the north end zone seats, the four retired numbers now fly on flag poles above those stands.

In 2002, three more flags – those bearing the names and numbers of Frank Beamer, Michael Vick and Cornell Brown – were added, retiring their jerseys, but not their numbers. Three years ago, a banner for center Jake Grove was added to that collection.

In 2008, banners were placed on both the east and west sides on beams honoring conference player of the year and national award honorees, including Bronko Nagurski Trophy and Lombardi Award winner Corey Moore and Outland Trophy honoree Bruce Smith.

Prior to the 1998 season, the oldest bleachers were replaced with new locust wood and the stands were waterproofed and top coated. On the east side, the roof on the former visitors' locker room was replaced along with the wooden bleachers in the three sections above the dressing room. Also, additional handicapped seating was added.

In addition to the seats in the north end zone constructed before the 1999 season, the interior block walls and concourse tunnels were seal-coated to match the exterior of Cassell Coliseum and the Merryman Center.

Before the 2000 season, a new scoreboard, complete with "Hokievision" was installed behind the north end zone bleachers.

The south end zone construction project eliminated the old wooden bleachers in that area. But the north end zone bleachers were expanded down to the field, adding close to 600 new, permanent seats to make the north end zone look similar to the new south end zone. This is where The Marching Virginians – one of Tech's two marching bands – sit. These moves cut the capacity to 53,662.

Prior to the 2000 season, approximately 3,000 permanent bleacher seats were added in the north end zone, and, prior to the 1999 season, 2,100 permanent seats were added in the same end zone. In 2003, permacaps were installed over all the wooden seats to enhance fan comfort.

The past six years, fans saw new conference logos around the stadium as the Hokies made the move to the ACC prior to the 2005 season. In that time, the Hokies have won three conference titles.

BUILDING BOOM

VIRGINIA TECH CONTINUES TO MOVE AHEAD WITH FACILITIES

When it comes to athletic facilities, Virginia Tech Director of Athletics Jim Weaver has a simple philosophy – “as soon as you sit still in terms of facilities, you have taken a step backward.”

It has become clear that Virginia Tech has no intention of sitting still on the facilities front. There is a continuous stream of improvements underway or in the planning process in the athletics complex. A number of large projects have recently been completed, while several other projects are in the process of being completed or will begin in the near future.

The Virginia Tech athletics department is living up to Jim Weaver’s challenge to constantly enhance its facilities. Here are a few examples:

- The new football locker room and lounge building is almost complete and has a target move in date of Aug. 10. The three-story building features a spacious locker room for players and coaches, as well as a lounge on the second floor and a wrestling facility on the third floor. For more on the project see pages 20 and 21. With this new locker room come spacious lockers for the players. They are among the largest in the country with a width of 42 inches. The wrestling facility on the third floor features 11,384 square feet with 6,000 of that being mat space. There are also detailed Virginia Tech graphics that are being installed to give the facility a first-class look. There will also be a new equipment room to serve the 100-plus members of the program.

- When the new locker room building is complete, a domino effect will start to take place as every team will benefit from the project. A new Olympic Sports weight room will go where the wrestling room is currently located. The old Olympic Sports weight room will be converted to more space for athletic training, and the old football locker room will be converted to three men’s sports locker rooms – track, soccer, and baseball. That, in turn, will allow all teams to benefit from locker room upgrades and rearrangement. All of this movement will take place over the next 18 months as teams get settled into their new spaces.

- A new $20 million basketball practice facility was completed last fall next to Cassell Coliseum. It boasts two practice gyms, a 3,000 square-foot basketball weight room, a training room, lounges, coaches’ offices, film rooms and locker rooms.

- Another benefit of this project is new, spacious offices for the football coaching staff. With the basketball coaches moving to their new facility, the football staff will enjoy larger offices and a renovated conference room.

- The football practice field surface was replaced in April and the game field of Worsham Field was also re-sodded down the middle to replace worn-out sections.

- The Christiansburg Aquatic Center will be the future home of the Hokie swimming and diving squads. A joint effort between Tech and the town is allowing a 50-meter pool, locker rooms and diving platforms to be built to promote and support competitive swimming at all levels within the region.

- Lane Stadium will have new features for the start of the 2010 football season. Restrooms continue to be renovated and new handrails are being added to the middle aisles. The out of town scoreboard is also being replaced.

- A new LED full-length ribbon board was installed along the South End Zone façade prior to the 2008 season, enhancing the fans’ experience at Lane Stadium. The board serves as a scoreboard and play clock, in addition to showing commercials during the games.

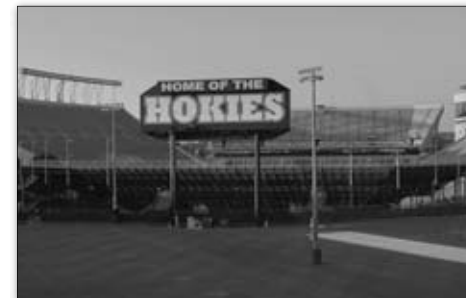

- Some other changes that will take place around the athletic facilities are: a resurfaced track at the Johnson/Miller Track Complex and a new roof on the Burrows-Burleson Tennis Center. The golf clubhouse was completed at the River Course, and the Virginia Tech golf team will host an NCAA Regional tournament next summer.

- Plans for a new field house are approved and in the works for the future. The new field house will be wider and longer than Rector Field House and will be used primarily for football, but other sports as well. With this new field house in place, Rector Field House will become a permanent indoor facility for the track and field teams.

VT ATHLETIC COMPLEX

The "Home of the Hokies," Lane Stadium/Worsham Field, is one of the premier college football arenas in the country. With the completion of the west side expansion, one of the toughest places in the country for opposing teams to play has become one of the nicest venues for fans to experience a game.

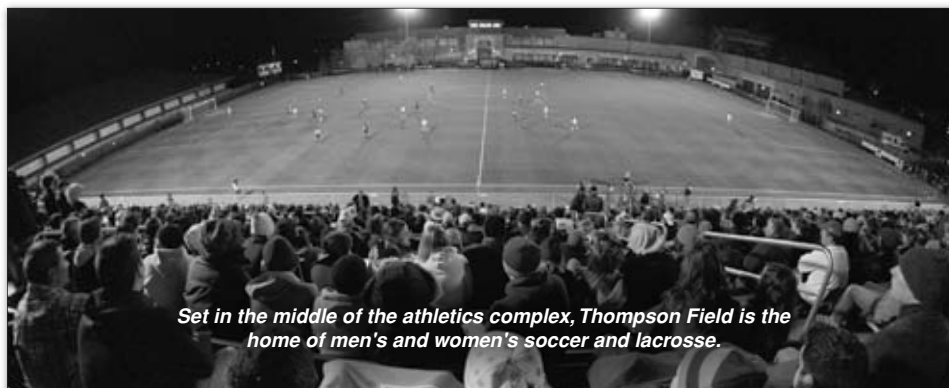

One of the benefits of the Virginia Tech athletics complex is its centrality – all the facilities are near one another while still being on campus. Situated just across the street from Lane Stadium/Worsham Field, Tech Softball Park (above) is the home of the Hokie softball team, which was ACC champion in 2007 and 2008, and advanced to the Women's College World Series in 2008.

Cassell Coliseum is one of the most recognizable athletic structures on campus. Not only is it the site of games for the men's and women's basketball teams, but it is also used for wrestling and volleyball matches.

Located just behind Rector Field House and adjacent to the Johnson-Miller Outdoor Track is English Field (above), home of the Hokies' baseball team, which hosted the New York Yankees in an exhibition on March 18, 2008.

Set in the middle of the athletics complex, Thompson Field is the home of men's and women's soccer and lacrosse.

Rector Field House boasts one of the most impressive indoor tracks in the country. With six lanes, eight dash lanes and various other areas for jumping and throwing, the facility plays host to exciting meets for Virginia Tech's indoor track and field team. The field house also serves as the indoor practice facility for football.

The Burrows-Burleson Tennis Center offers six indoor courts and six hard outdoor courts for the use of the Virginia Tech men's and women's tennis teams, and features new scoreboards.

Meets for the Virginia Tech men's and women's swimming and diving teams take place in War Memorial Pool, located in War Memorial Gym. A new facility in Christiansburg will be completed this year.

The Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech, where the Hokies' 2007 ACC champion golf team practices and plays, was voted the fourth-best course among the "Best New Remodels" by Golf Digest in 2006.

The Johnson-Miller Outdoor Track Complex has an oval track with eight 42-inch lanes, and is identical to the track used in Atlanta's Olympic games.

2009 REVIEW

VT 2009 SEASON IN REVIEW

A CHICK-FIL-A BOWL WIN OVER TENNESSEE HIGHLIGHTS A SIXTH-STRAIGHT 10-WIN CAMPAIGN

The 2009 season had its usual twists and turns, ups and downs, as the Virginia Tech football squad navigated its way through a 12-game gauntlet that was the regular season and then played in its 17th-straight bowl game. But in the end, the Hokies won 10 games for the sixth consecutive season and defeated Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Bowl as they secured a top-10 finish.

Tech began the 2009 slate ranked in the top 10, but a season-opening loss to Alabama briefly knocked Tech down in the polls. A five-game winning streak boosted it back up into the top five, but a pair of untimely losses ended its ACC Championship hopes.

After a setback against North Carolina in late October, head coach Frank Beamer mentioned his desire, and the team's opportunity, to still finish the season with 10 wins. The Hokies rallied, winning their final four games and then thoroughly dominated the Volunteers in the bowl game to reach that goal, finishing with a 10-3 record.

Expectations were high when Tech met up with Alabama in Atlanta for the season-opening Chick-fil-A Kickoff Game at a raucous Georgia Dome on Sept. 5. Despite being out-gained by more than 200 yards over the first three periods, Tech carried a 17-16 lead into the fourth period. However, behind two fourth-quarter touchdowns from eventual Heisman winner Mark Ingram, Alabama emerged with a 34-24 victory that would propel the Tide to a national championship four months later.

Tech dropped to No. 14 in the rankings after the loss, but it would soon embark on a five-game winning streak that began with a 52-10 thumping of Marshall in the home opener on Sept. 12.

Nineteenth-ranked Nebraska came to town the following week, and though the Cornhuskers held the Hokie offense in check for most of the game and looked poised for a win, Tech pulled off one of the most thrilling finishes in recent memory. Down by five and trapped on the Tech 16 with less than two minutes to go, quarterback Tyrod Taylor found Danny Coale on the sideline for an 81-yard gain. Three plays later, Taylor scrambled for a full nine seconds before finding Roberts in the end zone for the game-winning score as Tech won 16-15.

Highly hyped and ninth-ranked Miami visited Blacksburg on Sept. 26 to complete a three-game homestand. In a game that was played beneath a game-long downpour, the Hokies attempted just nine passes, while Williams pounded the 'Canes into submission with 34 carries for 150 yards and two touchdowns as the Hokies won 31-7.

The Hokies traveled to Duke on Oct. 3 for their ACC road opener, but the Blue Devils put up a surprisingly strong fight that required the Hokies to score a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to secure a 34-26 victory. Tech welcomed Boston College to Blacksburg on Oct. 10 for Homecoming, looking to break a three-game regular-season losing streak to the Eagles. Tech did just that after it scored on its first four possessions and never looked back, rolling to a 48-14 victory.

Suddenly, at 5-1, the Hokies were back in the top 10 and atop the ACC when they traveled to Atlanta for a bout with No. 19 Georgia Tech, the fourth top-20 matchup of the season. The Yellow Jackets possessed the ball for 38:22, including more than 22 minutes in the second half, while rushing for 309 yards in a 28-23 victory.

Virginia Tech headed back to Blacksburg to prepare for a Thursday night matchup with North Carolina 12 days later, but the Tar Heels spoiled the party with a last-second field goal that dropped the Hokies, 20-17, and moved their record to 6-3.

The Hokies had fallen all the way from No. 4 to No. 22 in just two short weeks, but a Thursday night trip to East Carolina was just what they needed to get back to their winning ways. Williams made up for a costly fumble in the previous game by rushing for 179 yards as Tech earned a 16-3 win. The Tech defense once again held its opponent without an offensive touchdown the next week at Maryland to lift Tech to a 36-9 victory.

On Nov. 21, the Hokies used a balanced offensive attack to down NC State on Senior Day by a score of 38-10. The defense set the tone early as redshirt senior linebacker Cody Grimm forced an NCAA record-tying three fumbles.

Tech concluded the regular season on a high note, defeating rival Virginia for the 10th time in 11 years by scoring 28 unanswered points in the second half on its way to a 42-13 victory.

A third trip to Atlanta was on tap as the Hokies prepared hard for a tough SEC foe in Tennessee. After a solid week of intense and focused practice, the Hokies beat the Vols in every phase of the game, turning a three-point halftime lead into a 37-14 win.

Williams finished the season with a school-record 1,655 yards rushing. Grimm led the team in tackles with 106, forced seven fumbles, recorded two fumble recoveries, 12.5 tackles for loss, four sacks and five passes broken up. Both were named third-team All-Americans for their superb seasons.

In all, four players were named first-team All-ACC, five were named to the second team and four more were named honorable mention.

ATLANTA — Virginia Tech owned the second half of the Chick-fil-A Bowl by using Ryan Williams' rushing and yet another powerful second-half defensive performance to roll past Tennessee 37-14 in front of 73,777 fans at the Georgia Dome.

The Hokies got outstanding performances all the way around, led by a dominating defense that allowed no points in the second half for the fifth-straight game. Tech gave up just 112 yards in the second half — with 43 of that coming in the Vols final drive with the outcome well in hand.

For the game, the Hokies held Tennessee to just 240 yards of offense and sacked Vols' quarterback Jonathan Crompton six times. He had been sacked 12 times all season.

Williams rushed for 117 yards on 25 carries and scored two touchdowns before leaving in the third quarter with an ankle injury. He also broke Tech's single-season rushing record of 1,647 yards set by former tailback Kevin Jones in 2003. Williams finished the season with 1,655 yards and was named offensive player of the game.

The redshirt freshman from Manassas, Va., spearheaded Tech's second-half effort. With the Hokies clinging to a 17-14 lead, Williams carried the ball eight-straight times on the Hokies' first possession of the second half, including runs of 21 and 32 yards. On the ninth play of the drive, Tech quarterback Tyrod Taylor gave the Hokies some breathing room, scoring on a 1-yard quarterback sneak that gave Tech a 24-14 lead with 8:42 left in the third quarter.

The Hokies went on to score on their next three offensive possessions. Their only offensive possession in the second half that didn't result in a score was the final one in which Taylor took a knee to run out the clock.

On Tech's second possession, kicker Matt Waldron boomed a career-long 46-yard field goal to give Tech a 27-14 lead. The Hokies then put the game away on their third possession of the second half, driving 80 yards in eight plays. David Wilson, who split carries with Josh Oglesby once Williams went down, scored on a 4-yard run to give Tech a commanding 34-14 lead.

Waldron's 22-yard field goal with 2:38 left in the game accounted for the final score.

Oglesby and Wilson accounted for 67 yards of Tech's 229-yard rushing day. Tech's offense showed excellent balance, as Taylor completed 10-of-17 for 209 yards with an interception. Jarrett Boykin caught four passes for 120 yards, including a 63-yarder at the end of the first half that set up a Waldron field goal at the buzzer.

Crompton paced the Tennessee attack by throwing for 235 yards, with a touchdown and an interception. Montario Hardesty rushed for just 39 yards, and the Vols, as a team, finished with just five yards rushing, thanks to those six sacks.

HOKIES - VOLS GAME NOTES

- Ryan Williams' single season rushing record-breaking carry came midway through the third quarter. He carried the ball eight straight times on a nine-play drive that ended when Tyrod Taylor scored on a 1-yard run on a quarterback sneak. Williams had 78 yards rushing alone on the drive.

- Tech receiver Jarrett Boykin made arguably the biggest play in the game when he slipped behind Tennessee's defense for a 63-yard gain to the Tennessee 3-yard line in the final seconds of the first half. In fact, the clock ran out on the play, and Tennessee's players and coaches headed to the locker room. But the officials reviewed the play and correctly gave the Hokies two seconds. That enabled Matt Waldron to boot a 21-yard field goal to give the Hokies a 17-14 lead at halftime.

- Senior kicker Matt Waldron capped a great season by nailing three field goals, including a career long of 46 yards. That set the Tech record for most field goals in a bowl game. Waldron booted field goals of 21, 46 and 22 yards in the game. His 46-yarder tied for the longest kick ever by a Hokie in a bowl game. Chris Kinzer booted a 46-yard in the Hokies' win over N.C. State in the 1986 Peach Bowl.

NATIONAL HONORS

JAKE GROVE WON THE RIMINGTON TROPHY IN 2003

Jake Grove arrived on the Virginia Tech campus as a lightly-recruited guard from Forest, Va. He left as a unanimous All-American, winner of the Rimington Trophy as the nation's top center, and a second-round draft pick of the Oakland Raiders.

Heading into his junior season, Grove made the switch over to the center position and became a natural fit. By the time he headed into his final season, he was gaining headlines and recognition for his play. He was rewarded by being named to all five major All-America first teams. He was awarded the Dave Rimington Trophy, given to the nation's top collegiate center.

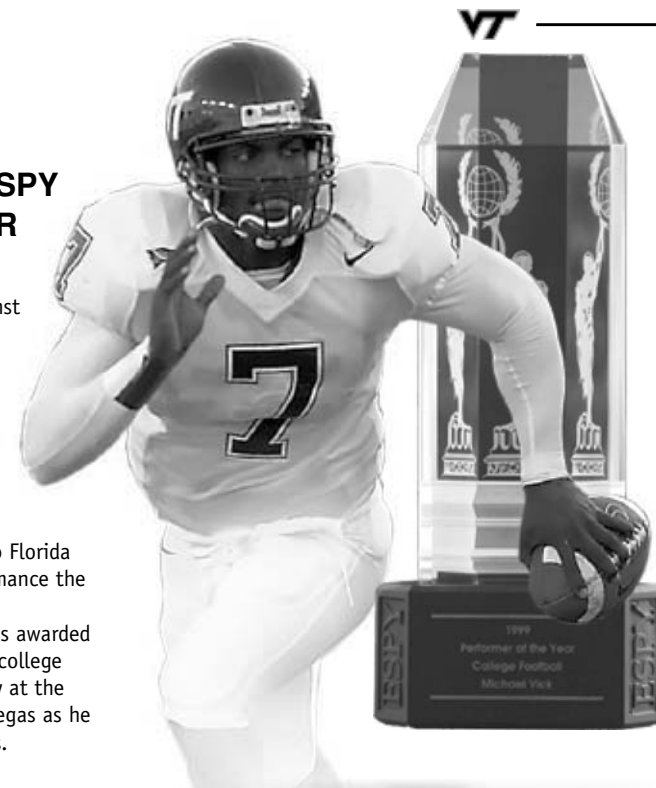

MICHAEL VICK WON AN ESPY AS THE NATIONAL PLAYER OF THE YEAR IN 1999

When Michael Vick took to the field against James Madison on Sept. 4, 1999, little did people in attendance or watching on television realize they would be witnessing the beginning of the most exciting two years in Virginia Tech football history.

In 1999, Vick led the Hokies to a perfect 11-0 regular season and a berth in the national championship game, both firsts in school history. The Hokies lost that game to Florida State, but all the talk was about the performance the redshirt freshman put on in that game.

For his accomplishments that year, he was awarded an ESPY by ESPN, given to the nation's top college football player. Vick was awarded the trophy at the ESPY ceremonies on Feb. 14, 2000, in Las Vegas as he mingled with some of sports' all-time greats.

COREY MOORE EARNED THE LOMBARDI AND NAGURSKI AWARDS IN 1999

In three years on campus, Corey Moore amassed 35.0 sacks for losses, totaling 292 yards. He left Tech as the most decorated player ever to put on the Hokie uniform. He won the 1999 Bronko Nagurski Award as college football's defensive player of the year. Moore also won the 1999 Lombardi Award as college football's lineman of the year.

He became Tech's second-ever unanimous All-American, joining Jim Pyne. Moore won the Dudley Award as the top college player in Virginia, the BIG EAST Defensive Player of the Year award and was selected as Football News' Defensive Player of the Year.

BRUCE SMITH WON THE OUTLAND TROPHY AS THE TOP LINEMAN IN 1984

The big announcement was made by Wilt Browning at a press luncheon in Tech's Bowman Room. Browning, a sports columnist of The Greensboro Daily News and a committee member of the Football Writers' Association of America, began by reading a long list of former Outland Trophy winners. He then said, "Add to that list today, the 1984 winner – Bruce Smith of Virginia Tech."

"The one thing though, that stuck in my mind was the statistic on his tackles for losses," Browning said. "In four years at Virginia Tech, he accounted for losses totaling more than five times the length of a football field (504 yards). That's amazing."

Smith was a consensus All-American and was the first Virginian to win one of the national awards (including the Heisman and the Lombardi).

HOKIE ALL-AMERICANS

JIM PYNE
Center • 1993

In 1993, Jim Pyne achieved something even Bruce Smith failed to do – earn unanimous All-America honors. Pyne helped pave the way for an offensive unit that set school season marks for total offense and scoring in 1993.

The Hokies averaged 444.1 yards and 36.4 points per game and finished 14th nationally in total offense, 11th in scoring offense and 10th in rushing.

Pyne was named first-team All-America by the AP, UPI, Walter Camp, the Football Writers Association and the Football Coaches Association (Kodak). He was one of the 12 semifinalists for the Lombardi Award, which goes to the nation's top lineman.

In four seasons at Tech, Pyne played more than 2,700 snaps and allowed just one quarterback sack. He started 35 consecutive games and 41 of the 42 games in which he played.

COREY MOORE
Def. End • 1998, 1999 (Unanimous)

Following an outstanding senior season in 1999, Corey Moore was voted first-team on all six major All-America teams to become the Hokies' second unanimous All-American. He was selected first-team by The AP, the Football Writers Association, the Football Coaches Association, Walter Camp, The Sporting News and Football News.

Moore posted a BIG EAST record 17 sacks during the '99 season to go with 11 other TFLs and 60 total tackles.

He also earned All-America honors in 1998 when he led the BIG EAST with 13.5 sacks. He gained first-team All-America recognition from the Football Coaches Association. Moore was a second-team pick by the AP and The Sporting News and a third-team choice of Football News.

JAKE GROVE

Jake Grove became the third unanimous All-American in Tech football history when he was named to the first team of all five recognized All-America squads: the Football Writers Association of America, the American Football Coaches Association, The Sporting News, the Walter Camp Football Foundation and the AP.

As a senior, he was named first-team All-BIG EAST and was presented the Rimington Trophy in Lincoln, Neb., honoring the nation's top collegiate center.

In 13 regular season games, Grove graded out at 91.8 percent on over 700 offensive plays and led the offensive line in knockdowns with 48.

He went on to be drafted in the second round by the Oakland Raiders in the 2004 NFL Draft as the first center taken.

JIMMY WILLIAMS
Defensive Back • 2005

Jimmy Williams became Tech's fourth unanimous All-American in football history when he was named to the first team of all five recognized All-America squads: the Football Writers Association of America, the American Football Coaches Association, The Sporting News, the Walter Camp Football Foundation and the AP.

As a senior, he was named first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference and was one of three finalists for the Jim Thorpe award, honoring the nation's top collegiate defensive back.

In 13 games, he recorded 44 tackles, including two for loss and a sack, along with 14 quarterback hurries, five pass break ups and an interception.

He went on to be drafted in the second round by the Atlanta Falcons in the 2006 NFL Draft.

THE HOKIES' OTHER FIRST-TEAM SELECTIONS

CARROLL DALE E • 1959

After earning second-team Associated Press All-America honors as a junior in 1958, Carroll Dale went on to become the first Virginia Tech football player to earn first-team All-America honors following the 1959 season. Dale was named to the Football Writers Association (LOOK Magazine) and Newspaper Enterprise Association first teams as a senior and was once again a second-team choice by the AP. He led Tech in receiving four straight years and finished the '59 season with 17 receptions for 408 yards and six touchdowns.

BOB SCHWEICKERT QB • 1964

One of the finest triple-threat quarterbacks in the history of the Southern Conference, Bob Schweickert was named to the LOOK All-America team picked by the Football Writers Association following the 1964 season. Schweickert fought off injuries during the '64 season to rush for 576 yards and nine touchdowns and pass for 833 yards and nine more TDs. He also handled the punting duties with a 37.7-yard average. As a junior in 1963, Schweickert earned third-team All-America honors from The Associated Press.

FRANK LORIA S • 1966, 1967 (CONSENSUS)

Safety Frank Loria was the first Tech football player to gain first-team All-America honors in back-to-back seasons and became the Hokies' first consensus All-America pick in 1967. As a junior in 1966, Loria helped Tech to the Liberty Bowl, contributing three interceptions and returning three punts for touchdowns. He was named to first-team A-A squads picked by The Associated Press and the Football Writers Association and was a second-team selection by the Helms Athletic Foundation. Loria was named to six major All-America squads following the 1967 season. He finished the year with three interceptions and 420 yards on punt returns, including a 95-yard return for a TD against Miami. His first-team honors came from the AP, United Press International, NEA, the Football Coaches Association, the Football Writers Association and the Walter Camp Foundation.

MIKE WIDGER LB • 1968

Mike Widger capped an incredible junior season by earning first-team All-America honors from The Associated Press and the Football Writers Association. Widger compiled a record 825 tackling points and was among the national leaders in pass interceptions (7) and return yardage (203 yards). He returned two of his interceptions for touchdowns and scored another TD after pulling the football loose from a Kansas State running back and racing 46 yards to the end zone.

BRUCE SMITH DT • 1983, 1984 (CONSENSUS)

Bruce Smith was named to first-team All-America squads picked by the Football Coaches Association and the Newspaper Enterprise Association after registering an incredible 22 quarterback sacks as a junior in 1983. Smith, who also was named to The Associated Press second team that year, finished with a total of 55 tackles, 31 of which were behind the line of scrimmage. As a senior in 1984, Smith accumulated 16 sacks and nine other tackles behind the line. He finished the year with 69 total tackles and was a consensus All-America pick, making first teams selected by the AP, the Football Writers of America, Kodak and Walter Camp.

EUGENE CHUNG OT • 1991

When Eugene Chung was named to the Football Writers Association All-America team following his senior season, he became the first Tech offensive lineman to win first-team All-America honors. Chung started every game at tackle for the Hokies in 1991, allowing just one quarterback sack in 730 plays. The Washington Gridiron Club honored Chung as the National Lineman of the Year.

CORNELL BROWN DE • 1995 (CONSENSUS), 1996

Cornell Brown became the first Virginia Tech football player to gain consensus All-America honors as a junior when he was named to five first teams in 1995. Brown was a first-team A-A pick by AP, UPI, the Football Writers Association, The Sporting News and Football News. He finished the year with 103 total tackles, including a BIG EAST-leading 14 sacks. He was selected National Defensive Player of the Year by Football News and was one of five finalists for the Defensive Player of the Year. In 1996, Brown missed three games, but still earned first-team honors from Walter Camp and second-team recognition from AP. He posted eight sacks, five other tackles behind the line, 19 quarterback hurries and 58 total tackles during the '96 season.

BILLY CONATY C • 1996

Considered one of the top offensive linemen in school history, Bill Conaty saw action on 98 percent of Virginia Tech's offensive plays in 1996 and went on to earn first-team All-America honors from The Sporting News. Conaty helped the Hokies to a 10-2 record and a trip to the Orange Bowl that season, grading a winning percentage in 10 of the 12 games and leading the squad with 65 knockdown blocks. He finished his career by setting an all-time school record for starts and consecutive starts with 48.

MICHAEL VICK QB • 1999

In a spectacular freshman season that saw him lead Virginia Tech to its first-ever 11-0 regular season and its first appearance in the national championship game, Michael Vick became the first Tech freshman football player to earn first-team All-America honors. Vick was named first-team by The Sporting News. He also was a second-team pick by The Associated Press. The redshirt freshman quarterback was third in the voting for the 1999 Heisman Trophy and second in the voting for the AP Player of the Year. Vick led Division I-A in passing efficiency (180.37), setting a NCAA record for a freshman in the process. He completed 59.2 percent of his passes for 1,840 yards and 12 touchdowns. He also contributed 585 yards and eight TDs rushing.

ANDRÉ DAVIS PR • 2000

André Davis finished the 2000 season second in the Division I-A ranks in punt returns and earned first-team All-America honors on the American Football Coaches Association team as a return specialist. Davis returned 18 punts for 396 yards for a school-record average of 22 yards per return. He tied another school season mark when he returned three punts for touchdowns. His 87-yard TD return against East Carolina was the second-longest in school history.

KEVIN JONES RB • 2003 (CONSENSUS)

One of the highest-rated recruits ever to sign with Virginia Tech, Kevin Jones rushed for a school-record 1,647 yards, including 241 yards against Pittsburgh, on 281 attempts with 21 touchdowns as a junior in '03. He went on to earn first-team All-America honors from The Sporting News, The Walter Camp Football Foundation, FWAA and AFCA. He was named to the second team by AP.

DARRYL TAPP DE • 2005

Considered one of the best defensive ends in school history, Darryl Tapp capped an incredible career, earning first-team All-America honors by AFCA and second-team honors by The Associated Press. During his senior season, Tapp, who started all 13 games, recorded team-bests for sacks, tackles for loss and forced fumbles. He recorded 10 sacks, 14.5 tackles for loss and three forced fumbles. Tapp was also fifth on the team in tackles. He won the Dudley Award, given to the state's top player, and was a Lott Trophy finalist.

XAVIER ADIBI LB • 2007

Xavier Adibi teamed with fellow linebacker Vince Hall throughout his career to form what was arguably the best linebacking duo in school history. Though he enjoyed a breakout season as a junior, Adibi put up eye-popping numbers as a senior on his way to first-team All-America honors from the American Football Coaches Association. He led the team with 115 tackles, including 12 tackles for loss, while chipping in three sacks and two interceptions – one of which he returned for a touchdown. In addition to being named first-team All-ACC, Adibi was also awarded a spot on The Associated Press All-America third team.

BRANDON FLOWERS CB • 2007

Despite leaving a year early for the NFL, cornerback Brandon Flowers became only the seventh Hokie to be named a two-time All-American when he was placed on the American Football Coaches Association first team after his junior season. He was also named second team by both the Associated Press and the Walter Camp Football Foundation. Flowers was a third-team AP honoree as a sophomore. In 2007, he placed third on the team with 86 tackles from his secondary spot, adding eight tackles for loss in the process. After leading the ACC in 2006 in passes broken up and passes defended, opponents shied away from him as a junior, but he still managed nine breakups, 14 passes defended and a career-high five interceptions.

VICTOR "MACHO" HARRIS CB • 2008

One of the nation's top cornerbacks, Victor Harris earned first-team All-America honors from Sporting News and was a second-team pick by The Associated Press after a stellar senior season. Harris considered entering the NFL Draft following his junior year, but decided to return, earning his degree along with A-A honors. He tied for 11th nationally in interceptions with six, two of which he returned for touchdowns. A two-time first-team All-ACC selection, he finished fourth in the league in interceptions and passes defended, and third in punt returns. His 15 career interceptions rank third all-time at Tech, while his four career TDs on picks are an all-time record for a Hokie.

RETIRED NUMBERS & JERSEYS

84 CARROLL DALE

A native of Wise, Va., Carroll Dale entered Virginia Tech in 1956 as an offensive and defensive end. After seeing varsity action as a reserve in the first game of the '56 season, Dale went on to start the remaining 39 games of his college career and became Tech's first bona fide All-American. As a junior in 1958, he was named the Southern Conference Player of the Year. In 1959, Dale was captain of the Tech team and earned first-team A-A honors. Dale led the Hokies in pass receiving each of his four seasons and finished his Tech career with 67 catches for 1,195 yards and 15 touchdowns. He went on to a pro football career that lasted more than a decade and was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1987. His Tech jersey was the first to be retired.

10 FRANK LORIA

Despite his 5-9, 175-pound frame, Frank Loria was one of the most tenacious football players ever to play for Virginia Tech. Loria, who started every game at safety from 1965-67, rapidly established himself as one of Tech's all-time greats. During his junior year, he earned first-team All-American honors. As a senior in 1967, Loria became Tech's first consensus All-American, making seven first-team All-American squads. He finished his Tech career with seven interceptions and a number of punt return records. He went on to coach at Marshall. In 1970, at age 23, he died in an airplane tragedy that claimed the lives of the Marshall football team and staff. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1999. His number was retired prior to the 1971 season.

78 BRUCE SMITH

Known as "The Sack Man" of Virginia Tech football, Bruce Smith capped his sensational college career in 1984. As a Tech player, Smith had a career total of 71 tackles behind the line of scrimmage for losses totaling 504 yards. Smith had 46 career quarterback sacks, including 22 during his junior season in 1983 when he was named first-team All-America. In 1984, the Norfolk, Va., native won the Outland Trophy as America's top lineman and was a consensus All-American. Smith was the No. 1 player picked in the 1985 National Football League draft. During his pro career, he established himself as one of the greatest defensive players ever to play the game. He ended his career in 2003 as the NFL's all-time sack leader with 200.

73 JIM PYNE

Center Jim Pyne became Virginia Tech's first unanimous All-American when he made all five major teams that were selected in 1993. In addition to All-America honors, Pyne was named winner of the Dudley Award as Virginia's Player of the Year. During his four seasons at Tech, he established himself as one of the Hokies' top linemen of all time, leading the charge for the 1993 team that rewrote the school record books for scoring and total offense. Pyne started 35 consecutive games and 41 of the 42 Tech games in which he played. He allowed just one quarterback sack by the man he was assigned to block during more than 2,700 career snaps. Pyne spent nine seasons as an NFL lineman before becoming an assistant coach in the pro ranks.

BEAMER AMONG FIVE WHO HAVE HAD JERSEYS RETIRED

In 2002, the Virginia Tech Athletics Department developed a new policy on retiring football jerseys. This special honor is bestowed to acknowledge an individual who has won an established national award in their sport, while allowing the number to continue to be worn by others. Tech no longer retires numbers. That year, three jerseys were retired in ceremonies. The jerseys of Frank Beamer, Cornell Brown and Michael Vick were the first to be honored. In 2006, Jake Grove had the same honor bestowed upon him. Corey Moore's jersey was retired in 2009.

VT BEAMERBALL

• During the Frank Beamer era at Tech, putting points on the scoreboard has always been a team effort – the offense, the defense and the special teams. It's called BeamerBall, and what sets it apart are the contributions of the defense and special teams.

• Six of Tech's last 10 teams are ranked among the school's top 10 highest scoring teams. During that time, a player at every position on the defensive unit has produced at least one touchdown, and 33 different players have scored touchdowns while playing on Tech's special teams. Altogether, the defense and special teams have combined for 124 TDs since Beamer arrived in 1987, including 107 in Tech's past 204 games.

• Under Beamer, Tech's defense has scored 80 TDs, with 52 coming on pass interceptions, 26 on fumble returns and two on fumble recoveries. The special teams have added 44 TDs, including 16 on blocked punts, 17 on punt returns, six on kickoff returns, four on blocked field goals and one on a fumble recovery.

• Fittingly, the trend started in Beamer's first game as Tech's head coach when true freshman Jon Jeffries returned a kickoff 92 yards for a touchdown against Clemson. It was the Hokies' first TD under Beamer, and it was the first of many scored by the special teams.

• Under Beamer, 78 different players on defense and special teams have scored TDs. Twenty of those players – Don Stokes, Jock Jones, Roger Brown, Lawrence Lewis, Antonio Banks, Jim Baron, Keion Carpenter, Pierson Prioleau, Anthony Midget, Cory Bird, Kevin McCadam, Willie Pile, Jimmy Williams, Roland Minor, Vince Hall, D.J. Parker, Brandon Flowers, Chris Ellis, Vincent Fuller and Eric Green – scored twice.

• Eddie Royal, Xavier Adibi, Jason Lallis, Ike Charlton and Ricky Hall each had three scores, André Davis had four, Victor Harris had five and DeAngelo Hall had seven.

• Since the start of the 1993 season, Tech is 69-13 in games it scores at least one TD on defense or special teams. Tech is 73-23 under Beamer when scoring a non-offensive touchdown.

BEAMERBALL II

• Tech's tradition for blocking kicks is another part of BeamerBall. It was carried to new heights in 1998 with 10 blocks during the regular season and two more in the Hokies' Music City Bowl game against Alabama.

• Tech now has 123 blocks in Frank Beamer's 281 games as the head coach. The Hokies have blocked 61 punts (16 returned or recovered for TDs), 38 field goals and 24 extra points.

• The most prolific kick blockers under Beamer have been defensive lineman Bernard Basham and safety Keion Carpenter, who each posted six blocks during their Tech careers. Basham blocked three field goals and three PATs, while Carpenter blocked six punts.

• Tech blocked more kicks in the 1990s than any other Division I-A team. The Hokies blocked 63 kicks during the decade – 31 punts, 18 PATs and 14 FGs. Tech has 46 blocks in this decade.

• During the Beamer era, Tech has blocked two kicks in a game 21 times, winning 16 of those games. Tech blocked two kicks against four different teams in 1998.

TECH'S BOWL HISTORY

NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP APPEARANCE HIGHLIGHTS BOWL STREAK FOR THE HOKIES

Chris Kinzer's 40-yard field goal as time expired in the 1986 Peach Bowl gave Virginia Tech its first bowl victory.

The Virginia Tech bowl tradition dates back to 1947 when the Hokies appeared in the Sun Bowl, and in the 63 years since, more than one million fans have passed through the turnstiles to witness Tech compete in 23 bowl games in 11 different stadiums and in seven states. The closest distance Tech has traveled for a bowl game was to Atlanta, Ga., which is 413 miles from Lane Stadium, while in 2003, the Hokies traveled to San Francisco for their farthest game, 2,440 miles away.

No matter the mileage, members of the Hokie Nation have always showed up in droves to show their support, and the Chick-fil-A Bowl last season proved to be no different. Tech's invitation to the contest in Atlanta extended its bowl appearance streak to 17 consecutive years – the third-longest active streak in the country – as the Hokies defeated the Tennessee Vols in 2009.

1947 SUN BOWL

The first bowl bid that Tech received followed the 1946 season, when the Hokies played Cincinnati in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas. An early snow covered Blacksburg that year and threatened to end all football practices. Bulldozers and snowplows were used to clear a practice area on the Drillfield and the Hokies got in their bowl preparations. The Tech team encountered more snowy weather when it reached El Paso. The Cincinnati team handled the weather and the Hokies, winning 18-6.

1966 LIBERTY BOWL

It was not until 1966 that Tech received another bowl bid. The Hokies were chosen to participate in the Liberty Bowl in Memphis, Tenn., against Miami (Fla.). The Hokies were 8-1-1 entering the contest and were led by All-American defensive back Frank Loria.

Miami, ranked ninth nationally, won 14-7 in a hard-hitting defensive struggle. The Hokies scored first on a 2-yard plunge by Tommy Francisco. But the Miami defense held Tech to only one first down in the last three quarters.

1968 LIBERTY BOWL

Tech returned to the Liberty Bowl two years later in 1968 and squared off against Mississippi. The Hokies were 7-3 after a rocky 2-3 start and were led by another defensive All-American, linebacker Mike Widger. Ole Miss had a quarterback by the name of Archie Manning and he sparked the Rebels to a 34-17 victory after Tech had taken a 17-0 first-quarter lead.

A member of Tech's 1966 and '68 bowl teams was none other than current head coach Frank Beamer, who was a starting defensive back. He was credited with three tackles in the 1968 game.

1980 PEACH BOWL

Tech next went bowling against Miami following the 1980 season and lost 20-10 in a hard-fought

Peach Bowl contest. That Hokie team sported an 8-3 record and featured one of the finest defensive units in college football.

Tech tailback Cyrus Lawrence emerged as one of the biggest stars of the game. He rushed for 134 yards and scored the lone Hokie touchdown. Ashley Lee, then a freshman linebacker, had 15 tackles for the Techmen.

1984 INDEPENDENCE BOWL

In Tech's first trip to the Independence Bowl in 1984, Outland Trophy winner Bruce Smith led Tech against the Air Force Falcons. Tech's powerful defensive unit held Air Force to only three first downs in the first half, but the Falcons got rolling in the second half. Quarterback Bart Weiss, named the game's Most Valuable Player, was the ringleader as Air Force won the battle, 23-7.

1986 PEACH BOWL

Who will ever forget "The Kick"? It ended perhaps the most stirring bowl game of the 1986 season as Virginia Tech's Chris Kinzer booted a 40-yard field goal to vault the Hokies past North Carolina State in the New Peach Bowl. The 25-24 victory came with no time showing on the clock and provided Tech with one of its top moments in football history.

1993 INDEPENDENCE BOWL

Almost as dynamic was Tech's 45-20 win over Indiana of the Big Ten Conference in the 1993 Independence Bowl game.

The last minute of the first half of the Independence Bowl will be most remembered for its unbelievable action-packed ending. Virginia Tech was leading Indiana, 14-13, with only 35 seconds left until halftime. Indiana had the ball on the Tech 49-yard line, when DeWayne Knight exploded through the IU offensive line to cause a fumble. That is when Lawrence Lewis got "the world's greatest bounce," returning the loose ball 20 yards for a touchdown to give Tech a 21-13 lead over the Hoosiers.

The Hokies, however, were not finished with their dramatics. Tech's Jeff Holland blocked a Hoosiers' field goal try with no time left in the first half and Antonio Banks settled under the ball and raced 80 yards for a score to give the Hokies a 28-13 halftime lead.

1994 GATOR BOWL

At the end of the 1994 season, the Hokies fell to a tough Tennessee team, 45-23, in a transplanted Gator Bowl contest that was held at Florida Field in Gainesville.

The high-powered Volunteer offense totaled 495 yards in the affair behind another Manning, this time Archie's son Peyton, and highly-touted tailback James (Little Man) Stewart. Stewart, Tennessee's all-time leading rusher, ran for three touchdowns and threw for another score en route to earning the game's Most Valuable Player award.

Tech's Dwayne Thomas would not be outdone, dazzling the 62,200 fans in attendance by rushing 19 times for 102 yards and one touchdown. Thomas had a 1-yard burst for a score in the second quarter and rambled 27 yards to set up Maurice DeShazo's 7-yard touchdown run in the third quarter.

1995 NOKIA SUGAR BOWL

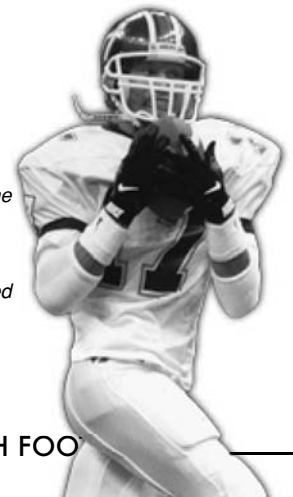

Tech's 28-10 Nokia Sugar Bowl victory over Texas in 1995 stands alone as the Hokies' biggest win in football postseason play.

The 1995 Sugar Bowl was special, indeed. It was, at the time, the most prestigious bowl appearance for the Hokies and they made the most of it. Tech overcame a 10-point deficit to beat Texas and earn one of the most stirring victories in the school's athletic history.

The momentum changed dramatically when game MVP Bryan Still returned a punt 60 yards for a Tech touchdown with 2:34 left in the first half.

Tech gained a lead in the third quarter (14-

Bryan Still was named MVP of the 1995 Sugar Bowl after Tech beat Texas 28-10 and the Hokies jumped into the national limelight.

Following an undefeated regular season in 1999, Tech went toe-to-toe with Florida State in the Nokia Sugar Bowl National Championship game.

10) on a 1-yard plunge by Marcus Parker. Then Still hauled in a 54-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Jim Druckenmiller on a play that spelled doom for the Longhorns.

It was Tech's defense that accounted for the team's final touchdown with 5:06 left in the game. All-American Cornell Brown picked up his second sack of the game, causing a fumble, and tackle Jim Baron scooped up the ball and ran 20 yards to score.

1996 FEDEX ORANGE BOWL

In 1996, the Hokies played Nebraska in another Alliance bowl, the FedEx Orange Bowl. That game, too, was a pressure cooker from start to finish. Nebraska won, 41-21, but led by only three points at 24-21 late in the third quarter.

A crowd of 51,212 at Pro Player Stadium saw Tech quarterback Jim Druckenmiller throw three touchdown passes despite a fierce rush by Cornhusker defenders.

1998 GATOR BOWL

The Hokies made their second trip to the Gator Bowl following the 1997 season to face North Carolina.

The Tar Heels impressed a crowd of 54,116 at Alltel Stadium by holding Tech to a total of 185 yards, its lowest total of the season, and beating the Hokies, 42-3. Tech's only points came on a 40-yard field goal by Shayne Graham late in the third quarter.

1998 MUSIC CITY BOWL

Tech bounced back strong in 1998 by capping a 9-3 season with an eye-opening 38-7 victory over Alabama in the inaugural Music City Bowl in Nashville. A sellout crowd braved freezing rain and a wind chill that dipped below 15 degrees to watch Tech post its first-ever win against the Crimson Tide.

Tech clung to a 10-7 lead at halftime before pulling away in the second half behind the defensive and special teams play of bowl MVP Corey Moore. The junior defensive end forced an interception that set up a Tech touchdown midway through the third quarter. Minutes later, he blocked an Alabama punt to pave the way for another Hokie TD. Tech went on to secure the win with two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

2000 NOKIA SUGAR BOWL

In the 1999 season, after a perfect 11-0 regular season campaign, the Hokies returned to the Nokia Sugar Bowl – this time to play for the national championship.

Tech once again put on a great show after a furious comeback led by quarterback Michael Vick. The Hokies led heavily favored Florida State heading into the fourth quarter before falling to the top-ranked Seminoles, 46-29.

2001 GATOR BOWL

For the second time in school history, the Hokies appeared in the same bowl back-to-back when they made the trip to the Gator Bowl in both 2001 and 2002.

Nearly 20,000 Hokie faithful watched Vick play his last game in a Tech uniform in the 2001 game in Jacksonville, Fla., against Clemson. Tailback Lee Suggs ran for three scores and the defense limited the Tigers to 88 yards rushing as the Hokies earned the fifth bowl win in school history. Tech capped its 10-1 season with 41-20 victory over Clemson.

2002 GATOR BOWL

Despite André Davis' 158 receiving yards in his final game as a Hokie, Tech was unable to hold off Florida State and lost the 2002 Gator Bowl, 30-17. The senior class that joined Davis in its last game at the Gator Bowl went down as the winningest class in school history, at the time, with a 39-9 record.

2002 DIAMOND WALNUT SAN FRANCISCO BOWL

The Hokies took their show to the West Coast following the 2002 season and captured a win in the Diamond Walnut San Francisco Bowl. Tech's 20-13 victory over Air Force gave the Hokies a 10-4 final record and marked the third time in four years that Tech had posted 10 or more victories. Tech quarterback Bryan Randall was named the game's most valuable offensive player. He completed 18-of-23 passes for 177 yards and did not have any turnovers.

2003 INSIGHT BOWL

Following the 2003 season, the Hokies made the trip out to Arizona, where they were downed by the California Bears 52-49 in the 2003 Insight Bowl, which was held in front of 42,364 fans at Bank One Ballpark in Phoenix. Cal kicker Tyler Frederickson made a 35-yard field goal on the final play of the game that lifted the Bears past the Hokies. The Hokies, who were playing in their 11th-consecutive bowl game, finished the season 8-5 overall.

The loss overshadowed a brilliant game by Tech's offense. Randall had four touchdown passes and a rushing TD, while Keith Willis became the first Tech player ever to catch two touchdown passes in a bowl game. Ernest Wilford broke Antonio Freeman's career mark for receptions, and Kevin Jones, who played in his final game as a Hokie before heading to the NFL, led the Hokie rushing attack with 16 carries for 153 yards and one touchdown.

In the 2004 season, Tech capped its improbable run to the Atlantic Coast Conference title by beating Miami, which led to a berth in the Nokia Sugar Bowl for the third time. Like in 1995 and 1999, Tech fans came out in droves to support their Hokies as the game was a sell-out and resulted in an economic impact of $209.92 million for the city and state.

Randall had a pair of touchdown passes, but the third-ranked Auburn Tigers held on for a 16-13 win over the Hokies in a hard-fought battle in New Orleans. Randall's final toss, an 80-yarder to freshman Josh Morgan, broke the Tech career touchdown passing mark. The loss couldn't take away from a dream season which saw the Hokies win the ACC title in their first year in the league while posting a 10-3 mark and a final national ranking of No. 10.

Although the Hokies got off to a slow start in the Toyota Gator Bowl after the 2005 campaign, they twice rallied from an 11-point deficit to beat Louisville, 35-24, on Jan. 2, 2006, to break a two-game bowl losing streak.

The high-powered Cardinals' offense scored on both of its first two possessions to take a 14-3 lead, but Tech cut that margin to 17-10 at the half. Louisville built the lead back to 11 at 24-13 before the Hokies scored 22 fourth-quarter points – capped by an interception return for a touchdown by linebacker James Anderson – to rally for the win. Cedric Humes was named the game's MVP, and the defense gave up 343 yards of total offense to finish the season ranked No. 1 in the nation in total defense.

2006 CHICK-FIL-A BOWL

The Chick-fil-A Bowl matchup with Georgia on Dec. 30, 2006 was a tale of two halves, with the Bulldogs emerging by a score of 31-24 to halt the Hokies' six-game winning streak. At the intermission, it looked as if Tech might waltz to an easy victory after holding Georgia to 47 yards of offense while building a 21-3 lead.

The Hokies collapsed in the second half, however, as their opponent racked up 28 unanswered points and Tech turned the ball over on four straight possessions. Despite the loss, the Hokies ended the season with at least 10 wins for the ninth time in their history, and finished as the nation's top-ranked defense for the second-straight year.

After winning the ACC championship, the Hokies were awarded a bid to the 2008 FedEx Orange Bowl, their 15th-consecutive bowl game. Tech trimmed a 17-point first-half deficit to three points in the second half, but couldn't quite get over the hump, falling to the Kansas Jayhawks 24-21.

With the loss, Tech's season ended at 11-3 overall, and the Hokies saw their five-game winning streak snapped.

It certainly was not the best of evenings for the Hokies. Tech turned the ball over three times and those three turnovers led to 17 Kansas points. The Hokies also had a field goal blocked, allowed a first down on a fake punt that ultimately led to a score, and gave up five sacks.

Even with the loss, Tech's 20 seniors finished as the winningest class in school history, recording a 42-11 overall record.

2009 FEDEX ORANGE BOWL

The Hokies earned a return trip to the FedEx Orange Bowl after beating Boston College for the second-straight season in the ACC Championship Game. This time Tech approached its bowl preparation in a different manner and it paid off with a convincing 20-7 victory over No. 12 Cincinnati.

After giving up a touchdown on UC's first drive, Tech manhandled the BIG EAST champion Bearcats for the final 57 minutes of the game. The Hokies controlled the football for nearly 40 minutes, piling up 258 yards on the ground.

Redshirt freshman tailback Darren Evans spearheaded the rushing attack, carrying the football 28 times for 153 yards on the way to MVP honors in the game. Evans and quarterback Tyrod Taylor ran for touchdowns, while kicker Dustin Keys contributed a pair of field goals.

The defense stalled the high-powered Cincinnati offense and intercepted a Tech bowl-record four passes. One of those interceptions, a pick by end Orion Martin at the UC 10-yard line early in the fourth quarter, was the play of the game for the Hokies.

The win capped a 10-4 season for the Hokies and vaulted them to No. 15 in the final AP poll.

2009 CHICK-FIL-A BOWL

Tech played a near-flawless second half on the way to an impressive 37-14 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Bowl. The win capped a late-season run that saw the Hokies win their final five games to finish 10-3 and earn the No. 10 spot in the final AP poll.

Record-setting tailback Ryan Williams helped Tech bolt to a 14-0 lead early in the game with a pair of short touchdown runs. The Volunteers managed to tie the game in the second quarter, but with just 18 seconds remaining in the half, the Hokies stole the Vols' momentum. With the ball at its own 33-yard line, Tech gambled, and quarterback Tyrod Taylor connected with end Jarrett Boykin on a 63-yard pass that set up a Matt Waldron field goal as time expired.

Taylor's play set the tone for what would be a dominating second half for the Hokies. Williams carried the football on seven straight plays on Tech's opening possession of the second half. On the eighth play, Taylor scored from a yard out to give Tech a 24-14 lead.

The Hokies' offense scored on four of five second-half possessions, with Waldron booting two more field goals and true freshman David Wilson adding a final touchdown. Waldron's three field goals were a Tech record for a bowl game.

Defensively, the Hokies were relentless, posting six QB sacks, intercepting a pass, causing and recovering a fumble and holding UT to just 240 total yards. Tennessee managed only 5 yards rushing on 31 attempts and converted just four third-downs into first downs. The Tech defense finished the season without allowing a point in the second half of the final five games.

PRIDE AND JOY OF VIRGINIA TECH FOOTBALL

Special teams are an integral part of Hokie football and one of the units is called "Pride and Joy." These NFL players and Tech support staff are also a source of pride and joy due to their commitment to Virginia Tech on and off the field. Virginia Tech has a prominent display in the Hall of Legends in the Merryman Athletic Center to honor such former players.

John Engelberger was a dominating defensive end who went from walk-on, to four-year starter at Tech, to second-round NFL Draft pick, earning All-America honors and his college degree along the way.

Wadley Harvey was a standout who started three seasons at defensive tackle and won the coveted Williams Award for leadership and character before joining the Buffalo Bills. Frank and Cheryl Beamer sponsored Harvey for recognition on the Pride and Joy display.

Before starting an NFL career, Jim Pyne, a powerful center in the early 1990s, started 41 games and allowed just one sack in over 2,700 snaps on his way to becoming the Hokies' first unanimous All-American.

Michael Vick was an electrifying quarterback who made a lasting impact on college football while helping Virginia Tech to a national championship game and back-to-back 11-1 seasons before becoming the top NFL pick in 2001.

A two-time All-American, Cornell Brown became the first Virginia Tech football player to gain consensus All-America honors as a junior when he was named to five first teams in 1995. He was selected National Defensive Player of the Year by Football News in 1995.

Lester Karlin is a veteran member of the Virginia Tech staff who made his first contribution to Hokie athletics as a student assistant in the football equipment room from 1971-73 and now as the equipment manager since 1978.

Pierson Prioleau saw action on more than 2,000

plays at rover and on special teams, while starting 36 consecutive games for the Hokies from 1995 through 1998. A two-time first-team All-BIG EAST selection and a Sporting News All-America pick in 1997, he also excelled in the weight room, where he held every record for his position. After helping Tech to two bowl championships, Prioleau began a productive NFL career that included a Super Bowl title with New Orleans last year.

Mickey Fitzgerald was a bruising tight end and fullback at Virginia Tech in the late 1970s who earned the nickname "The Incredible Hulk" with his physical style of play. In 1977, Fitzgerald became the first Tech back of the modern era to rush over 100 yards in each of his first four starts as a running back.

Shayne Graham is a local product out of Dublin who earned All-BIG EAST honors as a placekicker. He helped lead the Hokies to the 1999 National Championship game, kicking a game-winner as time expired to beat West Virginia and keep the perfect season alive. He went on to become one of the most accurate kickers in NFL history.

THE TRADITION

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now, in its 58th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 120 national championships, including 64 in women's competition and 56 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 130 times in men's competition and 91 times in women's action.

The conference had an immediate impact on the national college football scene in the fall of 1953 when the University of Maryland captured the first of what would eventually be five national football titles for the ACC. Clemson laid claim to the league's second national title in 1981 while Georgia Tech followed suit in 1990. Florida State pocketed national titles No. 4 and 5 in 1993 and 1999, respectively.

Additionally, Miami has laid claim to five national gridiron titles over the past 27 seasons. Four of the Hurricanes' five national titles (1983, 1987, 1989, 2001) were unanimous with both the sportswriters and coaches polls, while in 1991 Miami (AP) shared the national title with Washington (coaches).

The 12 institutions that take to the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 558 first- or second-team gridiron All-Americans and 73 first-team academic All-Americans.

ACC Football, though, has always been about more than just wins and losses and individual athletics honors. ACC schools, cumulatively, were ranked higher nationally than any other conference in the most recent rankings of American Universities by the U.S. News & World Report, with eight ACC institutions ranked 53rd or higher nationally and all 12 schools rated as "Tier One" schools.

The Conference was No. 1 with a diploma in 2009 for the fifth-straight year, as the ACC led all Football Bowl Subdivision Conferences in the NCAA's graduation rate (GSR). The ACC also had the highest football APR as a league for the fourth consecutive year. Miami was honored nationally (AFCA) for the top graduation rate for any football program in the country. It marked the 20th time a current ACC school has recorded the highest football graduation rate in the nation.

Since becoming a 12-team league in 2005, the ACC has consistently made history in the NFL's annual professional football draft. When Clemson running back C.J. Spiller was chosen as the ninth overall pick in this past year's NFL Draft it marked the fifth consecutive year the ACC has had a player taken in the Top 10 of the Draft. The ACC is the only conference in the nation to have achieved that feat, but his was only the latest in a long line of Draft accomplishments.

In the 2009 NFL Draft, the ACC was the only league with four players chosen among the top nine selections in the draft. It marked the second time in four years the ACC had managed that trick, also claiming four of the top nine picks in 2005. During the 2006, 2007 and 2008 drafts, the Conference became the first college league in the history to have two of the top four NFL Draft picks in each of three consecutive years.

In 2008, the ACC also set an NFL Draft record having the first defensive player chosen for three straight years with NC State's Mario Williams (2006), Clemson's Gaines Adams (2007) and Virginia's Chris Long (2008) claiming the honor.

The ACC's run began with the 2006 Draft when the Conference set an NFL Draft record with 12 players chosen in the first round and 51 players chosen overall. In all, the ACC is second among all conferences in the last four years in first round draftees, having 34 chosen and overall draftees with 179.

Heading into the 2010 football season, no league in America has sent more linebackers to the NFL, as no fewer than 56 former ACC standouts began the summer on NFL rosters tying both the Big Ten and SEC for that honor. The 12 current ACC schools have had 2,221 players selected in the annual professional football draft, including 226 first round selections.

Three ACC teams — Georgia Tech (9), Virginia

Tech (11) and Miami (15) — finished among the Top 15 in the final 2010 BCS Standings and four ACC squads — Virginia Tech (10), Georgia Tech (13), Miami (19) and Clemson (24) finished the year ranked in the final Associated Press poll.

The ACC also has a storied bowl tradition, setting an NCAA record with 10 of its teams (.833) to post-season bowl games in 2008, breaking its own record for bowl participation (.833) set originally in 2002. Since 2005, the Conference is second among all leagues with 41 of its teams travelling to post-season bowl games. Additionally, four of its teams — Boston College (5th, 13-8, .619), Florida State (6th, 23-14-2, .615), Georgia Tech (12th, 22-16, .579) and Miami (15th, 19-16, .543) — rank among the Top 15 winningest bowl programs of all-time. Four ACC schools are also among the Top eight nationally in current bowl game streaks including national leader Florida State (28 straight bowl games), Virginia Tech (3rd, 17), Georgia Tech (4th, 13) and Boston College (7th, 11).

2009-10 IN REVIEW (as of June 15)

The 2009-10 academic year saw league teams capture an all-time high eight national team titles and nine individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 50 national team titles over the last 13 years. The ACC has won two or more NCAA titles in 28 of the past 30 years.

A total of 123 ACC teams placed in NCAA post-season competition in 2009-10. League teams compiled a 116-64-3 (.637) mark against opponents in NCAA championship competition. In addition, the ACC had 170 student-athletes earn first team All-America honors this past year. Overall, the league had 235 first, second or third team All-Americans and the ACC produced four national Players of the Year and four national Coach of the Year honorees.

THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

academic year — 12 for men and 13 for women. The first ACC championship was held in swimming on February 25, 1954. The conference did not conduct championships in cross country, wrestling or tennis during the first year.

The 12 sports for men are football, cross country, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track & field, wrestling, baseball, tennis, golf and lacrosse. Fencing, which was started in 1971, was discontinued in 1981. Women's sports were initiated in 1977 with the first championship meet held in tennis at Wake Forest University.

Championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, field hockey, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track & field, tennis, golf, lacrosse, softball and rowing with volleyball deciding its champion by regular season play.

A HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members — Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest — drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were: Dixie, Mid South, Mid Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 to pay for conference expenses.

On Dec. 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation. The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State University.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of the University of Miami and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. On Oct. 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005.

VT BOWL INFORMATION

DOUBLE HOSTING

The National Championship Game will be rotating among the four BCS bowls every year. There will be a Rose Bowl, Orange Bowl, Sugar Bowl and Fiesta Bowl and once in a four year period, one of the sites will serve as host for the National Championship Game a week after its traditional bowl.

The 2011 Tostitos BCS National Championship will be hosted by the Fiesta Bowl and held at University of Phoenix Stadium in Glendale, Ariz., on Jan. 10, 2011.

The 2010 ACC champion will participate in the Orange Bowl, unless ranked Nos. 1 or 2 in the final BCS poll. Those teams will play in the BCS championship game. The ACC also has agreements with seven other bowls.

UNIVERSITY & MEDIA INFORMATION

VIRGINIA TECH: A UNIVERSITY INVENTING THE FUTURE

Beginning in 1872 with 132 students and two programs of study, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, popularly known as Virginia Tech, has evolved into a comprehensive university of national and international prominence. With nearly 28,450 students in Blacksburg and about 2,500 other students statewide, the university provides a challenging academic environment that is a fount of world-class scholarship. University tradition is firmly rooted in its motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve), and its historic land-grant mission is brought to life through learning, discovery and engagement.

LEARNING

Virginia Tech's challenging academic standards attract high-achieving students. More degree programs – approximately 210 graduate and undergraduate – are available through the university's nine colleges (Agriculture & Life Sciences, Architecture & Urban Studies, Engineering, Liberal Arts & Human Sciences, Natural Resources, Pamplin Business, Science, The Virginia Tech Carilion School of Medicine, and Virginia-Maryland College of Veterinary Medicine) and Graduate School than at any other university in the commonwealth. Some 93 percent of all departments offer e-learning courses, which have attracted more than 130,000 enrollments since 1999.

DISCOVERY

The university's groundbreaking research transforms lives and communities. With annual research expenditures exceeding $396 million, Virginia Tech ranks in the top 50 research universities in the United States. With more than 100 research centers, the university also consistently ranks among the top institutions in industry-supported research and in the top 15 in the number of patents issued each year. Tech's nationally and internationally recognized faculty and motivated students are involved in more than 3,500 research projects in fields ranging from biotechnology to materials, from the environment and energy to food and human health, and from transportation to computing information.

ENGAGEMENT

As part of Virginia Tech's outreach mission and in adherence to its motto, the university serves and engages the citizens of the commonwealth, the nation, and the world. The university is involved in a multitude of economic and community development projects, many of which focus on education and the dissemination of knowledge to the global society in which we live.

Professionals, organizations, and communities tap Virginia Tech's vast resources, expertise, and research results through hundreds of continuing and professional education programs and five campus centers located throughout the commonwealth. The institution has a long history of providing innovative distance-learning techniques to meet the various needs of working adults and other nontraditional students.

The Inn at Virginia Tech and Skelton Conference Center on campus and The Hotel Roanoke & Conference Center in Roanoke, both owned by Virginia Tech, support the university's outreach mission by working with faculty to plan and host conferences and continuing education and professional programs.

Virginia Tech manages more than $64 million in funded economic development projects in 44 countries and encourages faculty members to develop global course content and study abroad opportunities for students. In 2009-10, more than 2,250 students from more than 100 foreign countries studied at Tech, while more than 1,100 Virginia Tech students studied abroad.

Virginia Cooperative Extension, operated jointly by Virginia Tech and Virginia State University, has been helping people improve their economic, cultural, and social well being for nearly a century. With 107 city/county offices, tens of thousands of volunteers, and programs across the state, Extension reaches and teaches millions of Virginians annually.

INTERESTING FACTS & FIGURES

- The university's annual budget is about $1.05 billion.
- Virginia Tech has approximately 212,000 living alumni from every state and about 100 countries.
- All campus facilities, including residence halls, have high-speed connections to voice, data, and video communications.
- Virginia Tech is one of three public universities in the country that offers the combined advantages of a military-style leadership development program – here it is through the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets – and a traditional academic and social life.
- U.S. News & World Report ranks Virginia Tech's overall undergraduate programs 30th among national public universities. Of all universities – public or private – it ranks Tech 71st.
- Kiplinger Personal Finance magazine ranks Virginia Tech' 16th among public colleges and universities that offer a first-class educational experience at a bargain price.
- The National Science Foundation ranks Virginia Tech sixth in the nation for its agricultural and natural resources research expenditures.
- The Princeton Review ranks Virginia Tech eighth among public universities in its "best-value colleges" for 2010.
- The university's undergraduate engineering program is 14th among the nation's engineering schools and seventh among public universities, according to U.S. News & World Report. Nine of the college's undergraduate programs rank in the top 25.
- U.S. News & World Report ranks the College of Engineering's graduate program 25th nationally, with four individual undergraduate programs in the top 10.
- The Pamplin College of Business undergraduate program was ranked 42nd in the nation and 24th among public schools by U.S. News & World Report.
- Virginia Tech consistently ranks among the top 15 schools in the nation in number of patents received.
- DesignIntelligence ranks Virginia Tech's undergraduate architecture program as one of America's World-Class Schools of Architecture with highest distinction. In addition, it ranks the graduate architecture program sixth in the nation and the graduate interior design program sixth. The graduate landscape architecture program has been ranked No. 2.
- The university's forestry program is top-ranked in North America, according to a study conducted by Auburn University.

CHARLES W. STEGER

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

Now in his eleventh year as President of Virginia Tech, Dr. Charles Steger is pursuing the course he laid out to establish Virginia Tech among the nation's premier research institutions. Steger has provided visionary leadership in the creation and implementation of a bold vision and strategic plan, with a demand for quality across all aspects of the academic enterprise. Among the highlights of his presidency to date are the university's adoption of the Principles of Community (2005) and the Virginia Tech Climate Action Commitment (2009). In the minds of many, Steger will best be remembered for making the impossible a reality. He will be forever credited with negotiating Virginia Tech's entrance into the Atlantic Coast Conference in 2004 – a 50-year dream-come-true for Hokie fans.

One of the most exciting new initiatives to become reality is the Virginia Tech Carilion School of Medicine and Research Institute, which is housed in a new 152,000-square-foot building in Roanoke. This is a partnership of Virginia Tech and Carilion Clinic. The medical school admitted its inaugural class in August 2010.

Another initiative on the horizon is the new Center for the Arts that will open in the fall of 2013. This 130,000-square-foot facility will feature a 1,300-seat performance hall, visual art galleries, and innovative creative technology lab spaces. At the intersection of North Main Street and Alumni Mall, its location symbolizes the university's commitment to the arts and its importance to the university and the broader community.

Since Steger became president, the university's annual research expenditures have increased 300 percent, now topping $390 million. According to the National Science Foundation (NSF), Virginia Tech ranks 46th out of 679 universities in the nation in sponsored research, the only Virginia university in the top 50. Shortly after Steger took office, the university launched the Virginia Bioinformatics Institute, which has already secured well over $100 million in external research funding. Virginia Tech has also partnered with a number of other universities to further leverage its research strengths and resources, including Johns Hopkins University, Wake Forest University, the University of Virginia, the University of Maryland, and Georgetown University. Early in 2011, construction will be completed on Virginia Tech's new 144,000-square-foot research facility in Arlington, Virginia, to enhance the university's presence in the National Capital Region and ability to compete for major research grants and contracts.

Concurrent with the expanding research agenda, the university has expanded its outreach efforts like never before. For example, Virginia Tech has partnered in numerous initiatives in Southside Virginia, including the renowned Institute for Advanced Learning and Research (IALR), which are advancing both educational and economic development opportunities.

A hallmark of Steger's administration is his commitment to the students. With his leadership, the university has reaffirmed its core mission of undergraduate education. The university is dedicated to fostering a research-intensive environment that offers students an opportunity to learn the scientific process while enhancing their critical-thinking skills. Recognizing that graduates will be entering a global economy, Virginia Tech initiated a comprehensive International Strategic Plan and has doubled the number of students participating in international education opportunities.

Earlier this year, Steger was selected as a recipient of the 2010 Michael P. Malone International Leadership Award, sponsored by the Association of Public and Land-grant Universities. During his presidency, five international centers have been established around the globe, and another is being developed in India. While dean of CAUS, Steger was the driving force behind the establishment of Virginia Tech's Center for European Studies and Architecture in Switzerland, which has hosted hundreds of study abroad students from departments across the university.

Another of the most memorable contributions of Steger's administration was his role in the Higher Education Restructuring Act, which took effect in July 2006. Steger was one of the leaders among university presidents to help define a ground-breaking new relationship between the commonwealth of Virginia and its colleges and universities, which enables greater institutional flexibility and potential for growth. This legislation allows Virginia Tech to perform long-range planning, ensure a stable and predictable revenue stream, and ultimately ensure a quality education for its students.

The university is in the midst of an aggressive $1 billion fundraising campaign to "invent the future." With more than $920 million raised, the university is well on its way to acquiring the funds to provide the university with a margin of excellence for its academic agenda. Today, private support from Virginia Tech's alumni and friends continues to play an essential role in this university community.

Virginia Tech remains one of the most competitive institutions in the state. The university received more than 20,000 applications for the class entering in the fall of 2010. Students offered admission posted an average math and critical reading SAT score of 1250 and an average high school GPA of 3.96. Nearly 6,000 of those offered admission had a GPA of 4.0 or higher. The number of students from underrepresented groups who accepted admission is up slightly over last year.

Steger received his Bachelor of Architecture degree, Master of Architecture degree, and Ph.D. in Environmental Science and Engineering from Virginia Tech. His passion for teaching led him to leave a career in the private sector as a professional architect and planner to return to Virginia Tech to teach in the College of Architecture and Urban Studies (CAUS). When he became Dean in 1981 at the age of 33, he was the youngest architecture dean in the nation. After 12 years in that role, he was appointed Vice President for Development and University Relations (1993-2000) before being named President in 2000.

Dr. Steger is President of the Council of Presidents of the Southeastern Universities Research Association (SURA). He is a member of the National Council on Competitiveness, the Association of Governing Boards, the Economic Club of Washington, D.C., the Senior Advisory Group of the Northern Virginia Technology Council Board of Directors, and the Board of the Innovative Technology Authority that oversees Virginia's Center for Innovative Technology. He is past-Chairman of the Virginia Council of Presidents and chair of the Virginia Space Grant Consortium. He serves on the Council of Higher Education's General and Professional Advisory Committee and the Virginia Business Higher Education Council. He has been appointed by five Governors of Virginia to serve on various entities including the Steering Committee of the Governor's Higher Education Summit, Virginia Institute for Defense and Homeland Security, and the Secure Virginia Initiative. In May 2010, he was named to the Governor's Commission on Higher Education Reform, Innovation, and Investment. His most recent publications include book chapters on the topics of the business of education and the university presidency.

Steger is a Fellow in the American Institute of Architects (AIA) and holds the William C. Noland Award and the Distinguished Achievement Award from the Virginia Society AIA. The New Century Technology Council awarded him its 2004 Compass Award for visionary thinking and leadership in the field of information technology.

Credited with calm leadership during a very difficult period, President Steger led the university through an extended recovery period in the aftermath of the April 2007 tragedy.

In 2009, President Steger received the Chief Executive Leadership Award from the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) District III for outstanding leadership and service in support of education.

JIM WEAVER

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

James C. Weaver, whose innovative ideas and work as a reformer have made him one of college athletics' most popular administrators, is the director of athletics at Virginia Tech.

Weaver, 65, was appointed on Sept. 24, 1997, and has been a tireless leader on behalf of Tech athletics. His efforts were recognized in December when he accepted the prestigious John L. Toner Award, which is presented annually by the National Football Foundation & College Hall of Fame. The award is given to a director of athletics who has demonstrated superior administrative abilities and shown outstanding dedication to college athletics and particularly college football.

In his 13 years on the job at Tech, Weaver has taken steps to place increased emphasis on projects benefiting student-athletes. Under his leadership, the athletics department entered into a comprehensive agreement with NIKE beginning in 2007-08 which provides uniforms, clothing and equipment for all Virginia Tech varsity teams over an eight-year period. He created a comprehensive awards program for letterwinners and has initiated and funded an annual awards banquet. The Monogram Club was revitalized in 1998 and provides several benefits to former Hokie athletes, trainers and managers.

A top personal priority for Weaver is the continuing improvement of Tech's facilities.

Progress is evident in a number of new facilities now in use or currently under construction.

A new football locker room and lounge building are being constructed adjacent to Jamerson Athletic Center. The three-story building will be completed in advance of the 2010 football season and will feature a spacious locker room for players and coaches, as well as a lounge on the second floor and a wrestling facility on the third floor. The vacated space in Jamerson will be renovated to provide expanded weight training, sports medicine and locker room facilities for Olympic sport teams.

The remodeling of Lane Stadium's west side was completed in time for Tech's 2006 home opener. It involved the construction of additional new luxury suites, a new President's area, four private club seating areas, a ticket office, athletic fund offices, a memorabilia area and a new student academic services area.

Tech's basketball staffs and teams moved into their new practice facility last August. The $20 million building boasts two practice gyms, a 3,000 square-foot basketball weight room, coaches' offices, film rooms and locker rooms.

Weaver presided over Tech's move into the Atlantic Coast Conference in 2004-05, when Virginia Tech and Miami were officially introduced as the 10th and 11th members of the ACC, effective July 1, 2004.

Weaver renegotiated Tech's multimedia rights contract with ISP Sports, creating an agreement which went into effect in 2008-09 and extends for 10 years to provide enhanced revenue for the athletics department. In the Fall of 2000, Weaver arranged a joint venture with ISP to commit $2 million to purchase new scoreboards, upgrade sound systems, install an L.E.D. video display screen at Lane Stadium (which was enlarged for the 2005 season) and place two wall-mount L.E.D. video screens in Cassell Coliseum.

Weaver came to Tech from Western Michigan University where he was director of athletics from January 1996 until he came to Blacksburg. Prior to that, he was AD for three and a half years at UNLV, where he reconstructed a troubled athletic department.

Weaver brings a "Penn State mentality" to the position. He says that various schools' interest in him as a reformer through the years can be traced to Penn State and its reputation for how it conducts business in intercollegiate athletics.

It was with the Nittany Lions' football team that Weaver first made a name for himself in athletics. He was a center and linebacker on Penn State teams coached by the legendary Rip Engle and Joe Paterno.

A native of Harrisburg, Pa., Weaver was recruited to Penn State by Engle. He played three seasons under Engle and one under Paterno, who is still the coach of the Nittany Lions.

"I learned a lot from Joe Paterno," Weaver says. "One thing he said certainly has stuck with me. 'You either get better or you get worse. You never stay the same.'"

Weaver graduated from Penn State in 1967 with a bachelor's in psychology and rehabilitation education. He received a master's in college counselor education, also from Penn State, in 1968.

Weaver started a coaching career as an assistant at Penn State for six seasons. During that time, the Lions played in five bowl games – the Cotton, Gator, Sugar and Orange (twice).

He later was the offensive coordinator at Iowa State and head coach for one season at Villanova in 1974. He also spent five years as an assistant professor at Clarion State and three years as director of franchise sales at Athletic Attic.

Prior to landing the athletic director's job at UNLV, Weaver spent nine years at the University of Florida. He was a strong force at Florida in the field of compliance and concluded his time there as associate athletics director.

Weaver drew rave reviews at UNLV for his fund-raising expertise. He generated nearly $15 million in his time there and built a new athletic complex.

While at Western Michigan, Weaver announced creation of a $7 million football center, stabilized fluctuating revenues and installed a CHAMPS Life Skills program.

Weaver and his wife Traci have four sons – Josh, Paul, Cole and Craig.

HOKIESPORTS.COM

Virginia Tech sports fans have the luxury of getting up-to-date information on their favorite Tech sports or athletes on a daily basis regardless of location. Hokiesports.com is every Tech fan's source for fast, accurate and official coverage of all Hokie sports teams and events.

On the main site, one can find an array of information on Tech athletics. Through the efforts of the athletics communications staff, Hokiesports.com provides the fastest, most complete source for Hokie news on the web. Pregame releases, game stories and individual features, as well as up-to-date statistics and results for all 21 athletic teams are posted. In 2008, a notebook was added to provide readers with behind the scene news and notes. Other offerings include individual home pages for each Tech sport, featuring breaking news and archived releases along with media guides containing player and coaching staff profiles, schedules, records, historical information and other pertinent facts for every sport.

Also accessible on each sport's home page are rosters with links to player bios, schedules, results and conference standings. With fast "live stats," fans have access to stats from home football, men's and women's basketball, baseball, softball, lacrosse, men's and women's tennis, men's and women's soccer, volleyball and wrestling as they happen via the web.

The in-house site was first launched on July 1, 1996. This past year, hokiesports.com averaged more than 25 million page views and over 800,000 visitors per month. In a 2008 survey of BCS school official websites, hokiesports.com ranked seventh in total traffic and first within the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The site is managed and designed by director and webmaster Damian Salas. Salas is assisted by graphic designer Allison Jarnagin.

Hokiesports.com is the lead site of five official Tech athletics auxiliary sites, including hokiephotos.com, hokietickets.com, hokieshop.com and inside.hokiesports.com.

Hokietickets.com contains links and updates about tickets for Hokie athletics events including seating charts of Lane Stadium and Cassell Coliseum.

Hokiephotos.com allows fans to purchase select athletics department photos of some of the most memorable athletes and moments in Virginia Tech history.

Hokieshop.com allows fans to purchase official Hokie gear and gameday apparel.

INSIDE HOKIE SPORTS

The Virginia Tech athletics department made a bold switch in 2008, converting its in-house newspaper of more than 20 years into a full-color, glossy magazine with nearly 50 pages worth of content and a new name.

The debut of Inside Hokie Sports drew overwhelmingly positive reviews, and now, for a third season, the magazine returns to continue providing information on all of the Hokies' 21 varsity sports.

THE MAGAZINE FEATURES:

- Roth Report & monthly columns
- Hokie Club's monthly news
- In-depth feature articles on student-athletes, coaches and administrators
- Extended coverage on Olympic sports
- Season previews and reviews
- Features on former Virginia Tech athletes
- Updates on Hokies in the professional ranks

The publication is printed 11 times a year, with a month off in the summer.

"We'll continue to write in-depth stories not just on student-athletes, but also on a wide array of people and topics surrounding Tech athletics that traditional media outlets tend to ignore," said Jimmy Robertson, the editor of Inside Hokie Sports. "I thought that made us a unique entity among the groups covering the Hokies."

"At the same time, we kept some of the things from the newspaper that were popular – things like columns and our football recruiting profiles. I thought we had a nice blend of ways to present information, and now, our objective is to expand and improve to make our publication even better."

The staff is headed by Robertson, a 1994 graduate of Roanoke College who has won six national awards since starting as the editor of Tech's in-house publication in 1996. He is aided by a talented staff including Matt Kovatch, who graduated from Penn State University with a public relations degree in 2005 and is in his third year with the publication; Allison Jarnagin, a 2007 Virginia Tech graduate with a degree in visual communications, who is in her third year as the publication's layout designer; David Knachel, who serves as the staff photographer, his role for more than 20 years; and Bill Roth, the Voice of the Hokies, who continues to provide his monthly column.

SUBSCRIBE TO INSIDE HOKIE SPORTS

$37.95 for one-year subscription - $69.95 for two-year subscription
- additional $12 per year for access to online version
$25 annually for just access to online version (no printed copy)

Magazines will be available on newsstands at certain stores throughout the Blacksburg-Christiansburg area.

VIRGINIA TECH ATHLETIC FUND

HOKIE CLUB WORKS TO KEEP TECH'S MOMENTUM BUILDING

Virginia Tech's sixth season in the ACC was successful, both in competition and fundraising results. Thanks to the hard work of the Hokie Club, donors continue to support the athletics program with their gifts to the annual fund and for new facilities. The Hokie Club is charged with raising funds to support the scholarship, capital and programmatic needs of the Athletics Department.

"Virginia Tech's high national profile in football continues to motivate our fans in their support of the program. They are proud that their football team has been to bowl games in each of the last 17 years, including six BCS games. Winning three ACC championships in football in five years added momentum to our fund raising efforts," said Lu Merritt, who has served as director of the Athletic Fund since 1994.

Donors make gifts in outright forms such as cash and real estate, or through planned or deferred gifts such as a will or retirement plan.

The Athletic Fund is proud of its staff and its volunteers who help ensure that the 65 Hokie Clubs throughout the region continue their active efforts to support and promote athletics at Virginia Tech.

O.A. Spady of Smithfield, Va., is the current president of the Athletic Fund and Glenn Reynolds of Blacksburg, Va., is the vice president.

THE MONOGRAM CLUB

STAYING CONNECTED WITH FORMER TEAMMATES AND COACHES

Virginia Tech's student-athletes hold a special place at the university, even after their playing days are over. That is why the Tech Athletics Department created the Virginia Tech Monogram Club, an organization that caters to former athletes, trainers and managers.

Current Athletics Director Jim Weaver resurrected the Monogram Club in 1998 and has added several incentives for former athletes. After being hired in 2001, former track and field coach Russ Whitenack has guided the Club to new prominence. Under his leadership, the Club has served as host for tailgates prior to most home football games and bowl games. During the weekend of the Spring Game, the Monogram Club holds a golf tournament and several socials for members and their families. Whitenack also organizes many team and sport reunions as part of his role.

Club members receive several other benefits. Each member receives a complimentary subscription to Inside Hokie Sports. Additionally, the Monogram Club receives an allotment of 100 tickets for each home football game that it can sell on a first-come, first-serve basis. For many games, Club members are the only people who can buy individual game tickets.

The Monogram Club maintains a website for its members – www.vtmonogram.com. The site offers several new features such as the ability to search for the addresses of former teammates and get information about upcoming events and reunions.

In hopes of helping former athletes reconnect with their teammates, all registered with the Monogram Club get invitations to Virginia Tech athletics reunions.

These added perks have naturally translated into larger membership numbers for the Club. However, Whitenack wants to see those numbers continue to grow, particularly among recent graduates. A one-year membership costs $40. A five-year membership costs $160, and a lifetime membership costs $800. Recent graduates are given a three year complimentary membership if they register on line.

If you are a former Hokie athlete, trainer or manager, contact Russ Whitenack to join the Monogram Club at 540-231-9156 or rwhitena@vt.edu. It is one of the best values in Tech athletics, and it is the department's way of continuing to say thank you for your service to the university.

ISP RADIO & TV NETWORK

'FROM THE BLUE WATERS OF THE CHESAPEAKE BAY TO THE HILLS OF TENNESSEE, THE VIRGINIA TECH HOKIES ARE ON THE AIR!'

That familiar refrain – delivered by Bill Roth, the Voice of Virginia Tech football – opens every Tech sports broadcast and reflects the network's goal of reaching Hokie fans everywhere. So, whether they're sailing off Virginia's eastern shore, hiking in the Blue Ridge Mountains, or sitting in their homes anywhere throughout the Commonwealth, Tech fans know they're always within range of a Tech network radio station.

With a massive network of radio and television stations throughout the region, the Virginia Tech ISP Sports Network serves as the main communications link between Tech's football program and the Hokies' avid legion of fans.

Roth – who has been named Virginia's Sportscaster of the Year eight times – is in his 23rd season as the Voice of Virginia Tech football and basketball. A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., Roth graduated from Syracuse University in 1987, earning a degree in broadcast journalism. He also won the distinguished Robert Costas Academic Scholarship in 1986.

Roth's cries of "TOUCHDOWN TECH!" have become a favorite of Hokie fans of all ages, and his accurate and exciting descriptions of Tech football and basketball have made him one of the most popular figures on the Tech athletic scene.

"Bill Roth is very much a part of what we're all about here," Beamer said. "When you hear his voice, you immediately think Virginia Tech football."

During the off-seasons, Roth has worked for ESPN in a variety of roles, including calling play-by-play of NCAA lacrosse, baseball, basketball, kickboxing and field hockey. He also writes a column, The Kroger Roth Report, which appears weekly on hokiesports.com and in Tech's official monthly news magazine, Inside Hokie Sports.

Former Virginia Tech tight end Mike Burnop is serving his 28th season in the booth as the network analyst. Burnop, a star for the Hokies in the early 1970s, was inducted into Virginia Tech's Hall of Fame in 2000.

In addition to his role as analyst, Burnop handles all post-game interviews from Tech's locker room. He has shown his versatility as a broadcaster by shining as the analyst on Tech's basketball broadcasts over the years.

Adam Witten serves as the scoreboard anchor and host of Virginia Tech football broadcasts. Witten provides pre-game, in-game, and post-game reports during the course of each game broadcast.

Tech radio broadcasts are available to fans anywhere in the world via Tech's official Web site (hokiesports.com). In addition, Tech games can be heard on XM Satellite Radio.

ISP Sports Television programming includes Virginia Tech Sports Today, a weekly 30-minute program that is seen every Sunday on a network of TV stations and cable networks throughout the mid-Atlantic region. The program features highlights of every Virginia Tech game, features and interviews with Tech players and coaches.

The Hokie Playback is a weekly television rebroadcast of Virginia Tech home football games shown each Sunday afternoon and evening after home games.

In addition to game broadcasts, ISP Sports also produces other radio programming including "Tech Talk LIVE! presented by GEICO," a two-hour radio talk show featuring Roth, Tech coach Frank Beamer, Director of Athletics Jim Weaver, and various assistant coaches every Monday night live from Bull & Bones restaurant on Main Street in Blacksburg.

The Davenport Virginia Tech Sports Quiz, a daily one-minute program, airs on radio stations every weekday from August through March.

ISP SPORTS VIRGINIA TECH GAMEDAY BROADCAST SCHEDULE

COLLEGE FOOTBALL DIGEST –

The network's radio coverage begins 90 minutes prior to kickoff. The program features Tech Director of Athletics Jim Weaver and other guests who preview the day in college football.

THE NTELOS PRE-GAME REPORT –

The perfect tailgating companion, the Hokies' Countdown clock starts 60 minutes before kickoff with a complete preview of the game, interviews with Tech coach Frank Beamer and the opposing head coach, the ACC Report, late-breaking news, and features such as Great Moments in Virginia Tech History presented by the University Bookstore, the NTELOS Star Watch and ACC Traditions presented by Virginia Farm Bureau Insurance.

THE GAME BROADCAST PRESENTED BY THE VIRGINIA LOTTERY –

THE KROGER POINT AFTER –

Perhaps the network's most popular show, the Kroger Point After is a fast-paced, 90-minute postgame show which features locker room interviews, score reports from around the country and game highlights and features such as the SunTrust Frank Beamer Report, the Stop In Food Stores Stop of the Game, the Virginia Lottery Moment of the Game and the Kroger Player of the Game.

ISP SPORTS

THE EXCLUSIVE MARKETER OF VIRGINIA TECH SPORTS

ISP Sports, a national leader in the collegiate sports marketing industry, is in its 15th year as the exclusive worldwide multi-media and advertising rights holder for Virginia Tech Athletics. In this partnership with the athletics program, ISP develops, produces and sells an extensive range of sports marketing opportunities for Tech, including radio play-by-play and call-in shows, television coaches shows and other programming, Lane Stadium and Cassell Coliseum venue signage, video board and promotions, along with print and Internet advertising.

The partnership between ISP Sports and Virginia Tech Athletics is ongoing. In 2008, the two sides reached an agreement to extend their relationship through April 2018.

"ISP Sports and Virginia Tech have enjoyed a wonderful relationship in the past and we are extremely excited that this relationship will be continuing through 2018," Ben Sutton, ISP Chairman and CEO, said. "Behind the leadership of Jim Weaver, his staff and an outstanding group of coaches, the Hokies now have what is truly one of America's outstanding collegiate athletics programs. ISP is proud to be a part of this tremendous success story." ISP, which is based in Winston-Salem, N.C., was founded in 1992 by Sutton.

During its very successful partnership with Virginia Tech, ISP Sports has developed the Virginia Tech ISP Sports Network into the largest collegiate sports radio network in Virginia. Broadcast coverage includes the commonwealth of Virginia, as well as portions of Maryland, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Washington D.C., and West Virginia.

ISP's television coverage of Tech athletics is centered around Virginia Tech Sports Today, a weekly magazine show aired on a network of affiliates throughout the region, including WDBJ 7 in Roanoke and Comcast SportsNet across the region. The 30-minute show features an action-packed, magazine-style format, and with its superior production, animation and videography, has the look and feel of a national sports telecast. Virginia Tech Sports Today airs from mid-August until mid-March. In cooperation with Virginia Tech Video Services, ISP now offers the Hokie Playback as well. The Hokie Playback is a weekly re-broadcast of Virginia Tech home football games featuring the Virginia Tech ISP Sports Network radio call. The Hokie Playback is also carried on WDBJ 7 and CSN Washington.

Other advertising and marketing opportunities represented by ISP Sports include the state-of-the-art videoscreens ("HokieVision") in both Lane Stadium and Cassell Coliseum. Pre-game hospitality events and a wide array of print opportunities across all sports are other very popular items managed by ISP Sports.

The company also provides a wide variety of sponsorship opportunities for Tech supporters at every level, through not only football and basketball but every other Virginia Tech varsity sport as well. So, whether your interest is radio/television media, print, promotions, signage, video board or Internet ... ISP Sports is your corporate connection to Virginia Tech athletics!

JUST VIRGINIA TECH, PLEASE

While the full name of the school is Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, the school is commonly referred to as "Virginia Tech." Founded in 1872, as Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College, the university changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1896. Fans of the athletics department, as well as media covering the Hokies, shortened the name to VPI, but it eventually became Virginia Tech. The "State University" was added in 1970 to bring the official title to what it is today.

Those covering Hokie athletics are asked to refer to the university as simply "Virginia Tech." Virginia Tech University, VPI and SU, VPI&SU, "Vah Tech," VT or VA Tech are not recognized names and should not be used.

MEDIA INFORMATION

ATHLETICS COMMUNICATIONS

Football media services are coordinated by the Athletics Communications Office, headed by Assistant Athletics Director Dave Smith and Associate Director of Athletics Communications Bryan Johnston. Please direct interview requests for any of the coaches, as well as credential requests to Smith. All player interview requests should be made to Johnston.

For photo requests, please contact photography coordinator Dave Knachel. The Athletics Communications Office is located on the fourth floor of the Jamerson Athletic Center, which is connected to Cassell Coliseum and the Merryman Athletic Center. The office is next to the Bowman Room.

All media members coming to campus during the week need to stop by the Visitor's Center, located on Southgate Drive across from the "VT shrubs" to pick up a visitor's parking pass.

Media will be responsible for paying any fines they incur while on campus.

THE PRESS BOX

The press box at Lane Stadium/Worsham Field comprises seven levels. Newspaper, radio and television reporters work on the fifth level.

The media area of the press box is accessible via elevators Nos. 4 & 5, which are located on the west side, in the south tower.

Admission to the press box is by credential only. Smoking is not allowed in the stands or in any enclosed area of Lane Stadium, including the press box and rest rooms.

PRESS CREDENTIALS

Requests for press credentials are screened with care due to the demand for credentials and to ensure a working press box. Traditional print, television and radio (media agency) regularly assigned to cover Virginia Tech and the visiting school will receive first priority, as well as national news-gathering agencies. Credentials for online Internet sites will be granted to Virginia Tech-operated websites, the visiting team's official website and the Atlantic Coast Conference's official website.

Requests should be made in writing on company letterhead at least 10 days prior to the game to guarantee consideration. Requests should be directed to Dave Smith, Assistant AD for Athletics Communications. Requests the week of the game will be honored on a space-available basis and will be left at the Will Call window at Lane Stadium/Worsham Field if they cannot be mailed.

Spouses, dates, children, equipment carriers and non-workers are restricted from the press box, sidelines and locker rooms. Any abuse of a working credential will result in the media agency losing credential privileges.

ADDITIONAL ACCREDITATION GUIDELINES

- Only full-time, salaried employees intending to provide actual game coverage may receive a credential.

- A requesting media agency must represent a collective, organizational editorial voice, not simply the offerings of a single individual.

- Membership in a writer's association does not automatically qualify an agency for credentials.

- A media agency may assign one of its credentials to its online entity.

- An online entity, not associated with a traditional media agency, may qualify for one credential, subject to the following conditions:

An online entity may receive a credential only if its own full-time staff writes a majority percentage of that site's material.

Online entities that focus primarily on Virginia Tech athletics and also sponsor message boards or chat rooms, may receive credentials provided they adhere to a policy that requires that a posted message or opinion is identified with the actual name and city of the individual.

Any online service that is recognized as an outlet intended primarily for the purpose of delivering news related to the recruitment of student-athletes will not qualify for credentials.

Online entities will not receive photography credentials.

Online entities (other than those identified above) registering 20,000 legitimate unique users per month in each of the past 12 months will be given first consideration.

The "Real-time" transmission of digital images, audio and data, including live game play-by-play and statistics, of any home game or any Tech-sponsored media event is the exclusive property of Virginia Tech and/or its rights holder(s). "Real-time" is defined as "live continual coverage or description of an event."

Media members blogging or using Twitter from the press box are subject to all of Virginia Tech's real-time policies.

The Atlantic Coast Conference has adapted an Internet Real-Time Policy. Virginia Tech adheres to this policy.

MEDIA WILL CALL

In most cases, credentials will be mailed. Credentials may be picked up through Friday of a game week from secretary Donna Smith in the Athletics Communications Office. Credentials not mailed or picked up will be held at the public Will Call window located a few steps from elevator No. 5, outside the press entrance to Lane Stadium/Worsham Field.

PHOTO CREDENTIALS

The NCAA has established a control policy to keep the field free from congestion. Only photographers on assignment and members of the television media are given photo credentials. Freelance or amateur photographers will not be issued credentials.

All photographers must work outside the 30-yard lines as prescribed by the NCAA. Photographers are not permitted in the bench area. On the front line of the sidelines, as well as in the south end zone, photographers are required to kneel. Those photographers shooting from behind the second line, as well as in the north end zone, are allowed to stand.

For those who need to transmit photos electronically, a work room for photographers is available. This room is located in the June Oblinger Shott Media Center, on the ground level beneath the south end zone. A member of the Athletics Communications staff will be on the sidelines to lend assistance during the game.

RIGHTS RESTRICTION

Virginia Tech is and shall be the sole owner of any and all copyrights, intellectual property rights and proprietary rights for images, sounds and data arising from or during Virginia Tech home athletics contests and Tech-sponsored media events.

The use of photographs, video and/or audio for purposes other than traditional news coverage is forbidden. No redistribution is permitted.

ENG CREW RESTRICTIONS

Electronic news gathering ("ENG") crews acknowledge and agree they shall abide by the following restrictions regarding the use of television footage of home football games of Atlantic Coast Conference ("ACC") schools. If the ACC football game is telecast by ABC or ESPN ("ABC/ESPN Games"), ENG crews (i) may not use television footage of the ABC/ESPN Game, except for excerpts consistent with ABC's or ESPN's, as applicable, news access guidelines, and (ii) may not authorize the use of any such television footage by any third parties. ENG crews acknowledge and agree that ABC and ESPN have the exclusive right to telecast live home football games of ACC schools between 3:30 p.m., and 11 p.m., east coast time (excluding telecasts of games commencing at noon east coast time that extend into overtime or whose start times are delayed by extraordinary circumstances, such as inclement weather).

PARKING

Game day media parking is available on a limited basis in two media-designated areas. Requests for parking credentials should be submitted to Dave Smith, Assistant AD for Athletics Communications. If you plan to visit the Tech campus Monday through Friday, you must obtain a visitor parking permit (see map on this page).

TELEPHONES

Telephones will be located in the rear of the press box for use. These phones require collect calls or a credit card for billing. Newspeople desiring their own telephone or ethernet lines should submit requests to Virginia Tech CNS at (540) 231-4350. If you request your own phone, please notify the Athletics Communications Office so we can give the phone company the proper location. The same applies for photographers wishing to activate a phone or ethernet line in the south end zone work room, where two pool phones and one pool ethernet line are provided. Please make all requests well in advance of the game.

WIRELESS INTERNET

Virginia Tech offers free wireless Internet to members of the media working the game. To be able to use this feature, you must have a wireless (802.11 compatible) card in your laptop, tested and configured prior to arriving. To register for this service, you are encouraged to sign up prior to arriving on game day, or in the press box or south end zone when you arrive. To obtain the URL, please contact Tommy Regan in Athletic Computing Services at vtacs@vt.edu. After registering, your e-mail address will serve as both your user name and password.

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS

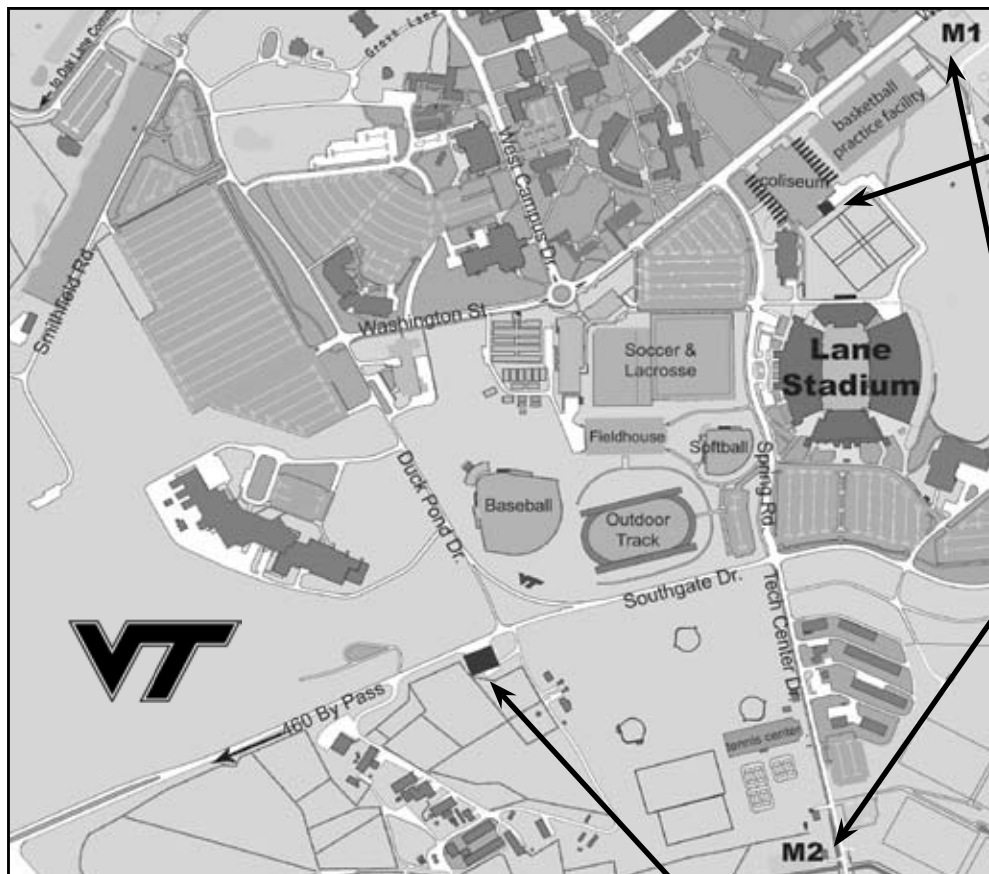

All postgame interviews take place in the June Oblinger Shott Media Center, located on the ground level of the south end zone. After a short cool-down period, Coach Frank Beamer will address the media on the podium, followed by four top players. When that session is completed, 4-5 of the remaining top requested players will meet with the news media after each home game. Media members with special player requests need to make those known prior to the fourth quarter.

A separate room, located directly across the hall from the Tech interview room, is available for interviews with the coaches and players from the visiting team. Directions to both interview areas will be available in the press box or through the Athletics Communications Office. Media access to visiting players will be determined by the visiting SID.

WEBSITE FOR ATHLETICS

Notes, releases, statistics and other pertinent information are available on Tech's official athletics website (hokiesports.com). Tech's football statistics will be available on the same day of games. Notes on the upcoming game will be updated Monday afternoon.

Media who would like game notes, as well as general releases, e-mailed to them need to contact Bryan Johnston (blj@vt.edu) to be placed on the group e-mail list.

JAMERSON ATHLETIC CENTER

The Virginia Tech Athletics Communications Office is located on the fourth floor of the Jamerson Athletic Center, behind Cassell Coliseum.

GAME DAY MEDIA PARKING (MEDIA PARKING PASS REQUIRED)

Media parking will be assigned in one of these two locations (M1 or M2).

GETTING TO CAMPUS

The campus is located in Blacksburg, Va., about 40 miles southwest of Roanoke, Va. To reach the campus from Interstate 81, take Exit 118-B (Christiansburg) onto U.S. Route 460 West. Follow the 460 Blacksburg Bypass and turn right onto Rt. 314.

BY AIR

Roanoke Regional Airport in Roanoke, Va., is served by major domestic airlines. Limousine services provide transportation between the airport and campus. Private planes may land at the Virginia Tech Airport, on campus.

VISITOR PARKING PERMITS (NON-GAME DAYS)

THE ACC ON THE WEB

The ACC site on the Internet is available at www.theACC.com. The site contains current information on all facets of the Atlantic Coast Conference. In addition, in-game scores for football contests involving ACC teams will be updated in-progress. Please contact Mike Finn in the ACC media relations department for more information.

ACC MEDIA SITE

CollegePressBox.com is the official media website for ACC football. Access and download weekly game notes, quotes, statistics, media guides and more for the conference and each of its 12 member schools throughout the season. Login information will be distributed to accredited media.

INTERVIEW POLICY

Virginia Tech's coaches and players will be available throughout the season for interviews with members of the news media on Mondays and Tuesdays of a normal game week. It is important, however, that all requests for interviews be made through the Athletics Communications Office.

Interviews with players and assistant coaches (offense one day; defense the other) will be held in a 15-minute session after Monday's and Tuesday's practices. Any media person wishing to come to practice and talk to a specific player or coach needs to contact the Athletics Communications Office before practice to get those requested on the master list.

Players may be requested for features only before meetings on Mondays and Tuesdays if it can be arranged around the player's schedule. All phone interviews must be done before practice.

All requests for pre-practice interviews need to be submitted to Bryan Johnston before practice begins. You may call him at (540) 231-3387 or e-mail him at blj@vt.edu.

Monday's practices are closed to the media. On Tuesdays, the stretching and warm-up sessions, plus the first two periods are open to media and pro scouts. A 15-minute interview session will follow these two days for those who were requested before practice.

At no time will a player's phone number be given out and media are asked not to call, e-mail or contact the players or coaches through social networking websites (i.e., Facebook, Twitter, etc.) or ask for their contact information.

BEAMER TELECONFERENCE

On Mondays during the season, Coach Frank Beamer will be available via teleconference for approximately 15-20 minutes. The interview session will begin at 11:40 a.m. Media interested in this opportunity are asked to call the Athletics Communications Office at (540) 231-6726 for the phone number.

WEEKLY PRESS INTERVIEW SESSION

On Tuesdays prior to each Tech game, Coach Frank Beamer and four selected members of the Tech team will be available to meet accredited media in the Shott Center, located in the south end zone. A light lunch will be served at approximately noon with two players going before and two after the meal is served. Coach Beamer will begin the interview session at 1 p.m. All interviews will be held on the podium in the home interview room.

An audio copy of Beamer's session with the media will be available by 4 p.m. The telephone number for these reports is (540) 232-3719. A video feed of Beamer, along with the players, is available both live and archived on hokietv.com.

TALKING TO COACH BEAMER

The best ways to reach Coach Frank Beamer are on his Monday teleconference, his weekly press interview session on Tuesdays, on the ACC teleconference on Wednesdays or after practice.

Any additional requests should be made through Dave Smith at (540) 231-6726.

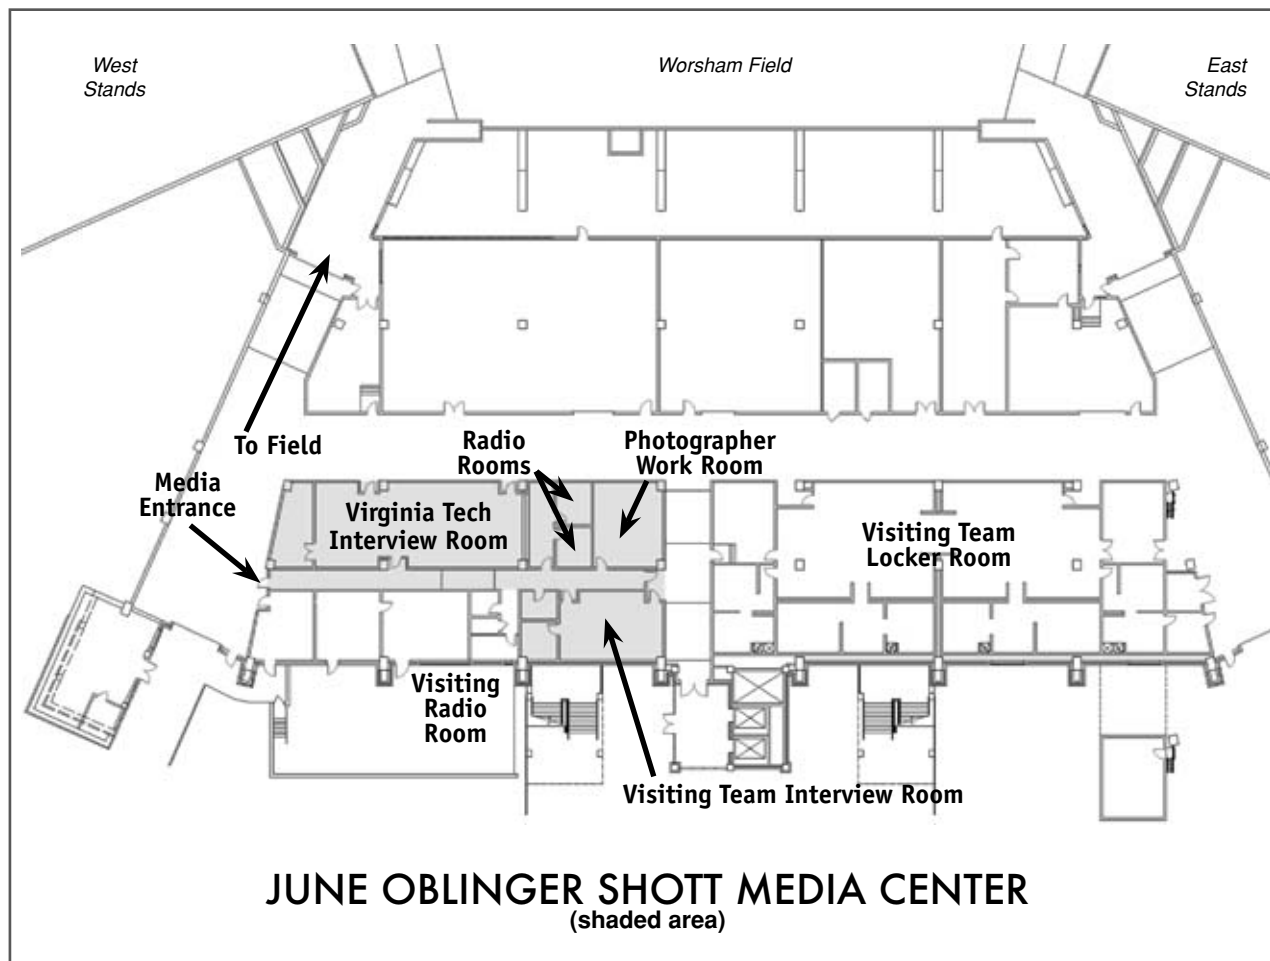

ACC TELECONFERENCE

The ACC football coaches will be featured on a weekly teleconference, beginning on Wednesday, Sept. 1. The final teleconference, for the Virginia game, will be on Tuesday, Nov. 23. Each coach will be available for 10 minutes with Coach Beamer scheduled to start at 10:40 a.m.

The teleconference number will be mailed to media members who cover Virginia Tech football. Members of the media can also secure the number by contacting the ACC office at (336) 851-6062.

SATELLITE FEED

The ACC provides weekly feeds with highlights, along with coach and player interviews. Information is available through the ACC office.

NCAA COMPLIANCE

VIRGINIA TECH ATHLETICS WINNING THE RIGHT WAY!

INFORMATION FOR PROSPECTS AND THEIR PARENTS:

Compliance with NCAA rules is a never-ending process that requires diligence on the part of the Virginia Tech Department of Athletics and the entire university community. Below is a brief summary of the basic issues that may face a potential student-athlete during his/her recruitment by a Division I college or university.

1. For NCAA rules purposes, you become a "prospective student-athlete" – commonly referred to as a prospect – once you have started classes for the ninth grade (seventh grade for men's basketball).

2. A "representative of an institution's athletics interests" (commonly referred to as a booster) is defined by the NCAA as anyone who:

- Is now, or previously has been, a member of any organization promoting the institution's intercollegiate athletics program;
- Has made a financial contribution to the athletics program or an athletics booster organization;
- Has helped arrange any employment for a student-athlete;
- Has been involved, in any way, in the promotion of the athletics program.

3. Please be aware that any former Virginia Tech student or former or current member of the Hokie Club is automatically considered a Virginia Tech booster. According to NCAA rules, once an individual is identified as a booster, he/she retains that status forever.

4. A booster may not solicit the enrollment of a prospect with the goal of athletics participation in any manner (no phone calls, letters or in-person encounters). On those occasions when a booster unavoidably comes into contact with a prospect, conversation must be limited to normal civility. The conversation must conclude quickly, and no recruitment may occur.

5. It is not permissible for you (or your family) to receive any benefit, inducement or arrangement such as cash, clothing, cars, improper expenses, transportation, gifts or loans to encourage you to sign a National Letter of Intent or to attend any college.

6. A "contact" is any off-campus, face-to-face encounter between you or your parent(s) or a legal guardian and a member of a college coaching staff during which any dialogue occurs beyond an exchange of greeting. NCAA rules do not permit contacts until July 1 prior to a prospect's senior year.

7. An "evaluation" is any off-campus activity by a member of a college coaching staff designed to assess your academic qualifications or athletic ability, including any visit to your high school (during which no contact occurs) or the observation of any practice or competition in which you participate.

8. The timing for phone calls depends on the sport that is recruiting you. Football coaches may begin on April 15 of the prospect's junior year (one call between April 15 and May 31 is permitted). After May 31, regular calls not to exceed one per week may begin for football on September 1 after the junior year.

If you are a prospect, unlimited calls to you or your family may be made under the following circumstances:

- During the five days immediately before your official (paid) visit to a collegiate institution;
- On the day of a coach's off-campus contact with you;
- During the time beginning with the initial National Letter of Intent signing date in your sport, through the two days after the signing date; and
- In the sport of football only, during the permissible off-campus contact periods and during the 48 hours prior to and 48 hours after 7 a.m., on the initial signing date for the National Letter of Intent.

Coaches also may accept collect calls, and athletics departments are permitted to utilize a toll-free number to receive telephone calls from you (or your family) on or after July 1 following your junior year. You or your family may call a college coach at your expense at any time.

9. In all sports except men's basketball, letters to you from coaches are permitted beginning September 1 following your sophomore year in high school. A Division I school may provide you with the following printed materials. These following materials must be sent via regular first-class mail service:

- General correspondence, including letters, U.S. Postal Service postcards and institutional note cards;
- Game programs which may not include posters and one Student-Athlete Handbook;
- NCAA educational information;
- Pre-enrollment information subsequent to signing a National Letter of Intent with the university;
- One athletic publication (media guide or recruiting brochure);
- Official academic, admissions and student services publications published or videotapes produced by the institution and available to all students;

- Schedule and business cards;
- Questionnaires which may be provided prior to your junior year; and
- Camp brochures, which may be provided prior to your junior year.

10. An "Official Visit" is a visit by a prospect to a college where the college pays for some or all of the prospect's expenses. These expenses may include transportation, lodging, meals and/or entertainment. Official Visits are permissible once a prospect has started senior classes.

The purpose of the Virginia Tech Compliance Office is to help make you aware of relevant NCAA rules and assist you in guarding your eligibility. Ultimately, however, you are responsible for protecting your eligibility. This page is provided as a quick-reference guide to give you a basic understanding of NCAA recruiting rules. We encourage you to visit our webpage at www.athletics.vt.edu/compliance for additional information and links providing comprehensive guidance concerning the full range of NCAA regulations. Also, please feel free to call or e-mail any member of the Hokie Compliance Team if you have any questions.
